If the expedition is like my F-150, and I think it is- you will find a round rubber plug, about 1 1/2 inches round....on the firewall....if you pull the carpet down a bit, there is a black material that is the outer coating for the floor insulation. There was a round cutout there, that you can lift up carefully a circle of that insulation, and that exposes the back side of this rubber plug. You then cut an X in this plug, pass your wires thru and then push the insulation back in place... Best thing of this type I ever saw....

Now, remember, I'm not a programmer (I don't even play one on read from this gps on one serial port and send out NMEA on the other

Actually, poor ol' Belly Jerk looks like a corpse. Did you ever see that picture of lli and fqf? It was taken at a hamfest as they were exiting a men's room together, smiling. It kind of makes you wonder what they were doing in the men's room. I guess it's best one doesn't go there, or they will holler that you are "bigoted" against homosexuals or some such nonsense.

This is incorrect. If you knew who the major "players" (i.e. "troublemakers") are on 75m, you'd realize they are nearly all General class or above and have held their licenses for several years. The only exceptions to this are the bootleggers who do not posess a valid class of license for operation on 75 in the first place.

The problems on 75 meters go back much further than the "no-code" Technician license. Let's place the blame where it belongs.

Appreciate the offer of help Doc, will accept of course. However with a response like this from Ensign Blivit, it should be a short campaign.

Wonder why he is so quiet these days? Could it be the truth is standing out crystal clear and he can't deal with it? Or is it just that he forgot what lie was on the agenda for the day.

you brought it up about my activities. Your correct, I can't argue with your statements about my on the air activities during the radio wars. I'm not acting the "goody two shoes", Im ashamed of what I did on the air. There is NO EXCUSE, but there were REASONS.

As for jamming anyone, I will dispute that. If you are refering to the 3901 situation, then I'd say you should direct the "jamming" comment towards Polly, Billy Jack, and several others. Who, at the behest of Al Abernathy, would jam on-going qso's on that frequency every single night for several years. But enough of that. Hopefully that is over.

If your refering to any of my activities on 3894.5, I would have to say it is what is known as "retalitory jamming". Also VERY WRONG, and OVER from this station for a very LONG WHILE.

Now here is something for you to think about, and if you notice I'm writting this on a public forum. I think a MAJOR part of the problems on 3901 were a DIRECT RESULT of Rich, WB2OTK, jamming 3894.5.

I also know that K4OKA and some of his group members did the same to 3901. BOTH SIDES WERE WRONG. The reasons for all of this on the air warfare in unimportant. What is important is that it STOPS.

It is time for us ALL to bury the hatchet. It is time for us all to end this silly war. On the air and on the internet. It is your choice to elect peace or continued unproductive warfare here on the internet.

I chose PEACE. AND I APOLOGIZE TO ALL AMATEUR OPERATORS, AND ANYONE WHO HEARD SUCH, FOR MY ON THE AIR CONDUCT IN THE PAST.

That is the best I can do. As a man that is willing to admit he was wrong.

Here certainly is intelligent, that is why I'll never understand how he 4806. THE FACTS ABOUT THE OTK SITUATION.

I am restricted from telling everything I know. Because I gave my word not to. And unlike most of you bottom feeding scum sucking stumpers, I keep my word.

Have you ever wondered WHY the BARF and the STUMPERS HATE RICH SO? It's easy....back during the time when the Herby suckups, the BARF were busy jamming, harassing and otherwise disrupting the INTERCON network on 20 meters, RICH WAS THE FIRST PERSON TO STAND AGAINST THEM. Why did Rich do this? Out of a sence of indignation that a group of malevolent radio terrorist's could do this to a group of elderly ladies and gentleman, whose sole crime was to want to put something back into amateur radio. Who's only crime was to operate on a daily basis trying to HELP there fellow man. Not to mention the blatent anti semitism that was rampant from said same group of radio hooligans.

All this crap about him being a racist and a bigot is just that HYPE. Did anyone bother to ask who Rich was talking to? NO, that couldn't be done. It would detract from the stumpers purpose of hanging him out to dry. It was PHIL, N9GOR, he was talking to. Phil is black. Did it ever occur to anyone that if Phil wasn't pissed, it was nothing but a big joke TO BOTH OF THEM. Of course it was, Rich and Phil have been doing this for year's. Who called PHIL on the L/L when he was sick for weeks? Rich did. Who talked with PHIL when the Stumpers would not have him? Rich did? Why was Phil tossed out of our group called the "goodfellows?..Because he wanted to keep stiring the pot. We wanted, and STILL DO WANT PEACE.

Was it right? I don't know, was it proper on ham radio...I'd have to say NO. And I told BOTH OF THEM THAT.

So why all the flap? Did the FCC hear it, first hand?? NO. So what happened? Simply a wannabe Dick Traci down in Vero Beach Fla. had the butt because the FCC told him to knock of reading police reports on ham radio. So it is getback time.

Why is Rich presently not licensed? Because he let his alligator mouth override his hummingbird ass. He will be back, not to worry.

I heard the little schitk on 20 that day between Rich and Phil. I want to know why no one ever played the Phil part? Sound's like tape doctoring to me. Which I bet can be proven if need be. How about all you so called enlightned folks there that fell for this farce? Makes you feel like you were used and abused dont it? Well that is exactly what the Stumpers/BARF did. How you like being made a fool of? That includes you at the FCC. Think about it.

Sure, there are a few ways:

1. Be a good brainwashed American, give ARRL 100 bucks for their cryptic teaching manuals, 30 bucks in VEC "reimbursement" and send FCC your Soc Sec Number, for them to store on their internet accessible server with security personally designed by Kevin Mitnick

2. Hack the FCC ULS server and insert your info

3. Become a contester; someone will arrange for a VE session with K1ZZ at the helm, wink wink nod nod

Fresh from a tour to South Africa, Party Chairman Kennard has returned with the announcement that FCC enforcement will now be handled by Ju Ju the Gorilla, on loan from the Capetown Zoo.

In other news, FDA drug approval will now be handled by three monkeys familiar to most Americans and formerly employed in product testing at Merck Pharmaceuticals: See no Evil, Hear no Evil, Speak no Evil.

ARRL-dictated, sideband-dominated ham radio, in a world where the bands are so empty AM should be used to save our hearing, and radios can hear a pin drop in Sri Lanka, makes me vomit.

Sorry won't be doing Huntspatch. I don't get out much these days.
Anyway I'll be contesting in NAQP (North American QSO Party). Have fun, it's usually a good one.

4822. Need equipment suggestions (tuner, antenna, etc.) to deal with interference

I submit this to what I hope are the appropriate groups and let the experts have at it! I have an erratic newsfeed, so please copy me in email -- h.brown@worldnet.att.net -- thanks!

:Description of the problem

When I listen to AM radio, there is a buzzing noise that obscures the signal. I think this is RF interference. (The sound is like that when you put a halogen lamp with a cheap fader switch near a radio.)

Obviously, the first solution is to stop the source of the interference. It may or may not come from appliances in my apartment or from other apartments. I think Iï¿½ve gotten all my appliances under control.

But the buzzing sound is not diminished.

Therefore the only solution now is to minimize the interference using antennas and hardware.

:What I want to do

I want to maximize signal quality using antennas and hardware (subject to a budget constraint of $350).

Specifically, I want to listen to an AM radio station (AM 630) with the best reception possible for $350.00. This could include whatever antenna is best at minimizing RF interference, perhaps some sort of ï¿½noise canceller,ï¿½ and/or a new separate tuner. I have made a list of possible equipment below.

:Additional information that might help

My tuner is in a rather expensive receiver. It may not be a very good tuner.

First, I bought a $30 radio shack AM/FM antenna. It did not affect the quality of AM reception (or the RF noise) at all.

Next, I connected a battery-powered portable radio (a Sony ICF-S5W) which pulls in a better signal. The Sony is rather old model, and has a ï¿½sensitivityï¿½ switch. When set to ï¿½low,ï¿½ I can hear more of the buzzing. When set to ï¿½high,ï¿½ I hear much less buzzing. Therefore, I want a tuner that has the same or better ï¿½high sensitivity.ï¿½

The radio has the slogan ï¿½sensitivity, selectivity, portability.ï¿½ I also think signal selectivity must have something to do with the great AM reception, but am not sure. Anyway, Iï¿½d like high selectivity too.

When I use the Sonyï¿½s ï¿½earplug outï¿½ jack and plug it into my receiver, I get an astounding increase in resolution. The AM signal is clear, the buzzing is reduced to an almost inaudible level, AND most astoundingly, I get amazing fidelityï¿½particularly good bass. Would this be called ï¿½hi-fiï¿½ AM? Whatever it is, I want it in a tuner!

In short, I like the results, but am not so happy with connecting a portable radio amongst my stereo equipment. And I also think that if a 20 year-old $20 AM radio can make such an improvement, there may be something even better. (I also know that sometimes you canï¿½t beat old equipment for price performance.)

:Antennas and other equipment I am considering

Now I see an advert for a Terk AM Advantage (http://www.terk.com/amadvantage.html). Iï¿½ll try it if it will make an improvement. I also see something called a ï¿½Select-a-tennaï¿½ (http://www.selectatenna.com/). It is generally considered to work better. It has three types: standard inductive coupling, lead for hard wiring, lead with ferrite bar for inductive coupling.

I also see something called an ï¿½antenna noise cancellerï¿½ from JPS (http://www.jps.com/index2.html). I am not sure if this will do the trick. It is unclear whether it is used for people broadcasting or people receiving AM broadcasts.

:Questions about antennas and equipment

ï¿½Is an inductive antenna (Terk/Selectatenna) going to perform any better than the Radio Shack antenna?
ï¿½Would the antenna noise canceller work, and would it have any synergy with the Terk/Selectatenna?
ï¿½Should I be looking for something completely different than what I have listed?

:Tuners I am considering

It is my understanding that stereo AM tuners will give a better AM performance even in mono. But, stereo AM equipment is pretty expensive in the US. I did find several US models of Japanese equipment, where the main difference seems to be that the Japanese equipment has the stereo AM decoder, and the US model doesnï¿½t.

For aesthetic reasons, I am looking specifically at tuners that would look at home in a stereo cabinet.

The models are:

Yamaha TX-950
http://www.yamaha.com/cgi-win/webcgi.exe/DsplyModel/?gPPT00010TX-950

Sony ST-SA50ES
http://www.sel.sony.com/SEL/consumer/ss5/home/homeaudioes/esamfmtuners/st-sa50es.shtml

Onkyo
T-4711 http://www.onkyo.co.jp/www_e/nwpdct/nwpdct_e/T4711_e.html

I did not list Denon because the US model (TU-1500RD) has no signal strength meter (?), and the Pioneer tuners (F-93) are discontinued in the U.S.

:Questions about tuners

ï¿½What tuners have the superior fidelity (ï¿½hi fiï¿½ AM) that I noticed in my portable radio?
ï¿½What tuners have the best ï¿½high sensitivityï¿½ that cuts through the RF interference?
ï¿½What tuners have the best ï¿½selectivity?ï¿½ (Again, not sure if this is an issue for AM.)

:My list made an assumption that I want to also ask about:

ï¿½Would the (above) U.S. versions of Japanese stereo AM radios produce the same great mono AM reception?
ï¿½Does the absence of the actual stereo AM chip reduce the performance of mono AM?

If you read this far, thanks! I hope to hear any suggestions you have.

Porkbutt WB2OTK and his big mouth got him into trouble. His bigoted remarks had been going on a long time before the event you are talking about. Remember his Amos and Andy routine? And on top of that , as usual, Dan, you are untruthful about it. And you also left Dodge when the going got rough. Why didn't you hang around to help your suckmaster?

If you want to blame anyone for OTK losing his ticket, put it where it belongs, on the shoulders of OTK. He just thought he could get by with that crap forever, and he could not. God bless Mr Riley Hollingsworth.
14313, 3901, 3894.5 are nice frequencies now.

Tell us how you voted...Isn't that what this NG is for?

We have all read many opinions about the FCC here. Actually I respect the FCC and will always follow their regulations. I think that most of the present rules and regulations regarding Ham Radio are not the fault of the FCC...They are actually the fault of the Ham community itself...including the ARRL and all of us Hams.

Many of us have complained about the dumbing down of the Ham exams...but many think that the exams are OK now or should be made even easier to attract newbies. It is hard to get a majority to agree on much or to present a clear picture of what if anything need change to help the hobby survive.

The worst thing that the FCC has done in recent times is IMHO the Universal Licensing System (ULS) data base. IMHO it is a mistake to include amateur radio ops and commercial radio ops in the same data base. In the 1930s, when the FCC was created, amateur ops and commercial ops were defined and separated. I see no reason why that should not survive in developing data bases, because there are many categories of data that differ between hams and commercial ops. The FCC should understand them and handle the two groups with unique forms as their requirements remain unique.

Just my opinion.

IMHO Hams need MORE license classes,
I never met a Ham I didn't like...{I wonder if the Hams who call me a Communist like the Hams who call me a Fascist NAZI?),

Bob Wex w2ilp (Idols Lost Pride?)

The Constitution does not provide for first and second class citizens.
--Wendell Lewis Willkie (1944)-- BUT the FCC used to provide for first and second class radiotelephone operators.

I put a lot of stuff, including some WWII msg tfc and a sparks' newspaper in a morse package I use as background musick at historical radio displays.
Look on ftp://152.1.207.51/pub/Morse. The program is a hack of an early pc morse program, but it works for me. It plays the .txt files, which are any flat ascii text files. There should be some weather broadcasts there that are fairly long. Cat all the .txt files together and you should have several hours of listening. Download an ascii file of a book and play that, if you want something longer.

Hello. I'm just about to move to a QTH and am reconsidering my antenna designs. One possibility that I've considered is phasing verticals for use on HF. In particular the Solarcon A-99 CB Vertical for use on 10m/15m/20m. My question is, how high above the ground would I have to mount all of them for them to be effective? Would 5-10ft work or would I have to go 15-20? And would it improve their performance to mount a Ground Plane on each of the vertical antennas? Any help at all would be appreciated. I would most likely mount 6-8 of them, if that helps any. Thanks for reading and let me know if you can help.

I downloaded a GREAT morse training program that allows you to set speed, ratio and a lot of other things. This program has everything. The graphic of the cat pounding the key is really cute. Now I wish I knew where I got it from!
The program name is MORSE CAT and the author is DK5CI.
I'll look for it and post the source.

4845. Help with K6STI Yagi Optimizer

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

From: ke4qdz@korrnet.org
Message-ID: <37BC94C0.13C4@korrnet.org>
Source record: 133191

Hello,

I have been asked by Doug Campbell, N1CWR, to find information about a program called "Yagi Optimizer," by K6STI. I am a Macintosh user, and I don't know anything about the program, but Doug tells me that he tried to load the program on a friend's new computer (as his own 8088 would not work), ran it one time, and now cannot run the program on his own new computer. He says that he believes the problem to be a copy protection scheme. He also says that the manual mentions backup keys on the disk, but not how to use them.

Doug has tried fruitlessly to contact K6STI; the email address k6sti@n2.com did not work, nor did the listed telephone number. Doug has asked for help in one of the following areas:

1) some way to use his own backup keys
2) some way to contact K6STI
3) someone else's key (ethical/legal?)
4) anything else to get the program working

I realize that the above message is little more than a troll, but for the benefit of the thoughtful, I'd like to point out that no matter how many people foolishly "quit the ARRL," that will have NO effect on restructuring.

Restructuring has gone through the comment and reply comment periods, several ex parte presentations have been made, and (from what I understand) the Report and Order is done, or virtually so. All that's left is the approval and issuance of the R&O. "The fat lady" is simply rehearsing now and the concert will likely commence quite soon.

Fun is not a practical purpose and practical purpose is what I was speaking of.
My intention is not to be a killjoy but to put code where it belongs, in the category of fun and nostalgia, not something worth even devoting a thread to as far as life saving capability in this modern age, as I would feel much more safe calling 911, or using a mic than hoping that someone understands morse code.
That's one of the differences between normal people and HAMs.
HAMs are such backward people that if they fell and couldn't move, instead of having a cell phone on them to dial 911, or an emergency alert transmitter, they would carry a VHF radio on them and hope that someone out there would respond to their cry for help.
Completely backward thinking from the logical way of thinking that if someone thought enough of emergencies to know morse code, they would be much safer and have a much better chance of surviving with a cell phone.

How is it a good approximation? There are probably only a hundred or so active posters to this newsgroup, many only posting from time to time. How is this a good approximation of any aspect of ham radio?

The problem I see with ARRL and FCC is they are ran by HAMs who inject their personal preferences and gains into HAM tests, protocol etc. thus eliminating those who they think should be eliminated, not having anything to do with fairness, what is right and wrong or the way things "should" be.
Therefore, instead of HAM radio being a group of people communicating on a level requiring a license in order to not cause harm to self or others, it is more of a situation of a bunch of elitist tyrants opressing the people below them, which is a good summary of HAM radio in general at this time.

The "pro-signs" are not codes and signals that can be used in any mode (such as Q-signals); this is a misunderstanding.

The pro-signs are special characters that are not punctuation, and they can only be used in Morse because they are part of it and should therefore be included in the test. These are signals like (pretend the following letter combinations are "overscored") AR and SK and AS (although the only place I've ever heard AS is in ARRL code practice, when the transmission is interrupted for station ID).

Well I guess I got an answer to my post. Which is, that there is little or no difference between the citizen band radio and the 75 meter ham band because both bands are occupied by alcoholics, "rednecks", and childish operators. For some strange reason certain hams think that you need to be a ham and use an amateur radio call sign to post to this NG or you are a "poser".trying to flame this NG....DC

First, llloyd, asswipe is _your_ name. (see above).

And if I do post any technical questions, I know _your_ response you be the same old crap you've been flinging. That's because you and I know that you don't know anything about electronics, even with a "computer operations" "college education," which is most likely just a certificate in Data Entry. After all, I didn't take 6 friggin' YEARS to master the code and upgrade. I've only been licensed over a year and I've already upgraded TWO steps up the ladder. Little whipling Lloyd, you're still trying to learn the code. I doubt that the theory would fare any better in your learning curve, though.

You should have noticed that I was describing the actions (phenomenon) not the amateurs on 75. There are lots of really excellent hams on 75M SSB, you just can't hear them very well through all the QRM. What a shame.

> First of all, W4UDX, "redneck" is an abusive name often used to

I am a Southerner, and beleive me, there are lots of uneducated foolish people lacking self control and endulging in excesses of booze and rowdy behavior here and in lots of other states also. These people have no fear of law or FCC and it is nothing for them to QRM the Hades out of anyone they can. Everybody has heard it, no one can deny it. Most of the QRMer's on 75 speak with a strong southern accent. There are a lot of good ones too, though.
The most common understanding of "redneck" is not your old definition from the plantation days.

> In other words, W4UDX, I strongly suggest that do not judge others

I am not judging, that is not my job. I simply was making an observation. Why are you getting so offended at my comments when there are lots of flaming posts to respond to on this n.g.?
Seems strange to me. Maybe I hit a nerve here.

Take a chill pill Dwight.

Now there's an idea. Maybe we can trade 75 for 11. Hams used to have
11M. It has reall nice propagation. It would be hard to convince the FCC

Ah, Dwight, I think you're trying to take advantage here of people who haven't lived in the South and don't realize you're stretching to make a point. I did and that's where I learned the term redneck to describe uncivilized trash. There are Southerners and there are rednecks and everyone in whole South knows these are very different things.

If you would like a practice "program" for Windows you might want to check out the MorseCat Web Page at http://www.qsl.net/dk5ci/
This program "sends" code from 5 to 120 WPM with all kinds of options.

There is a positive side to Timmie's behavior he does make

Without a common language, that is just so much bull. CW is only a coding scheme for the alphabet, numbers and punctuation. Beyond that, it takes an agreed language to establish communications and maintain any reasonable information exchange.

Bunk. What do you consider a meaningful QSO?
Callsign, RST, etc? That's great for the DX chaser but means nothing outside that limited scope. Indeed, if there was any true need for a common mode, then there would be a need to know those code pro-signs established by the ITU. There is no such requirement and without that knowledge there is no valid claim that any two hams can even rely on CW as a common mode.

No, reality that there isn't even a common mode today is what prevails.

Please show us where/when either the FCC (nationally) or the ITU (internationally) has expressed any need or expectation that a common mode is needed at all.

Happy to help...the chief mule humper....errrr stumpjumper is George Ashley, W4FQF, aka Polly parrot. They are having a stump gathering this year at the West Virginia hovel, which houses the official Stumper club station, owned by the BARF page creator W9XN, to celebrate their alleged "porkbutt victory".

You must provide a certified copy of your American Nazi Party ID card, or membership certificate from the "ayrian nations".

A list of how many times you intentionally jammed a public service net.

A copy of draft card, marked 4f. Or your section 8 DD-214 discharge.

A special this month for first time applicant's is; you will receive a Stumpjumper Dick Traci decoder ring. For info, contact KT4TR for applicable fee's.

A mule will be provided for the induction ceremony, bring your own stump.

I have not even seen a horse in several years except on TV, and I'm in the heart of Dallas. Also, this is not about horses, it is about an obsolete, nostalgic mode that is only useful when a microphone or cell phone doesn't work.
BTW, I'm also an electronics engineer but I don't have any patents, though a company did steal an idea from me and patented it.
I invented the whole concept of wavetracing.
If you don't know what that is, go to www.aureal.com and see what they stole from me and see what they illegaly patented.
As far as Intel, Intel is a ripoff, they release chips 5-10 years behind their time compared to what they could give us.
The only reason intel doesn't give us what they could, is that if they did, we wouldn't have to buy a new CPU except for every 5-10 years, thus cutting their cash flow considerably.
You agree? If not then maybe you aren not aware of military IC's and how they are 5-10 years ahead in technology compared to the crap the public ends up with.

| Do you think that T-bone steak you enjoy never saw a working horse?
| Horses work in some applications. CW works in some applications.
| Live with it.

Sure seems like it. Don't you lids have anything better to do all day besides sit at your keyboards and libel each other?

This cloud does have a silver lining, however. The fact that you are now using this forum instead of amateur radio to spew forth your hatred and foolishness is strong evidence as to the effectiveness of Riley Hollingsworth's recent (and continuing) enforcement actions in the amateur bands.

Yeah, it's a term regarding raising your haunches up and a mule.
It's a term regarding some of the worst operators in ham radio.

The term "stumpjumper" gained prominence back during the pioneer days of out fine country. As you are probably aware the pioneers were lacking in what is normally refered to as the refinements of society.

In this case it was a lack of women. The term stumpjumper refers to a backwoodsman that would jump up on a stump to satisfy certain bodily functions. Normally with a mule.

And for a bit of modern day trivia....the name "stumpjumper" was picked up from Rich Whiten, WB2OTK. During the jamming sessions from 3894.5 to 3901 by folks such as W4FQF and W4LLI in particular, Rich called them "stumpjumpers". The modern day stumpjumpers are living up to this well deserved name. They are truly ignorant backwoods fools, and prove it every single day.

KC8JBO and W4NTI are spamming this news group with senseless posts. If any amateur wanted to get a answer to a technical question it would be impossible to do so. They have ruined this newsgroup. A post for fun is alright now and again, but look at the spam from these two nut case fools the last two days. It is unbelievable, they should be removed from this group , or the group shold tell them in no uncertain terms to knock it off. How about it you two fools !!!Knock the spamming off.

4926. How does one become a Stumpjumper?

From what I read here it appears that the Stumpjumpers are an excellent public service group, in that they donate money to the very needy and also do their share to clean up the airwaves. In fact I understand that they were solely responsible for taking Porkbutt and other jammers off the air.

Another jammer named "Legba" showed up briefly on this newsgroup but was driven off when he was exposed as the producer of the popular "Porkbutt Passes Gaaaasssssss!" recording. I don't know his orginal callsign, but his license went the way of Porkbutt's.

Who is in charge of this Stumpjumper group, and how does one join? Ham radio needs more people involved who care. Anyone have the information on this?

Heck I gave up my membership about 17 or so years ago. Thought the old bunch of fuddys had their brains in their watch pocket. I think the restructureing plan is the best thing the FCC has done in years. I say the FCC, because if you had really read the FCC docket they even uttered the words and considered even two or three classes of licensing. I see that you still cling to the old and archaic means of transmission. That in itself is not bad. It is rather good that you do. I have issue with your conceptual ideas as to why license upgrades need to be tied to proficiency of a mode of transmision while no other upgrade from the present general class is? That mode of transmission being CW. Even the FCC said that the need for proficiency in CW is now questionable. The ITU only requires a minimum proficiency in CW. One thing the ITU does not spell out is how proficient, 5 WPM, 10 WPM, 20 WPM. None of those. The ITU gives no speed requirements to it's member communities. In fact WARC 2000 or 2001 may entertain the rescending of the requirement for CW for isueing licenses below 30 MHz. I wil never believe that CW go away. Heck AM on the amatuer bands has not gone away. I really think that you should go into the doctor and get a prescrption or two and calm down. The world of amatuer radio is about to make some changes. Some will like you seem to deny that change is inevitable. Some welcome it.

Ok, Danny Boy

Here goes nothing:

I have help from time to time with storm watch and field day.

Now as far as some of my views on Ham Radio.

I hate CW. I make no bones about it. It's hard to learn, out of date, and no longer needs to be made a requirement for HF.

I hate contests. They are dull, boring, and don't interest me in the damndest.

I am content with the class of license for now, when that ARRL, FCC and other groups get with the program and drop the code, I'll upgrade then. I would rather be an SWL than a CW-Contesting Geek.

Call me lazy, but that is my whole-hearted opinion.

I will also not comply with the ULS either, Those communist pigs in the FCC can have my license.

it would seem to me that your ham equipment would not be fcc type accepted for that use.
another thing to consider would be the power output of the equipment you are using as to wether it is above the legal power for frs.
this is not ment against you personally but to the hams that come to the rec.
radio. cb ng and complain about our radio modifications.
here is an example of hams seeking to modify radio equipment for other frequencys that would not be type accepted for the radio service they are seeking to use.
if you were to take a 4XX.XXX mhz mobile and convert it to frs, you would be way out of type acceptance for a seudo-cb band.
i don't see where hams have a right to complain anymore about cb'ers.

Would your boss prefer you to use SSB? Packet? FM? SSTV? Why would you even consider using a radio communication mode to ask for a raise?

You need to step back so as to get a global view of why the code requirement exists for HF privileges. RF at HF respects no boundaries, and as communicators first and foremost, hams the world over should have at least one mode in common. At present, there is only one mode all the world's HF-licensed amateurs hold in common: CW. Whether one chooses to use it or not does not matter; if the need arises he has it available to him (maybe at a slower speed than when he was first licensed!). The phone modes won't work as an international mode due to differences in languages, but there are sufficient code pro-signs so that a meaningful QSO can extend across language barriers. A digital mode could become the international standard, but until such time that every ham worldwide is so equipped and/or has the ability to build and self-maintain such equipment, CW will remain the common mode. The ITU has this global view while many individuals have only an insular nearsightedness - their own personal goals out-weigh those of the global amateur community.

(Daily worldwide comms don't normally take place above 50 MHz, so a common mode in that region can be chosen on a national level; for us it's of course FM phone.)

How would you know? Your license does not permit you to participate in HF contests. Are you referring to VHF contests? If so, which ones have you competed in? What were your scores? Can you place your logs on a

I don't think this argument holds up. Why must we have some common mode of communications? Will we be communicating to others around the globe shortly to hurredly announce of arrival of invaders from outer space? This doesn't make sense. People who want to talk phone on HF should be able to do it. People who want to operate CW should do it, but don't require someone to learn a mode which we all know they will never use, and even given the chance to use it, they wouldn't.

You might as well face it, if amatuers want to get more amatuers into the hobby they will have to do away with the code requirement. There are just to many other distractions nowadays for young people to needlessly spend their time learning an antiquated method of communication.

You use the League's pubs to modify CB radios? Such mods consist of either changing a PLL crystal or adding a switch between a couple leads coming from the PLL chip. You need "extensive" publications to do that? We'd better take a troll reading here:

I know from experience that us vets are very good spam hunters.

You get tired of c rations.You hunt spam by the dark of the moon.You try to get them with a head shot.

If you do it right when you remove the head tail and internals they fit perfectly in one of those little cans.

If your out in the bush having a few spams stashed away is relly good.

I believe as a result of that QSO, Billy Gasell was paid a visit by a few gentlemen in Florida and WB4GDP has not been on the air since. Word had it that a few ribs were broken and he had to be put on a liquid diet since his jaws were wired shut. Of course the BARF denies it all saying that he was overseas on a "government assignment" but I do believe he had been fired by the Harris Corporation in Florida who had government contracts. I also believe that Billy was told to never again get on ham radio or else....which sort of explains his absence from the bands for several years. The BARF may say that he gave up radio for the Internet but it's debatable at best.If there's a Jew to attack, it always was a sure bet Billy would show up. How Walter Miller got away without a scratch is beyond me however everyone must take into account that he was drunk at the time and probably still is as he's reading this. I'm happy to see W2YEE back on the bands after Riley gave him some long suspenders for going on a drunken binge six months ago on 75 which resulted in you know what. According to the bookies in Las Vegas, the odds on Walter's getting tossed again for insanity on the air is 8 to 5. In other words if you think he will get tossed, you will get $5 for every $8 you lay. If you think that Walter will be on for good, lay 5 to win 8 and the outcome will be announced 8/16/00. The odds however on WB4GDP's return to ham radio is 1000 to 1. I'm sticking with NEVER.

It's really none of your business. It seems you overlooked my contributions as a weather spotter. My class of license permits that, and I have done that many times. I think you are very predjuced in the way you look at other hams.

The reason I hate contests so much, is that when I first got my license, one of the ham clubs I belonged to, could not stop discussing it with me. It was at the point of harrasment.

S97.1 says nothing about using HF privileges to entertain yourself on the radio as a hobby. Throughout Part 97 the goals of our service are spelled out quite clearly. If one can't comprehend the necessity for global communications, that ham should consider remaining on V/UHF.

There's a thread here about a lack of an international language (small letters). The International Language (capital letters) better known as Esperanto has existed for over 111 years now and is still going strong in over 120 countries! With upwards of 2 000 000 speakers worldwide it is the most successful and longest existing of the planned languages - well outdistancing Ido, Interlingua, and especially that "made for TV" SciFi language (which shall remain nameless.)

I am a tutor for the 10-lesson computerized English-Esperanto course and would love to e-mail any of you seriously interested the first five lessons. After they are completed correctly, I will e-mail you lessons 6-10. I currently have three students: one in New Zealand, one in Italy, and a Croatian living in Florida.

Rednecks??? How is any of this a "rednecked" phenomenon? It is amazing to see a person complaining about "slandering" and "abusive name

First of all, W4UDX, "redneck" is an abusive name often used to describe Southerners. Second, Southerners are not known for behaving anything like those you are complaining about (to say otherwise is pure slander).

As a radio operator in Viet Nam we sometimes worked under what could be referred to as "harsh conditions". Our antennas were frequently brought down by incoming mortar or artillery fire. Electricity was a luxury provided only by generator or, in the case of the man-portable (?) HF SSB unit, by 74 (count 'em!) flashlight batteries. We were always looking for ways to improve commo. Hell, we were sometimes satisfied just to maintain marginal commo!

We had voice nets on HF and, if the camps were close enough, on VHF FM. Of course, we also had HF CW net. Some of the things we learned:
a) Since antennas get knocked down, why not put them IN the ground. We used BURIED antennas for backup commo.
b) Since the amplifier class of operation determines the efficiency of the final amplifier, in an emergency you want the most power out for the least power input -- consistent with maintaining communications. Ask yourself this question: If you had to operate on a very limited power source (e.g. battery) for an undetermined length of time, would you want a lower efficiency plate amplifier -- such as Class AB? Or would Class C be better?
c) When atmospheric attenuation degraded the VHF FM voice signal such that it was unusable, good ol' GI ingenuity prevailed. We would key the FM mic holding it next to the KWM-2A speaker and generate CW using the sidetone on KWM-2A. Even though a voice signal was unintelligible, the CW could always be copied.
d) When the s hit the fan, we always tried to use our fastest CW operators -- for obvious reasons. At times our CW net ran at 30-35 WPM. At this speed we found that, even if we missed every fifth letter (lightning crash, signal fade, etc.), we could still decode the text. In this sense the CW was very tolerant. In fact at this speed we learned tricks like NOT copying the letter 'e'. We copied all CW traffic by hand. At 30 WPM the letter 'e' was simply too short to allow time to write it down.
e) If you communicate with the same people via CW long enough, you will know who is transmitting just by the sound of their code! Our traffic nets seldom used callsigns -- much to the chagrin of ASA. Didn't need 'em!
Code, we found, is just another language -- like French, German, Swahili. As a language, you develop an accent.... and you do so in code. The mistake most people make in learning code is to learn 'B' as a dash followed by three dots. Believe this and you will probably never get past the 13 WPM barrier. Here's an analogy -- If you are in a theater and someone stands up and shouts:
F (the letter 'F')
I (the letter 'I')
R (the letter 'R')
E (the letter 'E')
What would your reaction be? Probably not much. However, if someone stands up and shouts 'FIRE', what would you do? It is therefore the composite sound of this dash and three dots that makes the letter 'B'. When our 'new guys' arrived in-country, we tried to explain this perspective on code. If people having trouble with code understood this, perhaps it would help them.

Many new hams do not realize that ham radio was granted (and keeps!) frequencies for two underlying reasons:
a) To develop a pool of trained radio operators for periods of emergency.
b) To encourage experimentation and development in the field of radio communications.
It is imprudent to throw away/do away with any resource that could be beneficial in an emergency. Unless you have actually operated under truly emergency conditions, you have no basis to make statements regarding the ability to 'punch through' and communicate. Lacking this experience you are merely mouthing the opinions of someone else unqualified to judge. I refer to this act as 'the unknowing leading the dumb'.

I will concede that there are probably some CW'ers that would like to disallow voice communications. But that would be as self-serving as doing away with CW. CW is a requirement of this class of service. Privileges are based, in part, on one's proficiency with that mode. All are free to join... and are welcomed! (Many of us have conducted code classes to assist others get their license.) BUT... If one does not subscribe to the tenants of this group, then freedom allows that individual to select another group. To do otherwise is simply another case of the "Have-not's" bitching about the "Have's".

Perhaps we all should move to Quebec..... We could start a movement to do away with French! I can't learn it... I don't want to take the time to learn it... English is more universally spoken.... Therefore, French is simply no longer needed. After all, just because they have been speaking French for years is no justification for requiring it. Isn't that a cute idea?

In view of todays digital everything our actions then must be viewed as practicing witchcraft. But because of my experiences, no one will ever convince me that there will never, ever be another need for CW. I hope that we as individuals or collectively as a country will never be in a situation where marginal commo is all we have. For if that is the case, there will be a high demand for burned-out Morse operators. Besides.... CW was the first digital signal. [A1 through on/off keying]

Subject: Joke

There was once a medical student specializing in pathology who truly wanted to excel in his studies. Without fail, he would daily visit the school's path lab following his classes to do extra work. One evening he uncovered a cadaver only to notice a cork plugging it's rectum. Curious, he removed the cork only to hear, "CQ contest , I just can't wait to call CQ contest ..." Startled, he replaced the cork.

Curiosity soon got the best of him and he once again removed the cork. Again he heard the tune, "CQ contest , I just can't wait to call CQ contest ..." He could stand it no more. He replaced the cork, covered the cadaver and raced upstairs to his professor's office. He persuaded the man to Accompany him back to the lab. Once there, the student again uncovered the cadaver and displayed the corked rectum.

The professor looked unfazed. When the student removed the cork, the same soundemanated, "CQ contest , I just..." The professor looked bored and started to walk away. The student was aghast at this casual response. He said to the professor, "Don't you find this amazing?" The professor replied, "Not really, almost any asshole can call CQ Contest

A mother, accompanied by her small daughter, were in New YorkCity. The mother was trying to hail a cab, when her daughter noticed several wildly dressed women who were loitering on a nearby street corner. The mother finally hailed her cab and they both climbed in, at which point the daughter asks her mother, "Mummie, what are all those ladies waiting for by that corner?", to which the mother replies, "Those ladies are waiting for their husbands to come home from work."
A nearby ham radio operator, upon hearing this exchange, turns to the mother and says, "Ahhhhhhh, C'mon lady!!!! Tell your daughter the truth!!!! For crying out loud. They're hookers!"
A brief period of silence follows, and the daughter then asks,"Mummie, do the ladies have any children?"
The mother replies, "Of course dear. Where do you think hams come from?"

I don't recall being tested on the "pro-signs" and other signals and their meaning. If I am not required to know the meaning of "Q" signals how can I use them to communicate with an operator who does not speak the same language. Perhaps the test should be changed from a Morse code test to a test on codes and signals that could be used on any mode to get the meaning across on any mode that is common to all stations in communication regardless of the language spoken by the operator. If code if still such an important means of communication why is the maritime community giving it its burial at sea?

What was so difficult putting "@." into my killfile using Outlook? What a ninny...

Uh Jeff, I think all Outlook newsreaders (same version) also have the same serial number. So I would use that unless I wanted to get rid of everyone who posts using Outlook. Guilty...

Jerry,

Doesn't the current Morse test require letters, numbers, punctuation, and pro-signs? Maybe like me you tested before the inception of the VE program?

Yes, a number of options are "engaged" from the keypad. The codes to do this are a closely held secret by IFR, and I believe are unique for each serial number of unit.

I was also born in the South. However, I recently moved to the Pacific North-West and often hear the word "redneck" used to describe everybody who lives in the South (there is no distinction made between one type of Southerner or another - all Southerners are ignorant rednecks).

There is still a very strong anti-Southern sentiment in this country, W4UDX. And it appears to be growing stronger, fueled by liberals who think all southerners are conservative, and see conservatives as the enemy. These liberals talk about about tolerance, but are amazingly intolerant of anyone who does not share their beliefs.

So, I guess this was a cultural misunderstanding. You used the word
"redneck" as it might be used in the South, not realising that others around the country might have a different definition of the word. I understood the word "redneck" as it might be used around this part of the country - as a derogatory term used to describe Southerners in general.

For the umpteenth time I ask what the BARF website dedicated to the German Army and Waffen SS of WW2 have to do with amateur radio? Wouldn't you think W9XN "Bullchittum" would answer the question? Apprently what I suspected is true. The man lives by subterfuge, obfuscation, deceit and evasiveness. Riley has it "in" for the Liberty Net because he feels that the members are reserving a space on 75 for the purpose of instigating; at least that's how I read it. Am I then wrong is assuming that the pro-Nazi BARF website is there to similarly instigate, agitate and corrupt? If I'm wrong, tell me about it and then justify the obvious vicious architecture of that website?
It simply is incoherent with W9XN's one time support of K3CQR vis a vis that FCC fine. Martin went out of his way to prove to the FCC that Bill was retaliating against Schoenbohm-inspired radio Nazism and now Martin and Herbert are in bed together-two peas in a pod. Right or wrong?

Nicki, this newsgroup is not viewed by just Southerners. It is viewed by people all over the country. Therefore, when you use a derogatory word like this, you have to realise that others might have a very different definition of the word.

And in this part of the country, the word "redneck" is often a derogatory term used to describe all Southerners in general. Perhaps W4UDX did not mean to put down all Southerners with his use of the word, but that is how some people around the country are going to read it.

By the way, this gives a whole new meaning to the "you know you're a redneck if..." jokes, doesn't it? I used to laugh at those jokes when I lived in the South also. Now I just cringe when I hear one.

Sounds like Charles Swartzbard is threatning you with his thugs, you need to report this to abuse@deja.com The threat from him speaks for itself. They would be interested in hearing about it. There is no place here for thugs who make threats. Looks like Dr Hate crossed the line this time.

Sure they DO. But only if you know them, on both ends of the circuit.
There are a WIDE variety of Q signals, prosigns, widely accepted abbreviations, common use shortcuts that have long been used in CW work that do indeed constiture a common language. It's no surprise that a no-coder sucnh as you ar enot familar with any of them, after all you're not interested at all, right?
All that aside, it is well known in circles which evidently don't include No Code International membership, that English is the universal language for international communications.
Most people other than rank beginners who haven't yet developed communications skills will take on an English vocabulary sufficient to communicate, and knowledge of the written word without correct voice enunciation is sufficient when non-voice modes such as CW are used, eliminating the problem of misunderstanding incorrect or unskilled pronunciations.
Of course, codeless hams can't be expected to be familar with any of this.
Yeah, we know, you DO hold a "coded" license. That in itself means nothing. There have always been ways to circumvent actual learning and skill in code if one were determined enough to find and use them. Your lack of knowledge concerning CW matters shows that you were never actually proficient in the subject, whatever method you used in passing the code test.

Basically, that is correct. BASIC Morse code, that is.

Yep. The Language of CW. Learn it. It might be important to you sometime. But only if you know it. Oh, sorry. You can't see that at all. You've got your cellphone and 2meter FM

You have no clue of what you're talking about, either of you.
Deleting Morse code qualification from amateur radio only subtracts the most basic communications mode available in amateur radio, the one that can be used under the most widely varying circumstances, using the most widely available and least specific equipment of any mode.

The very idea is ridiculous.

Bill, are you really that dense, or are you just so anti-code that you much prefer to just ignore reality? One is left wondering just where and how you got your "coded" license.

Do you really believe that SOS doesn't mean "I am involved in a life-threatening emergency" in Slobovian just as it does in English?
There are plenty of other examples.

I know the feeling.

Trying a different method may help, but what you really need is to relax. I know, telling you to relax at a test is like being told to sit in the corner of a round room. The only solution I can think of is to improve your code speed to the point where 5 WPM is trivial.

You should know that the 5 WPM limit is a cognitive barrier. That's why it was chosen. At 5 WPM you must have the code memorized in the form of letter rhythms. There is no time to reason it out by dots and dashes. If that's why you're missing letters, you need more practice on those letters. It's possible that if you've been listening to the tapes so much that you have memorized them, you need different tapes.

The 13 WPM test was chosen because it is yet another cognitive barrier. At that speed you need to be able to receive morse code unconsciously while writing down the text. Generally this means that your writing may lag behind the code by one or more letters.

Finally at 20 WPM, you need to be able to receive entire words of morse code. You'll no longer be able to hear individual letters, you'll hear words, and you'll write them down that way.

Please understand, my suggestions here are to help you pass the test. Though I can still communicate with morse code at speeds upwards of 25 WPM, I do not believe that morse is a reasonable test for getting a ham radio license.

You are probably just trying too hard. You are doing the right thing by bypassing the missed letters. Try this. While you are practicing, listen to a tape/on air that is just a little bit too fast for you to comfortable copy. Don't worry about the misses. Write down what you hear. This will force you to "copy behind". Also if you have a radio, listen to real cw. And try a different tape with a different tone.

Good luck.

What's to keep all those things from being used on PSK31, or any other digital mode, or even on voice for that matter?

It's good to know that, because of that fact, CW is not needed.

What? codeless hams don't know "English, the universal what language do codeless hams speak, Dick?

Which, if true, just goes to show what a failure the Morse code testing program really is. People who are not going to use it are not going to become proficient at it even with the testing program in place! People who are going to use it would learn it without the testing program!

To repeat here a portion of my e-mail to you:
Should I not learn Amharic (19 million), Bengali (192 million) or other

I cannot speak for anyone else but I don't wish to learn a language of a

Dick, you contradict yourself. You admit CW is "only a coding scheme" and then turn around and call it a language, which it is NOT! Is there an alphabet for Morse code that is not the alphabet of a language? If there is, please produce it.

It is now approaching the second day since my post. The time has run out. However, I know it is a tough thing for you netnit's to think, let alone remember. And it must be tough trying to think of one damn positive thing you have done for amateur radio. So I'm gonna extend the deadline a bit longer. I'll give you till this MONDAY to tell me
ONE THING YOU HAVE DONE FOR HAM RADIO.

And Lloyd, I have typed up a reply to your question of what I have done for ham radio. Unfortunatly it is a 4K document. So, I'll hold off a bit and see what the other netnit's have to say. And very good on your "wx watch participation". That's a GOOD start. If you want a personal copy of my list, e-mail me.

If you want some 'FREE' help go to http://www.qsl.net/dk5ci/ and download the MorseCat program it will 'send' code to you from 5-120 wpm and if you hook up a code key to your joystick (help file tells how) you can 'send' code to the program and it will read it for you. I am using this program to learn code myself and I believe it is helping!

Don't feel bad, Jerry; I wasn't tested on how to build a radio -- I had to teach myself that if I wanted to get on the air. As Gary Coffman is fond of saying, in passing your exam(s) and receiving your license, you passed an entrance exam, not a final exam. The learning is supposed to continue every day.

You hold an Advanced and you've stopped all radio-related self-learning? =:o

We participate in a self-taught technical hobby/service; not a day should go by without us gaining new knowledge with respect to communications and electronics. Ham radio and reading are inseparable

> If code if still such an important means of communication why >is the maritime community giving it its burial at sea?

Three (union) radio officers, at $80,000 per officer per year, versus a one-time expense of purchasing GMDSS gear.

Let's allow an RO to describe how well this new technology is working:

I worry about the future of maritime communications.
We have most of our eggs in one basket: satellite communications and the SITOR stations really don't have enough traffic to survive financially, in the long run, without government support. I don't really see Globe Wireless (KPH/WCC/WNU) and Mobile Marine Radio (WLO/KLS) being around 10 years from now.

On most of my voyages, even though deck officers have the new GMDSS licenses and are now doing much of the communications work, they often don't understand what they are doing.

The GMDSS false alarm rates still exceeds 95% due to transmission errors, improper forwarding of DSS transmissions, etc. Either the deck officers make the mistakes themselves or they get exasperated and turn the equipment off. Thus the reliability of the GMDSS system for ships that are truly in distress is being compromised.

This has been a subject at international conferences but no one wants to "rock the boat" and admit that the GMDSS system isn't perfect and that a licensed WELL TRAINED operator is still needed. Cost savings are the orders of the day.

It will take a major maritime tragedy before this is truly addressed.

(ex-maritime Radio-Electronics officer and ex-owner/operator of WKM/West Haven, CT Radio).

Just as municipalities are being conned regarding the magical results of switching to a UHF trunking system, the shipping industry too has been given a snow-job; they've been falsely convinced that safety-of-life-at-sea will not be compromised with this new cost-saving technology.

The MF/HF maritime CW system was simple and worked perfectly; it effectively served shipping for over 90 years. But it used a lot of manpower, both at sea and along the coasts, thus it was costly. Money was the issue, Jerry.

Jeff KH6O (former U.S. Coast Guard CW operator)

(Notice: the above was written without having had a single cup of coffee; any grammar/spelling errors are due to this fact!)

I think that it is either "Legba" playing the tape, as he does all the time, or Porkbutt himself, so that people will not forget about him.

In fact, we will probably hear either the Porkbutt Song or "Porkbuttttt Passesssss Gaaasssssssssss" for many years to come, most often played by PB's own minions in order to get attention or simply in memory of their Master.

In a day where questionable workmanship and a "we don't care" attitudes is all too common, it's nice to see a company strongly bucking this trend. I recently sent my Kenwood TS-530S transceiver to Kenwood Service Center East in Virginia. I have discussed the particular problems with my radio with both service managers Steve and Chuck. Both were extremely knowledgeable, courteous and helpful. (Chuck even took the time to offer me some technical insight on vacuum tubes and on some old Collins equipment I have.) They took my radio in promptly, informed of their findings and went the extra mile to make sure that my radio is in excellent working order. (The previous owner had apparently made some rather gross mods that were best removed.) I can honestly say, I've not dealt with a more professional, customer oriented company. They've certainly earned my business.

Nice Post. I thought learning to copy behind was harder than taking the 5 wpm test.
Additionally, if you can write long-hand in practice & testing, it'll be a little faster when receiving code. The use of headphones during the test will cut out extraneous noise (if the VE team will let you use them, ask!), and practice, practice, practice.
Good luck.

5019. Esperanto and HAM radio - a long history.

IIRC, the first Esperanto QSO between people from different countries occurred in the 1930's.
Many shortwave broadcasters also use Esperanto.
ILERA La Internacia Ligo de Esperantistaj Radio-Amatoroj was created in 1970.

Here are the HF frequencies and time to check:
Asia/Pacific: Saturdays 2200 UTC, 21.266; 2230 & 2400 14.266; Sundays 0200 14.266 0300 21.266.
Europe: Sunday & Monday 1230 14.266
South America: Saturday & Sunday 2030 14.266.

Don't confuse the language, Esperanto with the lack of publicity about the language, Esperanto.

As to your statement that "I would be shown the door" at the UN, as I understand it there is a very active Esperanto club among UN employees and those diplomats that also speak it.
Even if that WERE true, I'd be "bonvolu"-ed (welcomed) "right across the street" at the Universala Esperanto-Asocio (world Esperanto association) UN-liaison office at 777 UN Plaza. #1.

You're saying the military has access to fabs that can do stuff 1/30th the size of what the latest PIII is done on? Because smaller and smaller fab sizes are the variable in microprocessors. Better,faster non-x86 architectures are commonly available but no one buys them.

Very impressive results! But be careful as these parts are extremely small.

Enjoy!

<<Dan is right-copy behind. The first thing you have to do is to emphasize to yourself that YOU WANT THAT TICKET AND YOU'LL GET IT. Do NOT be satisfied with a lesser ticket such as Code Free Tech Plus garbage; all that is is an EXCUSE to become a ham rather than PROOF of it. Here's a tip. Cw is a foreign language and the REAL way of learning any foreign tongue is to THINK in that language. It follows suit for cw. For example, look at your newspaper and those big bold headlines are sure to hit you in the face. As you read them, translate each word into cw. You see the word,"America." Say to yourself. "di dah..dah dah..dit...di dah dit...dih dit...dah dih dah dit..di dah. Go on to the next and the next and so forth and so on. Do the same thing as you're listening to a radio program. In other words, since cw is proving itself to be a stumbling block, IMMERSE yourself in it-think in it as if you were studing French or German or Spanish e.g. Then tune into cw not necessarily on the ham bands. Scan through ,for instance ,the 8 mHz band on your shortwave and see if you can copy some text. I used that technique to prepare for my Extra and I'm sure you can find slower code. Always practice copying code FASTER than that required for the ticket you seek. I don't mean to go hog wild but a bit faster so that at the actual test you will ace the "slower" speed. Think positively which by the way is an excellent idea to use throughout your life. You get nowhere backing away from problems but instead meet them head on and defeat them. Good luck.

Roger,

You know what continually amazes me about these Barfoid's ? They figure that since they do it, everyone does. Remember back a few years ago, during the "heyday" of the jamming from Polly and the "crew".
Polly and BIlly went off to Dayton. Guess what...NO JAMMING AT ALL, OR MUSIC OR ANYTHING on 3901, except for the guy's trying to have a qso.
What's wrong with that picture, eh?

I had a similar experience with Kenwood, East. The solved a long standing (since manufacture) problem with my radio, returned it promptly, and took care of it under warranty. All in all a great experience (and when I was all ready for a fight). It restored my faith in Kenwood.

For all you Jacks and Jills who think, like I, that you know all about computers and such, here's a bit of advice. TAKE IT and learn from my mistake which was not entirely my fault but I'm still the one who took the hit. This morning I called AOL Technical Division to relate a problem. My sent and retained mail should have been good for 30 days according to my preference. Neither was-they both lasted a few days. So AOL Tech told me to go to my systems folder, then to preferences, then to the AOL window and TRASH my radiosigs filing cabinet because of some glich i.e. corruption in it. I did and guess what-my FAVORITES were wiped out! All! And I had not saved them on a floppy! After I called back AOL to angrily tell my story, I was told that FAVORITES are kept in FILING CABINETS, so beware you computer experts. My advice and do it now-KEEP A COPY OF YOUR FAVORITES ON A FLOPPY i.e. diskette or you may end up with my mess. I am only too happy to be of asistance to all the fine people on this board. Huh?

5038. HAM & N0VFP & INTERNET EXTREMISM

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 1999-08-20 00:00:00 UTC
From: radiosigs@aol.com
Message-ID: <19990819215536.22450.00001078@ng-cp1.aol.com>
Source record: 133207

1. Why can't the government ban use of the Internet to spread hateful and racist ideology in the United States? The Internet is probably the greatest forum for the exchange of ideas that the world has ever seen. It operates across national borders, and efforts by the international community or any one government to regulate speech on the Internet would be virtually impossible, both technologically and legally.
In the United States, the First Amendment to the Constitution guarantees the right of freedom of speech to all Americans, even those whose opinions are reprehensible. In a number of recent decisions, the Supreme Court has reaffirmed that our government may not regulate the content of Internet speech to an extent greater than it may regulate speech in more traditional areas of expression such as the print media, the broadcast media, or the public square. While courts may take into account the Internet's vast reach and accessibility, they must still approach attempts to censor or regulate speech online from a traditional constitutional framework.
Return to Top

2. What kind of hate speech on the Internet is not protected by the First Amendment? Internet speech that is merely critical, annoying, offensive or demeaning enjoys constitutional protection. However, the First Amendment does not provide a shield for libelous speech or copyright infringement, nor does it protect certain speech that threatens or harasses other people. For example, an E-mail or a posting on a Web site that expresses a clear intention or threat by its writer to commit an unlawful act against another specific person is likely to be actionable under criminal law. Persistent or pernicious harassment aimed at a specific individual is not protected if it inflicts or intends to inflict emotional or physical harm. To rise to this level, harassment on the Internet would have to consist of a "course of conduct" rather than a single isolated instance. A difficulty in enforcing laws against harassment is the ease of anonymous communication on the Internet. Using a service that provides almost-complete anonymity, a bigot may repeatedly E-mail his victim without being readily identified.
Blanket statements expressing hatred of an ethnic, racial or religious nature are protected by the First Amendment, even if those statements mention individual people and even if they cause distress in those individuals. Similarly, denial of the Holocaust -- though abhorrent -- is almost never actionable under American law. The Constitution protects the vast majority of extremist Web sites that disseminate racist or anti-Semitic propaganda.
Return to Top

3. Has anyone ever been successfully prosecuted in the United States for sending racist threats via E-mail? There is legal precedent for such a prosecution. In 1998, a former student was sentenced to one year in prison for sending E-mail death threats to 60 Asian-American students at the University of California, Irvine. His E-mail was signed "Asian hater" and threatened that he would "make it my life career [sic] to find and kill everyone one [sic] of you personally." That same year, another California man pled guilty to Federal civil rights charges after he sent racist E-mail threats to dozens of Latinos throughout the country.

Return to Top

4. Has anyone ever been held liable in the United States for encouraging acts of violence on the World Wide Web? Yes. In 1999, a coalition of groups opposed to abortion was ordered to pay over $100 million in damages for providing information for a Web site called "Nuremberg Files" which posed a threat to the safety of a number of doctors and clinic workers who perform abortions. The site posted photos of abortion providers, their home addresses, license plate numbers and the names of their spouses and children. In three instances, after a doctor listed on the site was murdered, a line was drawn through his name. Although the site fell short of explicitly calling for assault on doctors, the jury found that the information it contained amounted to a real threat of bodily harm.
Return to Top

5. Can hate crimes laws be used against hate on the Internet? TIf a bigot's use of the Internet rises to the level of criminal conduct, it may subject the perpetrator to an enhanced sentence under a state's hate crimes law. Currently, 40 states and the District of Columbia have such laws in place. The criminal's sentence may be more severe if the prosecution can prove that he or she intentionally selected the victim based on the victim's race, nationality, religion, gender or sexual orientation. However, these laws do not apply to conduct or speech protected by the First Amendment.
Return to Top

6. May commercial Internet Service Providers (ISPs) prevent the use of their services by extremists? Yes. Commercial ISPs, such as America Online (AOL), may voluntarily agree to prohibit users from sending racist or bigoted messages over their services. Such prohibitions do not implicate First Amendment rights because they are entered into through private contracts and do not involve government action in any way.
Once an ISP promulgates such regulations, it must monitor the use of its service to ensure that the regulations are followed. If a violation does occur, the ISP should, as a contractual matter, take action to prevent it from happening again. For example, if a participant in a chat room engages in racist speech in violation of the "terms of service" of the ISP, his account could be cancelled, or he could be forbidden from using the chat room in the future. ISPs should encourage users to report suspected violations to company representatives.
The effectiveness of this remedy is limited, however. Any subscriber to an ISP who loses his or her account for violating that ISP's regulations may resume propagating hate by subsequently signing up with any of the dozens of more permissive ISPs in the marketplace.
Return to Top

7. May universities prevent the use of their computer services for the promotion of extremist views? Because private universities are not agents of the government, they may forbid users from engaging in offensive speech using university equipment or university services. Public universities, as agents of the government, must follow the First Amendment's prohibition against speech restrictions based on content or viewpoint.

Nonetheless, public universities may promulgate content-neutral regulations that effectively prevent the use of school facilities or services by extremists. For example, a university may limit use of its computers and server to academic activities only. This would likely prevent a student from creating a racist Web site for propaganda purposes or from sending racist E-mail from his student E-mail account. One such policy -- at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana -- stipulates that its computer services are "provided in support of the educational, research and public service missions of the University and its use must be limited to those purposes."
Universities depend on an atmosphere of academic freedom and uninhibited expression. Any decision to limit speech on a university campus -- even speech in cyberspace -- will inevitably affect this ideal. College administrators should confer with representatives from both the faculty and student body when implementing such policies.
Return to Top

8. How does the law in foreign countries differ from American law regarding hate on the Internet? Can an American citizen be subject to criminal charges abroad for sending or posting material that is illegal in other countries? In most countries, hate speech does not receive the same constitutional protection as it does in the United States. In Germany, for example, it is illegal to promote Nazi ideology. In many European countries, it is illegal to deny the reality of the Holocaust. Authorities in Denmark, France, Britain, Germany and Canada have brought charges for crimes involving hate speech on the Internet.
While national borders have little meaning in cyberspace, Internet users who export material that is illegal in some foreign countries may be subject to prosecution under certain circumstances. An American citizen who posts material on the Internet that is illegal in a foreign country could be prosecuted if he subjected himself to the jurisdiction of that country or of another country whose extradition laws would allow for his arrest and deportation. However, under American law, the United States will not extradite a person for engaging in a constitutionally protected activity even if that activity violates a criminal law elsewhere.
Return to Top

9. What are Internet "filters" and when is their use appropriate? Filters are software that can be installed along with a Web browser to block access to certain Web sites that contain inappropriate or offensive material. Parents may choose to install filters on their children's computers in order to prevent them from viewing sites that contain pornography or other problematic material. ADL has developed a filter (ADL HateFilter&#65533;) that blocks access to Web sites that advocate hatred, bigotry or violence towards Jews or other groups on the basis of their religion, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation or other immutable characteristics. HateFilter&#65533;, which can be downloaded from ADL's Web site, contains a "redirect" feature which offers users who try to access a blocked site the chance to link directly to related ADL educational material. The voluntary use of filtering software in private institutions or by parents in the home does not violate the First Amendment because such use involves no government action.

There are also some commercially marketed filters that focus on offensive words and phrases. Such filters, which are not site-based, are designed primarily to screen out obscene and pornographic material.
Return to Top

10. May public schools and public libraries install filters on computer equipment available for public use? The use of filters by public institutions, such as schools and libraries, has become a hotly contested issue that remains unresolved. At least one Federal court has ruled that a local library board may not require the use of filtering software on all library Internet computer terminals. A possible compromise for public libraries with multiple computers would be to allow unrestricted Internet use for adults, but to provide only supervised access for children.
Courts have not ruled on the constitutionality of hate speech filters on public school library computers. However, given the broad free speech rights afforded to students by the First Amendment, it is unlikely that courts would allow school libraries to require filters on all computers available for student use.

How is a antenna designed for "CB" going to work on 15 and 20? It won't. If you intend to use a multiband (one designed for 20-15-10) then I suggest you space the two vertical's at 1/2 wavelength ON TEN METERS. This will give you 1/4 wave on 20. And some weird and probably useless wavelength on 15. This will give you a figure 8 pattern on 10 and a cardoid pattern on 20, with who know's what on 15.
But if you are intending to use a pair of antenna's that are resonate on 10/11 then the way to do that is....fed them with a open wire phasing harness. Connect feed to center, also open wire. Run to a BALANCED antenna tuner. This of course means you will need to run the open wire (or ladderline) into the shack. Which can cause RF in the house problems. The antenna's should be mounted about 15 foot off ground and a radial system of at least 4, 1/4 wave + 5% wires on each at the LOWEST FREQ OF OPERATION, or use seperate radial's for each band, at least two.

Might I suggest you buy a good antenna book. It will be much simpler to work with than here.

Good luck.

Hey Rog,

Do you know the REAL REASON Polly Parrot moved out of his hovel beside the Chinese resturant in Memphis? His wife told him to get the sheep out of the bedroom. Trouble is, his long time friend Billy J. has now got the arse. He feel's like he is being cheated on. May account for why they don't hang on 75 as much, eh?

I do not support David Duke or any other politcian. There are too many people in Washington that want to tell us how to live our lives.
The name calling in this post is unfortunate. I am not a skin head, so your supposition is wrong. What else have you been wrong about in the past few postings?

>One thing is for sure, >he's got more "integrity" than you can dream of having.

Oh my goodness......how do you know he has any integrity? Do you know this professor personally? You do not know me, so how do you make comparisons with suppositons that are wrong? Oviously the logic here is flawed.

> How can you compare the Boy Scouts of America with the likes of the >truth YOU are trying to pull.

I can easily make the comparison. Both the Liberty Net and the Boy scouts have come under attack from a subversive element. The 3950 frequency has become almost unusable from a subersive destructive element in ham radio that think they can ignore the laws and do whatever they want in order to prevent free speach.
The same holds true for the Boy Scouts. They have come under attack from not only the homosexual movement and Nambla, but also from this wonderful government who's courts have ruled that the Boy scouts must let into their organization these perverted child moletsers.The Boy scouts have come under attack from a group that does not believe what they believe. The parralel is obvious.

Who told you that this web site is used by law enforcement agencies all over the country? This professor?
I do know many people in the law enforcement field adn they have never heard of this supposed famous site that has all the information you could ever need to find out about hate groups. What a joke. A web site can be put up by anyone and say anything --- even untrue statements can be posted---and gullible people like you will read this and say---"Oh MY GOD, WE MUST DO SOMETHING---WE must JAM 3950 so this can stop. We must ignore part 97 and jam these people off the air. Free speach should never ever be allowed when it does not agree with my ideas".....LOL

I am hoping some of you folks can offer me some suggestions in taking the wpm tech plus exam I have studied the Gordon West tapes and practiced code with a friend for about 2 months.
I seem to do fine but freeze up so to speak on the test when I miss a few letters. My mind goes blank and then I cant copy properly after leaving the blanks. When taking the test am I d doing the right thing leaving the blanks and just moving on to the next thing sent. I would really like to pass this the next time I am willing to purchase other tapes or programs etc I saw something advertised this month in qst for a device somewhat portable that you can practice with and it will play it back to u Are their any websites that you can recommend or any other ways of practice . I am really open for suggestions. My dad is somewhat ill and before he leaves this world I would love him to see me pass and get my general eventually He has been in Ham Radio for years and I would like him to see me take this step
Many thanks I will await some good answers so hopefully next time I can Pass Much appreciated

Bill, I was a language minor in college and have a good ear for it. I have never heard Esperanto spoken, period. You say it's an International Language with 2,000,000 advocates? How in heaven's name can you be so keen on it when there are about six billion folks on earth? If someone applies for work at the U.N. and lists Esperanto as their second language, he'd be shown the door. If I were really interested in taking up a foreign language, I'd put my time and effort into Spanish, French and German which are spoken by a hell of a lot more than two million .

I said that ESPERANTO ran in the fifth race at Hialeah today and someone corrected me. He's right. She scratched which is exactly what this obsolete language -pusher Munsil ought to do. That's all I read,"Esperanto this and Esperanto that." I'm sick of it. Munsil you'll get no recruits here. Most of the bums who hang out here can hardly make it in English let alone your crumb bun lingo. Who's paying you off to push that stuff here? I'm saying that no one could be so much in love with a graveyard language if there weren't bucks in it. I'm beginning to believe you're the Gordon West of silly lingos. The next thing I'll read is how you're offering a book for $29.95 on how to look stupid speaking something no one understands. What's wrong with Spanish, German, French, Italian for example? You got something against the people who spawned them? Your e-mail spoke of your dislike for any language by a foreign power, colonialists, empire builders and so forth and so on. What's the great shakes? If backward nations had not been conquered by movers and shakers, they'd still be hanging from trees. Get with the program Munsil and stop pushing your garbage on us. The next thing you'll be telling us is that Esperanto is good for ingrown toenails or hemorrhoids or headaches. Take your Esperanto fixation to another board or forum like Roger is a poor substitute for Porkbutt. That does not keep you from brown nosing him. Why do you have to have a criminal to suck up to? You should spend more time with Pauline or she is going to leave you. She has no ties to you as you haven't bothered to marry her. So I would watch my step if I were you, or you will be in the trailer by yourself drinking and dopeing your self into a stupor. This advise is for your own good. Quit fretting about Billy Mack and Pauly or whatever. I know they must have caused you to lose a lot of sleep at night tossing and turning thinking about the wicked shots they fired at you. Tell us about the "CHI-Rocket that caused you to burn General Westmorlands eggs, or the time you advised the general where to make air strikes. Wow! Well, no it won't cure all of those things you mentioned.

No, I have nothing to sell but my love for Esperanto.
In truth, perhaps it is time to hold off for a while.
There are many posts that I skip right over as well.
As I said before, I am not forcing anyone to speak or not to speak any language.
What I said was that all national languages were languages of conquerors.
That should be obvious even under cursory examination:
N & S America: English, French, Spanish, Portuguese.
Africa: all of the above plus a little German and a lot of Dutch.
No one needs my approval to speak any other language. I, also, need no one's approval to speak or disseminate information about Esperanto.

Yes, please tell us who you really are. Are you Eric Oyen? John Mackey?
Burt Fisher? Since you can bring up my name repeatly in a newsgroup post and "accuse" me of spamming, yet you don't have any balls yourself to post your name to these posts. That gives you less creditbility than me, I suppose, since I post my name on this post.

How about it Frankie boy??

Until you give me your name, YOU ARE A COWARD! I will post this until you

You are beyond belief in your inability to read simple english. I'll try it ONE MORE TIME dummy....The Stumpers did'nt exist at this time. It was the ABERNATHY RADIO GROUP. Got that STUPID???. As for the fact that I hate the stumpers....your correct. And since they DID NOT EXIST at the time. Your entire premise is flawed. The reason I HATE THE STUMPERS is they have ignorant, irrational, brain dead spokesmen like you. Not to mention the "organized jamming", the affiliation with the BARF, a known NAZI group. This could go on and on. Tell ya what stupid, when you learn to comprehend what you read give me a call. And when you get off your drug induced stuper, answer my question.

Q signals are Pro-signs? Indeed, what part of ITU regs or Part 97 requires knowledge of any Q signals at all. There may be a couple in the question pool, but that's it.

What arogance.
Perhaps you can point to the ITU treaty regulation that so states that. Is it a requirement? Of course not.

Me thinks you assume way too much.

Depends on what you mean by proficient. I got it down enough to pass the test. Isn't that all that is required? Is there some part of the rules/regs I am breaking because I choose not to use the mode at all?

The point was that there needs to be the use of the same language (English, Spanish, French or whatever) between the two people using code in order for there to be a meaningful exchange of information (i.e. more than just the info used in a DX contact).

I am offering free web pages on the domain hfradio.org -- if you need a place to hang your hat, please consider creating your homepage at http://hfradio.org -- already have some taking up the offer... why not you? Free, after all. No ugly watermark images floating about, or obnoxious banner windows popping up every time you move around.

Need a place for your club website? Your special dx-pedition? Your homepage? Simply fill out the form off of the main page at http://hfradio.org/

Your page address would be http://hfradio.org/yourcallsign/ -- and you can have an email address alias of yourcallsign@hfradio.org. Free. For non-commercial ham sites only. If you need a commercial site, or need custom solutions, let me know with the online form.

And, of course, as always you can create azimuth maps centered on your QTH (or any QTH, for that matter), check dx, propagation, or swap and shop. And more. At the http://hfradio.org site.

Hope I meet you on the air. I hang out on 20, 15, and 10.

I never learned any code from tapes or code practice on the air,(W1AW, or religious broadcsts [the religious broadcasts 7100khz in San Diego have a hidden meaning]) the only time I would jump from 5 wpm to 8 then 10 was In a contact on hf. Antenna restrictions made it very hard for me as I could not hear anything in the cw portions of the band.
You have to listen to different" fists"
If you learn from tapes only you will not be able to copy actual on the air code.
You need the shock value of making a contact with someone on the air to really learn, this is a catch 22 as how can you learn cw if you can't legally get on the air in the first place!!!!! What would be cool would be if you have a Ten Tec Scout, you could find a willing ham in your neighborhood, and turn the power down to comply with fcc part 15 on the am broadcast band and send and receive actual code, you also don't need a license below 150 khz and cw tranceivers are available for this band.
It also depends on your age, for every 10 years factor in % loss of memory skills.
Find a tape recorder with +/- 50% pitch control and record off the general / extra class portions of the bands, you will have to tune 1 to 2 khz higher to get a tone that's 600 hz or so lower when you play back, unless you use a digital tape recorder, I have a DAT recorder but have not been able to slow down the tape or download the actual on air cw for a computer program.
Again it depends on how old you are to even consider starting to learn (age there55?)
Why don't you repost and tell us what you think?

Must be hitting close to home, eh Lloyd? What threat's, and libel are you refering to? For it to be libel, it must be a lie. For it to be a threat it must convey threats of physical violence. Care to elaborate a bit? Remember, you guy's started all of this. I am simply responding. But I realize your "tactic" is to silence the opposition.

How many countries publish magazines and newspapers in German?
I can think of maybe three: Germany, Austria, Switzerland.
How many countries publish magazines and newspapers in Catalan?
I can think of maybe one: Spain.
How many countries publish magazines and newspapers in Esperanto?
Well, try China, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Spain, to name a few.
Golly! Who has more magazines and newspapers to choose from?

Esperanto - the second language for the ENTIRE world.

Doc that is the first post you have made that I agree with. I used to habitualy translate everything I saw to the point that I thought I was being a little wierd, but it is true. crownie55 also needs to take the advice to slow down and relax. forget the missed ones for sure. If you ha-e to y-u can fi-ure it out a-ter u hv- co-ied the -hole -est. Another bit that works is copying on air for at least 15 min a day. In a week you will notice the difference.

I see by your irrational comments that you are going down the "lets attack the family" route, again. I chose not to do so. I wrote a nice reply to your assine comments, but decided not to post them.

You see I have dealt with you before, when you were playing me for a sucker with nice e-mails, then attacking me here on the newsgroup. So I will not go down that road with you again.

In otherwords Marty, you are not worth my time, and certainly not worth taking up this newsgroups time.

We both know the truth, at least I do.

Depends on what you mean by proficient. I got it down there some

So there it is, folks! Willie states that he only learned enough code to "meet the requirements" -which is all A-Ok, but then he proceeds in a very lame attempt to demonstrate expertise in CW operations!

This clearly demonstrates his anaimosity toward code as a mode, and his desire to see it just go away. Of course, the fact that he will be able to memorize the Extra written and therby jump to the top of the heap doesn't enter into it! (NOTE: I didn't say that he WILL memorize the test, but how would anyone determine if he did? YOU CAN'T!)

SALVATION ARMY AMATEUR NET HANDLING EARTHQUAKE TRAFFIC

The Salvation Army Team Emergency Radio Network--SATERN--is running a health-and-welfare traffic operation as a result of requests from individuals in the US seeking information on friends and relatives in earthquake-stricken Turkey. The Salvation Army World Services Office has been receiving requests since the quake hit early yesterday. The earthquake, described as one of the most powerful this century, left upwards of 10,000 people dead, injured many thousands more, and has disrupted normal telecommunication systems. The quake measured 7.4 on the Richter scale.

SATERN reports it will pass traffic on its normal 20-meter net on 14.265 MHz at 1400 UTC. The Salvation Army says that Quent Nelson, WA4BZY, is heading the H&W operation from Covington, Georgia. Amateurs in the US are permitted to handle third-party traffic to and from Turkey.

Those seeking to initiate health-and-welfare requests may visit http://www.angelfire.com/il/satern411/satframe.html or call 773-205-3573 for additional information and assistance. Requests also may be sent via e-mail to qnwa4bzy@mindspring.com.

In Florida, the Martin County Amateur Radio Association has posted additional Web sites and frequencies in use for earthquake-related Amateur Radio traffic at http://shemp.ecqual.net/~millard/emercom.htm. ANTRAK, the Ankara Radio Amateurs Club, TA2KA, says earthquake traffic also is being handled in Turkey on 14.270, 7.092, and 3.777 MHz.--Salvation Army; MCARA

Code not have to be eliminated. Code should be optional and not a requirement for operation of the HF Bands. If you want to operate CW on the HF bands, only then should you have to pass a code test. Let all of the hams that want to operate code have their little piece of the spectrum. It is time to eliminate this ancient hazing ritual!

Code does not make a good operator. In liu of code, it should be possible to demonstrate proficiency in other modes or theory. The old timers really need to wake up! Ham Radio is dying and needs new blood. Intelligent youth of today
don't want to be subjected to unnecessary hazing rituals!

How can one take seriously, a person that writes to the FCC, to help a fellow ham get off the hook. Swearing up and down its was, in part, due to the baiting of one KA4MUJ and crew, that he himself called NAZI's. And a short while down the line swears allegence to these same folks? What's wrong with that picture?

Or, from his hospital bed, talks on a phone patch and thanking everyone, including Rich, me, and many others, for their concern and good wishes. Then turn's around and for the next several years attacks, libels and slanders these same folks?

Sorry Ensign Blivit...you started this...AGAIN.

Naw, on second thought....let's duke it out you flake. But, try and stick with fact's instead of your foggy half assed memory you are depending on.

Item one: Let's talk about all the times you and the "Icon of 75 meters" ran split from USB/LSB.

Item two: Let's talk about how you supported and assisted everyway you could a young man to be a illegal jammer on 75 and 20 meters.

Item three: Let's talk about how you supported W4FQF and W4LLI and WA4KBX in their jamming campaign on 3901.

Item four: Let's talk about you being a ungrateful SOB. When from your sick bed you thanked RICH, ME and MANY OTHERS for their good wishes while on that phone patch.

Item five: Let's talk about how you are being real cosy with the Liberty Net, now that your "ICON" in gone for a while.

Item six: Let's talk about what a world class hypocrite you really are.

And finally, let's talk about how you feel so bad because you NEVER proved to your family, or yourself, that you had the ball's to go to war. You snivilling little piece of whale crap.

You started this Marty. You got dirt on me, and I do on you. At least I am man enough to ADMIT I WAS WRONG. How bout you?

And BTW, I know EXACTLY what a grey military ID card is. I got one too. Thought you knew it all didn't you braindead? Ill show you mine if you show me yours.

Bob, to keep the databases separate they'd need to spend an extra 150 dollars for an extra hard drive. Heillary Klinton needs that money to campaign for Senator next year on Air Force jets.

I don't know about the rest of you guy's but I wouldn't mess with the "chosen people". Look what happened in Egypt. Hell, look what happens to ANYONE that screws with the Jews. Ask an Arab how he feel about Israel, mad as hell right? And why? Cuz they will kick ur arse

I have an AR1000 that hasn't been used for a couple of years and now some of the buttons on the keypad are not working very well. They weren't working at all at first so I took the keypad apart and cleaned the contacts off with alcohol (the keypad has the rubbery conductors like most calculators do). Some of the buttons work fine, others need alot of pressure, and still others do not work at all. Does anyone know the best way to clean the contacts so that their conductivity is restored.

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Jammer News

"The Commission cannot tolerate jamming......." Hollingsworth

The August 7 session of the Liberty Net was again heavily jammed by white noise jammers, music, the Jack Benny Show and the Burns and Allen Show. K5BLB re-appeared to jam after a long absence from jamming circles, obviously heartened by the lack of FCC enforcement. Jamming continued unabated for at least 4 hours in another clear demonstration that the FCC tolerates Soviet style jamming on amateur radio. Many questions still need to be answered.

We believe that it is time for Riley Hollingsworth to explain his problems. We have heard jammers curse him to his face when he made his appearance on the Liberty Net, resulting in a loss of credibility.

No jammers have been apprehended and closed down on 3950 kHz over the last 7 years in spite of thousands of jamming incidents.

Why are the monitoring stations defunct? They have shut off telephone service. They have never nailed a jammer, no matter how egregious or how frequent.

Why are we paying their salaries if they do nothing?

Is the FCC hierarchy using jammers as Thought Police to squash free discussion on amateur radio?

Why doesn't Riley Hollingsworth go to the Congressional Oversight Committee for the FCC and spill the beans?

Finally, is the FCC willing to defend the First Amendment rights of those with whom they disagree? The answer to this question will determine whether they qualify as public servants.

Whats the matter with you "Rocket Dan", You removed someone from the list , now you say you can't add them. You are getting stty already in your new job. If you can remove them, you can add them. This is not the "HAM" bands fool, this is the internet and I want to be a "STUMPJUMPER, understand,all you need is my Deja Com handle! You volunteered for this job like you did to cook for Gen Wesmorland when that "CHI ROCKET went through the mess hall where you were scrambling some eggs for the General. Don't f this job up like you have other jobs. Put me on the list. You don't have to get permission from anyone. Now, if Mr smartass wants to apoligize for sticking his nose into stumpjumper business and quit the job, that is another story. But until you do that, it is your job to screw up again and still be the failure in life that you are.

Thats right "Rattlesnake" Dan has a job. He is the "Stumpjumper" list recorder. His woman "PAULINE" is so proud of him. It is the kind of job he always wanted. Now he won't have time to "draw" a butcher knife on her or the rest of the family, mother in law, kids, etc. It is the only job he ever truly wanted and now it is his to screw up. I can't wait to see what my number is. Did you tell him to put you on the "Internet Stumpjumpers List"? I just hope Dan can handle this job with out his threatning to "POP A CAP ON SOME BODYS A. Maybe he will get away from the pills and the bottle and the butcher knives. , who knows, it is a step in the right direction.

With the help of the primary netnits here on deja.com you are privy to the inner workings of the humpers. They make up a lie, they propagate a lie, then they actually believe the lie. Amazing.

Thanks to the Northern Ohio Amateur Radio Society, Northern Ohio DX Association, Ohio/Penn PacketCluster Network, K1XN & The Golist, WB2RAJ/WB2YQH & The 59(9) DXReport, W3UR & The Daily DX, NG3K, N6FF, N6RT, WD8SDL, DJ5AV & DX News Letter, EA4DX, DL5NAM, HK6DOS, LA7MFA, OZ8AE, PT7WA, RA3SL, SV1IW, SV2CWY, VK4AAR, VK4NM, VK8NSB and ZD8V for the following DX information.

OHIO SPECIAL EVENT/ACTIVITES......
AMATEUR RADIO DAY AT THE ZOO. Look for special event stations to be activated from the "Cleveland Metroparks Zoo (K8ZOO) and the RainForest (K8CRF)" by several local clubs on August 28th (9 a.m. - 7 p.m.). This day is to promote amateur radio and give the families of amateur radio operators around the world a fun day at the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo and RainForest. Discounted vouchers will be available for all amateur radio operators and families. Check-in frequency will be the NODXA 147.36 repeater. For more information, contact Dwaine, K8ME, at 216-676-7996.

OHIO QSO PARTY. Many Ohio amateurs will participate in the Ohio QSO Party to be held August 28th. The Mad River Radio Club has assumed sponsorship of the OQP with the assistance and support of the Cuyahoga Falls Amateur Radio Club and the Buckeye Belles, who had sponsored the contests in previous years. The major change in the OQP rules is that the contest will now be a twelve hour event. The first OQP under MRRC sponsorship will be Saturday, August 28, 1999, from noon to midnight local (EDT) time. Complete details of the event will be sent to all OPDX InterNet Subscribers as an additional bulletin. The full rules for the OQP may be found at the MRRC Web Page at:
http://www.qsl.net/mrrc/oqp.html
Also, an abbreviated set is listed in August, 1999, QST, on page 92.

3X, GUINEA (Another interesting callsign!). Look for Karel, ON4QY, to sign 3XY2A from Conakry for the next few years. Karel was spotted this past week on 21275 kHz between 1630 and 1930z. QSL via ON4QY.

5H, TANZANIA. Wayne/K8LEE and Roger/WD8SDL will be active from Dar es Salaam, October 19th through November 2nd, as 5H3/homecall. They will also be active as a Multi/Single entry in the CQWW SSB Contest teaming up with Dave Heil and using the callsign 5H3US. QSL via home call and 5H3US via WA8JOC.

9L, SIERRA LEONE. The "DX News Letter" reports that Jacky, F2CW/ZL3CW, is here and hopes to receive a licence for the next three months.

FO, CLIPPERTON ISLAND (To be activated in the year 2000). John, N7CQQ, and The N7CQQ Amateur Radio Club report in a press release that they have finalized plans for their expedition to the Clipperton Island scheduled for February 26, 2000 through March 15, 2000. They will be aboard the motor vessel Shogun from San Diego, California. Their goal is to provide as many European and other stations with a new country on as many band modes as possible. The last operation to Clipperton Island was in 1992 (FO0CI). Transportation is limited and very expensive going to the island. Also, difficult but not impossible to obtain the license and landing permit, but the team has them in hand. They plan to operate from two locations each having 3 stations. Each operating location will have specialized mode/band capability to enhance the CW or SSB operation. Those specialties will cover RTTY, Satellite, 6 meters and 160 meters. Some of the operators who have expressed a desire to go are: Peter/ON6TT, Charlie/W6KK, Mike/N9NS, Al/K3VN, Vincent/G0LMX, James/ 9V1YC, Jacques/ZL3CW(F2CW), Arie/PA3DUU, Werner/HB9US, Ron/W6OM (N6VO), Ruech/HB9AHL, Stan/FO5IW, Bill/N2WB, Ralph/K0IR, Michael/N6MZ, Bob/K4UEE, Koji/JK7TKE and their host John/N7CQQ. This operation will need financial assistance due to the high costs. If you would like to help offset costs, donations can be sent to: N7CQQ Amateur Radio Club, Inc., P.O. Box 81, Searchlight, Nevada 89046 (ACCOUNT: 4961527327 Bank of America). They will have a CLIPPERTON ISLAND Web Site to provide updated information as the operation progresses. This site is made possible by the endless efforts of Doug, N6RT. The complete press release will be sent to all OPDX InterNet Subscribers as an additional bulletin.

FO0, AUSTRAL ISLANDS. "The 59(9) DXReport" reports that JK1TKE will be active October 14-24th from Tubuai Island. Activity will be on HF and 6 Meters. No callsign was given.

IOTA NEWS.....
NEW IOTA! Look for Dan/VK8AN and Peter/VK8PW (ex-VE8PW) to activate South Goulburn Island located in the Northern Territory, Arafura Sea Coast Central Group, August 27-29th. The Coordinates are: 11' 40'' S and 133' 25'' E. No IOTA reference number has been assigned yet. Dan will use an IC-706 and Peter an IC-735. Antennas will be a Cushcraft R-5 for 10/12/15/17/20 and a dipole for 20m as a back up. They will use their own calls/p, and each has their own QSL arrangements. VK8AN/p is as usual via VK4AAR (direct only) POB 421, Gatton 4343, Australia. VK8PW/p is to his home: Peter Wollenberg, Box 2142, Darwin 0801, Australia (or to VE8RZ via Canadian bureau. DO NOT QSL EITHER STATION

VIA THE VK BUREAU).

EU-133. Serge/UA1ANA/1 and Slawa/RA1ACJ will be active from Moshnyj Island (RR-01-03, new for the RRC Islands program) now until August 28th. They will use two IC-706MKII, R7000, and a 10 element beam on 2 meters.

NA-201. Look for T46AA and T46CW to be on the air August 26-30th, from Key Breton. Six Cuban operators will be active during 58 hours on SSB and CW simultaneously on the 10/15/20/40/80 meters. This DXpedition could be postponed until next month in case of bad climate conditions. QSL via C02FRC.

SA-046. A group of Brazilian hams will operate from the island of Santo Aleixo (DIB PE-03 for the Brazilian Islands Award). The operation will be on all HF bands (CW and SSB) from September 3-12th. The special callsign ZV7G will be used by the following operators: PT7AA (Tino CW op.), PY5APL (Paulo), PY7DDJ (Wallace), PY7HH (Hermes), PY7MEU (Eglaube), PY7RNE (Lineu) and PY7XC (Jim CW op.). QSL via PY7MEU (Eglaube Rocha, P.O. Box 322, 50001-970 RECIFE-PE). Via the Bureau is OK!

KH3, JOHNSTON ISLAND. Bill, NH6D, will be back on Johnston Island August 24-27th. Bill currently does not know what damage hurricane Dora did to the antenna or the ham shack. The shack is very old and has numerous entries for possible water damage. Bill will attempt to operate on all bands, and he is hoping to be able to load up on 12/17/40/80/160 meters this trip. Dick, N6FF, hopes to post the logs daily if there is reliable Internet access from KH3.

LX, LUXEMBOURG. Look for a group of DL operators and Luxemburg operators who will sign LX0RL from the LX IARU Society in Eisenborn between August 28th-September 3rd. QSL via DL4FCH (only for this operation). All QSOs will be answered automatically via bureau, but if you want to send direct, QSLs to: Peter Niksch, Saalburgstr. 4, D-60385 Frankfurt, Germany.

OX, GREENLAND. Joergen, OZ8AE, will sign OX/OZ8AE and be active from Groennedal near Ivigtut in the southern part of Greenland (NA-018) from September 4th - October 5th. Activity will be on all bands CW. He will take part in the SAC Contest (CW) on September 18th 1200z-September 19th 1200z (Please note NEW operating hours this year. For details, check the Web site http://www.sk3bg.se/contest/). Joergen might also be active on the SSB section of the SAC Contest on September 25th 1200-September 26th 1200z. QSL to OZ8AE direct or via the bureau.

PZ, SURINAME. Bob, K3BYV, now signing as PZ5DX until (at least) January, 2000, was very active this past week. His activity was mainly on 15 and 10 meters SSB 1430 and 1800z. Check 28420 (and up) and 21355 kHz. He has also been heard on 20 and 12 meters after 2100z. QSL via K3BYV.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
QSL J41LH via SV3AGQ. This station was on during last weekend's Lighthouse/Lightship activity. This Lighthouse is situated at Cape Melagavi (38 01'49'' N 22 51'00'' E, KM18KA).

Mario, DJ2MX, is now QSL manager for following stations: T94DX, T94MZ, T94DO, T92T, T95LYS and VK4SK. QSLs are OK via DL bureau or direct to: Mario Lovric, Am Oelberg 11, Bad Nauhein 61231 - Germany. QSLs can be requested online at: http://www.qsl.net/dj2mx

Doug, N6RT, reports that the following new logs are now online at: http://dx.qsl.net/logs
JW/DF6VI (August 1999) TM0AIN (thru June 1999)
KH3/NH6D (thru August 13, 1999) KH2/N2NL (thru July 27, 1999)
9K2HN (thru August 11, 1999) G5M and GB0SM (IOTA EU-011, July 1999)
JW/DL4OCM (August 1999)

QSL SV2AEL/8 (Op Savas) for the July/August DXpedition to Ithaki Island (IOTA EU-052) to SV2AEL home callsign.

Nello, IK2DUW, reports that he is now the new QSL Manager of the following stations: 3W6LI (Hau), 3W6KA (Hoang), EK6LV (Sem), BA4RE (Yee), RU0LL and RU0LL/p (Alex's IOTA AS-066 DXpedition July 30th-August 1st 1999).

RARE/NEW IOTAS TO BE ACTIVATED (Update, Please Refer to OPDX.421). Stuie, VK8NSB, Team Leader, reports at the present no callsigns are confirmed, but they hope to have VK8MI for Melville Island and VK8CI for Croker Island. A QSL Manager is not set at the moment.

SV, GREECE. Stathis, SV1DKL, reports that he will be in the 1999 CQWW SSB Contest in October from a super DX/Contest site located about 1975 meters high on top of a mountain. He plans on running Single Op/All Bands/Low Power, using solar cells. He has already made accomodations for his antenna setups which include the following: 2 X FD-4 Windoms, Full Diploe for 160m, a 100m long wire and hundreds of 10-50 meters radials. He wants to be in or ranked in the first 10 of Europe's SOAB Low Power Category.

T2, TUVALU (Also 3D2/FiJi). Just a quick reminder! (Please, refer to OPDX.411) Look for Roberto, EA4DX, to be active from Funafuti (OC-015), Tuvalu, beginning August 26th through September 12th. His callsign will be received upon his arrival. Later, he will operate as 3D2DX from Viti Levu (Fiji, IOTA OC-016) from September 13-16th. Activity on both islands should be 80-10 meters SSB. Suggested frequencies: 3795-3799, 7042-7045, 14195, 18135, 21295, 24945 and 28395 kHz. QSL via EA4CP. A log search will be available after his return at the URL: http://www.qsl.net/ea4dx/

T31 & ZK3, CENTRAL KIRIBATI AND TOKELAU (More info!). Lech, LA7MFA, informs OPDX that he is pleased to announce the official Home Page of the 1999 "Double Trouble" Pacific DXpedition to Kanton and Tokelau Islands. The address of their Web page is: http://www.qsl.net/t31t
Lech has been appointed the Web page administrator, and he states that the page is still in its early stagies, but they are working on it. He also mentions that you can also contact them by sending an E-mail to: t31t@qsl.net

VP2M, MONTSERRAT. A group of members from the Bavarian Contest Club (BCC) will activate VP2M (NA-108) from October 25th through November 9th. Activity will be on all bands from 160-6 meters on SSB. Upon request, operators Chris/DL5NAM (Team Leader), Uwe/DL9NDS and KLaus DL7NFK will do CW or RTTY/Pactor. QSL direct via CBA of DL5NAM.

VU7, LAKSHADWEEP ISLAND. Bad News. The planned operation from the Lakshadweep Islands (formerly known as the Laccadive Islands) which was to be active in the fall of this year, has now been postponed until March 2000. The reason for the postponement of the DXpedition is due to some of the final approvals and personal schedules.

ZD8, ASCENSION ISLAND. Paul, ZD8V (KF4OOX), was active this past week on 14247 kHz between 0100 and 0300z. Paul informed OPDX that he will be leaving the island and going on vacation September 8-13th. He should be back on Ascension September 14th. Paul mentions he will be attending the Melbourne (FL) Hamfest on September 11-12th while stateside.

Lloyd why do you post the content of someone else's web page here? Isn't just giving the URL enough for you? FCC ENFOREMENT looks like a Reality to me, READ ON!

FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log

HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee VICTOR A. MISEK, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written MISEK to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that MISEK'S STATION and MEMBERS OF THE GROUP for which he was acting as net control "BEGAN TRANSMITTING ON TOP OF EXISTING AMATEUR COMMUNICATIONS THAT WERE ALREADY IN PROGRESS." In his response, supplied upon request to the FCC, Misek told the FCC that other stations had yielded the frequency to the net on May 1 and that he's been "diligent in avoiding starting the net 'on top' of ongoing communications" and often moves the net to another frequency where "the jammers stalk us." Misek also has requested a copy of a tape recording supplied to the FCC that Hollingsworth used in deciding to rescind a license modification that would have kept David Castle, WA9KJI, off the HF bands for two years (see "FCC Withdraws License Modification" elsewhere on the AWE news page). Hollingsworth also had ASKED MISEK TO JUSIFY THE NET'S USE OF AMATEUR RADIO FREQUENCIES and said the FCC "cannot tolerate deliberate jamming among licensees, including retaliatory jamming." MISEK DECLINED TO JUSTIFY THE NET'S EXISTENCE, citing no legal requirement in Part 97 to do so. Misek said the net was a forum "to discuss current events and other subjects," and he asked the FCC to "review perceived problems of which I am not aware, so that the net can be brought into compliance should there be a problem.

Hello. I'm in the market for a new HF amp and am wondering what advice any of you might have for one. I would prefer a tube amp in the range of $400-$700 that will do 1000w-1500w on SSB/CW and 500w-800w on AM/RTTY. I have considered the Dentron MLA-2500, the ClippertonL, and a Drake R-7 or R-4 but I'm wondering what you guys think. I also need the amp to work from 160m-10m with the WARC if possible. Thanks a lot for reading and let me know if you have any suggestions.

Hello. I�m considering buying a Kenwood TS-940SAT for HF contesting and have a few questions about it. I need the radio to be compatible with a computer for logging purposes etc. I�m wondering, how easy is it to connect one of these radios to a computer? Is it simply "plug and play" like the FT-1000MP or do I have to add components to the inside of the radio? And also, does the radio have a built in voice keyer and/or a built in CW Memory keyer? Or will I have to get external ones? Any help would be appreciated. Thanks again, and let me know if you can be any help.

Congratulations Doug!! I have just appointed you the new President/CEO and Chief Muckety-Muck of the American Rotten Radio League. Your first job is to reformulate amateur radio into someting that even vaguely resembles conventional society for the latter half of the 20th Century.
I know, were almost to 2000, but this is NOT going to be easy. Your are also herby Knighted as President of the Dayton Hamvention. Your job is to find an alternate site with ample parking walking-distance from the hamfest site, and to require that ALL indoor vendors have ad-least one 19-22 yr old bikini and high heels wearin babe in each and every commercial sales booth. (..no fatties please) Finally, a no smoking policy will be strictly enforced at the indoor exhibits. Congratulations.

Ah, CW is a language. How many people speak CWish? CW is susceptible to jamming however, so other agencies outside amateur radio are inventing new modes and tweaking older ones to thwart jammers.

Seems that having N1RL make a personal call to Riley about purported "interference" from one of the few semi-interesting (and breathing) groups on 75 wasn't enough for the vengeful forces of the YCCC.

Under the guise of a W3 multi-op, the well known, sissy-sounding, lisp-laden voice of K2KQ was heard calling CQ CONTEST in the middle of a QSO, therby interfering with N2NGY and friends.

Guess he'll tell soon to be transferred Hollingsworthless it was an accident, and considering Hollingsworthless goes after conversationalists and not contesters, that'll do just fine.

Just remember YCCCers, 2.4 KHz separation is he "good amateur practice Riley likes to see <!>

You started it by nuzzling up to 3832 with your net on 3830.

Why not go prove your sexual inadequacies by getting a Corvette or something somewhat NORMAL ?

5185. ULS a backlogged mess; server bombs

Several calls to the FCC have revealed the ULS to be a backlogged mess, as expected.

Why, that's just the couple of thousand who have signed on so far.

The group wonders what will happen to those who don't.

What a crafty way to terminate LOTS of dormant licenses of people who may be otherwise disposed in 1999.

Some on here feel the group opposed giving FCC the SSN; that is incorrect.

We oppose their forced theoretical availability over a server, a situation heretofore unheard of in U.S. government.

A server that already went bust for an hour for unknown reasons.

Ask Kevin Mitnick; he's a ham.

Not that 98 percent of you even know who he is, since you're bass ackwards, and think 128-bit encryption is "robust", since the feds tell you it is.

Lloyd - number one, no one in here believes you, or that you know the truth when you hear or see it. You've proven that already.
Number two - Your doing the SPAMMING that you were bitching at others about HYPOCRITE.
Number three - the truth is on

Vic is only telling half truthes on his web and you either KNOW IT or are to dumb to know it.
It's obvious when vic puts his "comments" about Rileys letter to him on the propaganda page but not his actual "response" to Riley's letters. Maybe I can get it and put it on the opinion page. LOL

Vic's FCC Enforcement page is IMHO supposition, inuendo and half truthes .
Riley Hollingsworth is doing a fine job. The liberty net continues to create propaganda designed to mislead hams into thinking Riley isn't doing his job. That's pure BS. The liberty net wants Riley to do their bidding and have done many things to try and effect that. To no avail thankfully. Riley knows and realizes what this net is all about. What their use of amateur radio is all about. All of this, and they expect Riley, after all the defaming they've done, to run interference for them on 3950 so they can have a clear broadcast channel. WHY is this net listed as a HATE GROUP I wonder? There are many other groups that talk politics, so that isn't it. Why are most of this net's members also associated with groups like the KKK, the National Alliance, the Western imperative Network and others? Now that seems to me to be more than a coincidence.
After all of the stuff that's been posted here, and having checked out most all of it, there is something to be said about the use of amateur radio. This net did not just pick up it's detractors over night or for no reason and certainly not for any political views or discussions. That, in and of itself, is bizarre. It's obvious that political views and discussions are not the topic of the posts about them here in this NG, and hence not the issue. What is the issue then I ask? Could it be their racists views?
(What else would get you listed as a hate group?)
Probably. How about their use of the frequency to Transmit such views? Probably.
Now you ask, but what about the First Amendment? All I can do is to respond with another question. I'm not saying that this is the case but, suppose a group of, well let's say communists, or kkk, all having ham tickets want to discuss their views on this country, the government, and their racist philosophy on amateur radio, should this be allowed? Probably, to the point where it becomes an illegal use of ham radio. Then it should cease. But even then one has to remember that amateur radio was not designed nor intended to enhance the First Amendment. The Amateur Radio Service was set up for the furtherance of technical expertise and emergency communications. So, the use of ham radio, in that instance, being a privilege and not a right, would not necessarily fall under any First Amendment protection I would assume. The groups' being able to speak freely is not predicated on the use of ham radio in other words.
Boiled down - do I, you or anyone have the right to say whatever one likes(First Amendement) on ham radio? We certainly do not in a crowded theater, WHY? Because of the reaction that follows when someone yells fire. Could it be a similar reaction to something that is taking place on 3950 that is bringing about the current issue here in this NG ? I think so. But that's just MHO.

And how many people read those magazines? Many millions read the German magazines, but I would be surprised if any single Esperanto magazine had more then a few thousand readers.

English has become the unofficial second language around the world.
That is why it is taught to elementary school students in Germany, Japan, and many other countries. The number of people who speak Esperanto is tiny when compared to the numbers who speak English.

Lets face it, there is no incentive to learning Esperanto. Without an incentive to learn it, Esperanto will remain nothing more than a bit player in the world.

English, on the other hand, is almost required if you want to do an international business. And money is a major incentive to learning a language.

As an English speaking person, if I were to learn another language, I would choose German (the language of the counry with the second largest industrial base in the world). Japanese would be my next choice.

Well i just got back from the Salina hamfest. I spotted 47 geeks, 14 nerds, 11 pocket protectors, and 89 fat balding cigar smoking old men . I was the only redneck there. The parking lot was filled with beat up old cars , but at least they had $700 worth of antennas on them. I overheard a conversation between two hams " Should I use the repeater to talk to so and so across the building?" . Hell they could see the guy they wanted to talk to. Anyway this is just an observation of a small town hamfest.

Well, it depends on your buget for purchase. Yaesu has some good rigs, and the Radio Shack HTX-242 is a good mobile rig.

Yes. To both questions.

I disagree. Sure, some people could just memorize the questions and answers, and those wouldn't learn anything. People like me, however, took the time to learn the theory behind the answers, figured out how they got that answer, and felt ready for any question that may appear

LOL, but even funnier is the typical Stumpjumper mobile, loaded with $1,800 worth of ham gear.
Then you look and see the passenger window smashed out, covered with taped on plastic. Air conditioning that doesn't work, defective tires, and a front end that shakes and shimmies all the way down the interstate! Then the motor starts and out comes a black smoke screen amid loud backfiring explosions!

I am clearing out the ham shack of all my QST magazines once again. If anyone is interested, I am selling 1992-1998 at $1.00 ea. (you pay shipping costs however you want them shipped) for 1 to 10 issues. If you are interested in over 10 issues or the entire collection, make me an offer. I am willing to ship anywhere on this planet so long as you are willing to pay the actual shipping costs.

Here are the issues that I have:

QST

1992 Jan - April $1.00 ea.
1993 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1994 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1995 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1996 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1997 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1998 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1999 Jan - Current $2.50 ea.

All the issues are in perfect condition with no ripped pages or covers. Sorry I don't have anymore, but the last time I did this in 1993, I sold all my 1989 through my 1992 issues less a few months still available.

Over the weekend, I finished reading a book on the Battle of Midway, written by two former Japanese naval officers. Very interesting.

At the end of the book, they were analyzing the battle. The Japanese lagged pitifully behind the Americans in developing radar, in part because they lacked a directional antenna. The United States had such an antenna, one invented by a Japanese college professor, Dr. Hidersuge Yagi, in 1932. The Yagi antenna was central to the radar installations of both England and the United States.

FCC enforcement in Amateur Radio is at best SELECTIVE.

Last night's Liberty Net was jammed, as usual, by the White Noise Jammer, and a few other scumbags, including KK7HO's buddy K5BLB. This type of jamming against the Liberty Net has been going on for years and years and years and years, yet the FCC does NOTHING, probably because the Clinton Administration wants the Liberty Net to be jammed.

Either Hollingsworth is incompetent, or he is a LIAR.

And so there was no reply from the FCC----there was no action-----so what is the problem here? Nothing was done and yet you report that something is being done------I don't understand how anyone can quote a letter from the FCC that pretty much says nothing and then try to make it out that there was some action against W1WCR.
If W1WCR ever jammed, I would be the first to chastise him and anyone else for that matter.I have yet to hear W1WCR jam-----you have mistated the problem on 3950 to suit your own agenda. If anyone from the east coast jams---I let them know under no circumstances that I want anything to do with them. That is why I've attacked W2YEE for his jamming. I stood alone in avoiding that drunken jammer. Maybe Timothy, you should stand up against Sid Mayhan, K5BLB for his illegal and disgusting activites on 3950. That is why I've been saying on 3950 that K5BLB must be removed from amature radio for his jamming---playing of anchors away for hours and hours....his perverse statements about people being homosexuals when he does not even know them---the use of fowl language----and his acerbic attitude towards other hams.

I wish this problem between east & west would just go away.....but it looks as if there are individuals who want it to continue.....and K5BLB and unfortunatley you seem to like the unfreindly banter.

Hey, you two ninnies! It's because CW operators share the language of CW and that CW gets through when all the other common modes cannot.

This almost certainly could be made to work. However, doesn't a Basic Stamp cost many times as much as the GPS receiver in question? That makes the whole project somewhat less interesting.

If you're willing to program in assembler, you should be able to do the job with a PIC or similar microcontroller much more cheaply.

Oh but BigOHam one...no mode is immune from jamming. But the
"there-not-there" characteristics of a cw signal makes it easier to copy it through jamming than near any other mode.

I don't think "Rocket" Dan is doing a good job on keeping the Stumpjumper records. He is drinking, fighting with Pauline, slapping her, the kids and the dogs, farting in the kitchen, urinating out the trailer door, Making those dirty phone calls again. Will not take showers or shave that beard. He stinks to high heaven. drawing kinves on her and the kids, running them around the house one way then the other shouting "don run. I can get you with this gun, I am telling the truth and you cain't stand it". He is scaring the neighbors in the trailer park to death. The ones who are sober and not zonked out on wine or drugs. I think we ought to fire him for being lazy and argumentative with his fellow Stumpjumpers and keeping faulty records.
What do you think?

Dick, I challenged you to post the unique CW alphabet to prove it is a language. So far, you have refused to do so.
Morse code is simply a coding scheme like ASCII is. For us, it normally encodes/decodes English. Having a chart of codes does not magically turn Morse code into a language.

My encyclopedia lists the known languages - Morse code is NOT one of them.

> and that CW gets through when all the other

Dick, if that was true, I would be able to hear CW signals on 10m even when the band is dead. Of course, you are being ridiculous. The most common condition is nothing, including CW, gets through when a band is dead. When a band is open, all modes get through to a certain extent.
Out of the 150 dB variation in atmospheric conditions, it is a very rare occurrence when CW gets through when all the other common modes cannot. How often have you heard wall to wall CW signals on a band and no signals from any other mode? Your ridiculous Big Lie about CW continues not to work.

Your a class act Dick. Not sure which -end- fo the class, but......

; It's because CW operators share the language of CW....

It's really to bad that one can't TYPE those CW "language" words on a keyboard and have ANY of the digital modes do the human modem work.

But tell me, what happens when you really want to say something to a ham in Tibet that doesn't know any English other than "Q" signals?

; and that CW gets through when all the other common modes cannot.

Yaaaawwwnnnn. I know for a fact that RTTY can be copied below the audio noise level since the early 1950s (That's when I did it.). I would assume that it's -still- possible to do it. And yes, RTTY IS a "common mode". And it's still used by other services. (Although "common mode"(s) are usually nulled out in a properly designed circuit.)

: Where you two been? Certainly not ACTIVE longterm hams.

Why? You mean the longer your a ham, the more Tibeten you "know"? Oh I'm sorry, I forgot that -ONLY- hams can find out which modes "always get through".

I've restored my AR1000 keypad by using a rubber pencil eraser and VERY lightly scrubbing down both the keypad and the keypad board contacts to break down any glaze. Then, using lock graphite, rubbing graphite into both the pad contacts and the board contacts. This isn't perfect, but it will restore functionality for a while. I'm wondering if there is a conductive silicone grease that might be better than the graphite.

All methods that do not replace the worn conductive elastomer layer on the buttons will provide only temporary results, in any. Rubbing alcohol on the worn rubber contacts themselves is probably the WORST thing you can do, because it simply removes what little conductive material still remains.

You must buy a repair kit (usually containing compound and an activator) which you mix together and apply to the worn rubber contacts. Repair houses like http://www.mcmelectronics.com or http://www.sandman.com usually carry these - they are not cheap.

Yes, one could buy the thing, discard the GPS receiver, keep the antenna, and it would be a good deal - for someone who needs an antenna. No argument.

But I thought we were talking about whether this would make a good GPS receiver, not just an antenna! So: if you write your own software and can interpret the data coming from the GPS directly, $20 for a receiver and antenna is an extremely good value. If you can program a PIC to translate the data into NMEA, that adds maybe another $5 or $10 to the total cost - still a good value.

However, a Basic Stamp is quite an expensive little beast, and makes the whole project several times as expensive if you use one. That may no longer be a good value, compared to brand-new GPS receiver boards that output NMEA directly. That's all I was trying to point out.

I have an HF-225/EUROPA which failed due to a near lightning strike.
The symptom was no receive on frequencies under approximately 16 mhz.

A quick call to the "Lowe Workshop," a description of the problem and they knew exactly what the failure was. The switching diodes in the front end bandpass filters also steer the VCO tuning voltages. The lightning stroke had caused the switching diodes D1 and D2 to short.

To replace the defective diodes, remove the top and bottom of the receiver case being sure to unplug the speaker from the main chassis.
Next, remove the 1-1/2" X 2-1/2" steel shield located on top the board, near the edge by unsoldering the 4 points. The diodes, their coils and capacitors are all located in plain sight, under this shield on the main board.

With a DVM set to diode function, test all the diodes under the shield front to back. The proper cathode to anode voltage drop should be about 0.730V. Note all of those which deviate grossly from this specification for replacement.

Unsolder the defective diodes from the bottom and as the board is a double side design with pate-throughs, make sure the solder has also been removed from the top side of the board.

Replace the defective diodes with BA244, 1SS135 or like-spec, RF high speed switching diodes. I chose the 1SS135 diodes which are available from Kenwood Parts @ $1.95 ea, (800) 421-5080. Thanks to Universal Shortwave (800) 431-3939 and Lowe Electronics, LTD (UK) 011 441 629 580-800 for their help and saving me time and an expensive trip to Derbyshire for repair of my HF-225/EUROPA which has been in daily use

The Drake R7 I don't know, and the Drake R4 is an olden days receiver, Speaking of Hamfests.....I'm sure that you've experienced the unpleasant occurrence of walking in the wake of a odorous ham. Has anyone ever thought of setting up a free sample deodorant table? Would this hint be noticed? Would it make any difference, seeing how it's free? Or would it just be a waste of time?

What is the solution? It seems to be prevalent at all swaps.

5290. KK7HO FAQ - Part I

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 1999-08-23 00:00:00 UTC
From: "A. Topete" <atopete@vegas.com> Message-ID: <37C1DBEA.E91900BA@vegas.com>
Source record: 132963

The truth about KK7HO.
---
(1) Who/what is KK7HO?

KK7HO is the amateur radio call given to Tim Volz, of Las Vegas NV. In amateur radio, its common practice to use this FCC issued call sign as your name, since it is unique. This and other calls and personal information is available on: www.qrz.com.

(2) Why does KK7HO post so many messages?

KK7HO is a frequent poster here on this newsgroup. His posts are, for the most part his opinion and attempt to color issues and events to his own 'world view'. Its not uncommon for KK7HO to post 10-15 messages per day, all with similar content.

(3) Why is KK7HO so angry and full of hatred?

The basis for Volz's complaints is his apparent disagreement with the views expressed on the weekly shortwave amateur radio net, called the Liberty Net. He has made much refernce to the "tearing down of our government"

But it get's confusing here since he claims to agree with much of what is said on the Liberty Net.

This group has meet there for well over a decade, and frequently discusses current events with a conservative view, unlike the major media, and other 'typical' news outlets.

Sometimes these views have been termed as "politically incorrect". Liberals and Volz in particular find this political speech an affront to his 'world view'. Because of this he feels justified in disruppting any political speech that he disagrees with, by any means available to him.

(4) Why does Volz violate the amateur radio laws?

In the past (for over a year) Volz has claimed that he was QRMed (jammed) as he was attempting to use 3.950, by the Liberty Net members.

Volz and his fellow jammers will meet on the frequency 3.950 mHz, before the net each Saturday night for the express purpose of heckling and tormenting the other amateur radio operators,

Then, when the net participants resist their jamming, Volz and his assistants will claim that they are the the victims, and loudly complain to Riley Hollingsworth, and anyone else they can convince of their lies.

End Part One.

I have a ICOM 740 mobile that I would like to trade for a all mode 2 meter base.
The rig is a 7 on a scale of 1 to 10. The rig is a side band rig. It has all the WARC bands but isn't continuos coverage. It is a great mobile rig comes with manual mike and DC power cord. I will also take $450 for the rig plus shipping.

Probably what I have heard several do on the bands in all the modes, complain about how all those foreigners should learn ot speak English or stop using the frequency.

I agree, rather than defend this country AND what it stands for, they band together to find a common scapegoat upon which they can blame all of societies ills. FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log

HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee Victor A. Misek, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written Misek to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that Misek's station and members of the group for which he was acting as net control "began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress." In his response, supplied upon request to the FCC, Misek told the FCC that other stations had yielded the frequency to the net on May 1 and that he's been "diligent in avoiding starting the net 'on top' of ongoing communications" and often moves the net to another frequency where "the jammers stalk us." Misek also has requested a copy of a tape recording supplied to the FCC that Hollingsworth used in deciding to rescind a license modification that would have kept David Castle, WA9KJI, off the HF bands for two years (see "FCC Withdraws License Modification" elsewhere on the AWE news page). Hollingsworth also had asked Misek to justify the Liberty Net's use of Amateur Radio frequencies and said the FCC "cannot tolerate deliberate jamming among licensees, including retaliatory jamming." Misek declined to justify the net's existence, citing no legal requirement in Part 97 to do so. Misek said the net was a forum "to discuss current events and other subjects," and he asked the FCC to "review perceived problems of which I am not aware, so that the net can be brought into compliance should there be a problem."

Let me tell you how I feel about it....

It's a net with open forums for those able to carry on a intelligent conversation. It's for current events and Ham Radio happenings. Most of the Liberty Net members have views which are very opposite to that of the "establishment" That why it is jammed so heavily. There are those call Liberty People "Nazis" What does supposed to mean? I thought a Nazi was a communist. In no way are the Liberty Net members communists! And this rubbish about KK7HO proparting the Great Liberty Net as a "hate group" I wish Tim would think about it, The Boy Scouts are listed as a hate group, for not giving in to sodomites. Even Fundamental Churches are listed as "Hate Groups"

But then it gets interesting, Now Mr. Hollingsworth calls for the "justifcation" of the Liberty Net! Oh my, what a day in America! Is Ham Radio supposed to consist of "My 10-10 number is ___" and "my ailment is _______" or "Name is ____, my QTH is _________" That's terrible! We need to get this mentioned to David J. Smith of Newswatch Magazine, he would enjoy doing a segment on the Liberty Net and tell us how our rights are being withered away. Sure there are rules, but when there are even bigger ones being broken every day, who gives a shit?

" We (the government) don't like what's being said on the Liberty Net, so we will ok for it to be jammed" That is worse that what happened at Waco!

More of my opinions in another post!

<<Hello Roger.Haven't been able to get on before now on 8/23/ due to a heavy work load. I use the computer to dispatch diagnostics and approve treatment plans from dentists who work through insurance companies. I would go into detail here and I'm sure you'd understand but didn't want to befuddle these mental midgets any more than they're already screwed up. I notice some real hate stuff thrown my way due to my support of Dan, W4NTI. That's tough noogies for the BARF reprobates-low class scum, the dirty, ignorant slobs who dropped out of school after the 8th grade for having passed just lunch. You know, garbage like Polly and Billy Jerk Moore and Lloyd Montnervous the monkey trainer and Schoenbohm the two bit thief and assorted fungi. My feeling is that everyone of us owe Dan a debt of gratitude especially because of his Viet Nam tour of duty. Let's face it, Robert McNamara said getting into it was a mistake and that Lyndon Johnson, may he burn in hell, faked the Gulf of Tonkin incident. We lost over 50,000 in that grimy steamy crappy jungle and God knows how many were wounded. But Dan stuck it out even though he knew it was a dirty war incapable of being won thanks to the stinking bureaucrats in D.C. That's why I voted for Barry in '64 because he would have nuked the North Vietnamese Cong and standing army along with their Chinese volunteers. At any rate, it didn't happen and I personally saw in my office the mentally tattered remains of some of those guys who had partaken of the adventure over there and I always wondered if I could have stuck it out? And the answer is no. But W4NTI did and I'm proud of the guy. And to boot, he reupped in the Army and was stationed in Germany. Our freedoms are protected by Dans and not by the garbage who run him down. To me they are rotten lousy subversives who deserve to be booted out of this country. God bless Dan Jeswald and guys like him who served, were wounded and are still with us despite the agony. W4NTI has guts and I look up to the man. It matters not to me what he has or doesn't have materially. His courage is his greatest possession. The man's constantly in pain at which the BARF laugh. He has had financial problems which the BARF mock because a few rats thought they could buy the guy's soul with a few bucks. Everything said about his taking favors and becoming an ingrate has been taken out of context to cast a pall over his character. Only a dope would buy the BARF rendition. They can go straight to hell. As I said; I STAND BY DAN and it drives 'em nuts!

Anyone know what the legalities are for someone purchasing an older (20years of age) piece of ham gear and taking it out of the country? Hears the scenario, I want to sell a piece of gear to someone who is outside the US. I will be shipping it to a relative in the US and that person in the US will be sending it or possibly carrying it out of the country. Are there special forms that need to be filed etc.

I've had a couple of repair experiences with Peet Bros over the last couple of years and all have been good. A humidity sensor died and I got a replacement IC within 2 days free of charge. A nearby lightning strike fried my Ultimeter 2000 and they repaired it for a nominal charge (and no it was not properly grounded). They have always been accommodating.

I had a funny thing happen the other night. I was practicing CW by copying a QSO on 15m and couldn't make heads or tails out of it. It took me about three lines of written copy to realize it was probably Italian. So much for Morse code bridging the language barrier.

I posted my experiences doing a very similar repair to my SW8 here about 6 months ago. In fact, I used the same diodes that you used. I found them a Tech America and they got them to me the next day! All went well during "surgery" and the "patient" now exhibits far improved performance on the bands above 8 Mhz. I figure I saved quite a few $$ not having to send the receiver to Drake.

Good luck with your HF-225/E and may it have many more lives.

Standing with Dan would certainly be a position that "Charlie Hate" would be comfortable with. Yes, ole Dan the "Head Case", who would always come on the air and make those threats of bodily harm and use language that is completely unacceptable. Why would Dan now condemn those who came to his rescue and provided financial assistance so Dan could go see his ailing mother. The same group of people also made provisions for Dan to get back on the air after his radio broke and needed repair. Yes, this is the same Dan that accepted the BARF and Stumpjumper assistance and then went straight to the liquor store for another gallon of whiskey. Alcohol has and will continue to play a big role in the life of W4NTI. I remember Dan coming on 3901 and his favorite words were "That's right Rich", refering to his partner in crime WB2OTK whom was removed from the FCC database for his racial slurs and activity on the ham bands. Recently the FCC requested a copy of the famous "I WANT TO KILL" tapes of W4NTI. Could it be that NTI is following in OTK's footsteps?????
Stay tuned.

Dear Sirs,

I am tampering with a Concerton Stern&Stern and a Marconi No 282 radio recievers at the moment, both battery powered. I aim to get them in running condition. They make use of old aubergine-shaped tubes. In the Concerton there is a Valvo A206 and in the Marconi there are three Marconi tubes: PT2, S23 and HL2. In the Marconi, there is also a capacitor can visible, marked 518, that may cause trouble. I haven't disassembled the Marconi chassie yet.

Does anyone here have experience with such equipment? Also, is there any mistakes that one easily can do when restoring these recievers? I don't want to destroy them or lessen the value, if there is any.

Sincerely,
Charles Reciever

5324. Kenwood Nut Tools Almost Gone

Hi all;

The next (and last) batch of Kenwood "Nut Tools" has finally arrived. To those who've waited for me to ship yours, they are all going out TODAY, 8/24. Thank you for your patience!

I now have 3 final tools available for sale, and once they're gone, that's it, I'm going to call it quits.

So, for those of you who have a Kenwood or other rig that you've been trying to remove the silly round nut from the microphone jack, and want a better way than paying a Kenwood repair facility to do it for you, here's your last chance to get the right tool (from me, anyway).

Even if you DON'T need to remove it today, if your rig has a lithium battery inside the front panel, take my word for it, you WILL need to remove this nut eventually. If you're lucky, it won't be jack-hammer tight, and you can turn it (carefully!) with the tips of a needle-nose plier. Otherwise, you'll need this tool.

The deal: For $34 (money order or cashier's check, no cash please) I'll ship you your very own nut tool, to keep, to cherish, TO SHARE!!! If you don't like it, return it unharmed and I'll refund your money, less freight.

That's the best deal I got, and I ain't gonna get rich on this one, I do it simply to stick-it to the "establishment" that wants to charge upwards of $90 to loosen a nut. It's my hope that you will SHARE the tool with your fellow hams. To someone who finds themself (as I did) with a rig that has "lost its memory" and has a nut that's been tightened by a gorilla, you'll be an absolute HERO!

The supply is VERY limited, and there are no more after this batch is gone, so act soon. Be sure to check with me before sending any money, to make sure I haven't run out!
The fine print:

I have in my posession a tool that is positively brilliant at loosening/removing/tightening those annoying circular "nuts" that you'll find on various Kenwood rigs. Yes, you know the ones I mean, the ones that no amount of coaxing with the tip of a screwdriver will budge. I've been told (but haven't confirmed) that the same nuts are found on many Icom, Yaesu and other rigs.

Why on earth would you want to remove this nut, you ask? Well for most of the affected Kenwood rigs, it's the ONLY way to get to things like digital front panels, lithium batteries, and so on.

You can see a photo of the tool at:

http://www.mv.com/ipusers/innermedia/kenwood/spanner.jpg

Disclaimer:

I make absolutely NO warranty as to the applicability, performance, or safety involved in using the tool I send to you. If you damage your rig, or yourself, that is totally your responsibility. If you void your warranty, that's also your problem. THINK BEFORE YOU ACT!

If the tool is not as I described it, if you chicken out, or if it doesn't fit your rig, contact me, and I'll refund your entire price (less my UPS cost) as soon as the tool is returned to me undamaged. In other words, treat me fairly, and I'll return the same.

And in what unique CW language is the answer

To those who've not visited my Kenwood Pix site, here's the scoop:

(Ages ago) I was shopping for a used Kenwood rig, and didn't have a clue what an 850 versus a 440 versus etc. looked like, and Kenwood "ain't tellin". They only list information on their newest rigs.

So, I started a collection of pictures of many of their "classic" rigs, and put it up on a web site for all to use. It's still there, and you are all welcomed to visit. It's strictly not-for-profit.

The site address is:

http://www.firstname.com/kenwood

And, if you've got a better picture than one I've put up, or a picture of a rig that I don't have, please email it to me and I'll place it on the site.

I am looking for a schmatic for a RX Noise bridge. I perfer with R and C/L, similar to the Palomer(?). Can be solid state or tube. I will pay for shipping and copying. Please include a parts list, if necessary. Since some may do this for free, please contact me first before doing anything. Many thanks.

So now Cecil, you must learn Italian. <grin> I've had CW QSOs in Spanish. I'm not fluent in Esponyol but it was fun and probably easier understood by the other ham than if I had spoken it verbally. I don't think my verb conjugations were quite that accurate either. I am sure you have had QSOs with hams from non-English speaking countries and it was easier for them to speak to you using English via CW than it would have been for them to do so verbally. Yes?

You think one example blows the language barrier bridge theory out of the water? Hmmmmm?

But, I guess, in theory, the language barrier bridge theory only applies if both sides are using a common language. <grin> There is a way to have a complete QSO using only "Q" signals....and it doesn't matter what language you speak. I believe that kind of QSO would be more robotic than anything else though but it can and has been done...not really useful in the amateur radio arena...or anywhere else for that matter nowadays. Oh well.....so much for Morse code bridging the language barrier.

Bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahaha! Imbecile Lloyd shows his lack of understanding of history. I'll summarize here:

National Socialism (Nazism) was a theory of a totalitarian social system led by a dictator and emphasizing an agressive nationalism and often racism. Private property was not abolished, but the nation's needs came first.

Communism is a theory of a social system in which everything is held in common, private property being abolished.

Both quite different, but similar in ending up in the dustbin of history.
BTW, thanks for the .sig material. It's also comforting to know that in the unlikely event you would live under either systems, you wouldn't know the difference.

5341. ARRL escape artist dies

ARRL escape artist dies

WASHINGTON - M.F. Luder, who faced death many times as a coded amateur, including twice before ARRL Gestapo firing squads, has died. He was 37.

Luder died August 22 in a London hospital, according to The Daily Telegraph. A few months before his death, he had landed his 1,001st parachute jump.

Born Oct. 8, 1962, Luder was captured during the invasion of Grenada in a raid on Tobruk, Libya, and made his escape in a stolen Gremlin. In Crete, he again was taken prisoner and put under the personal supervision of Mike Tyson, the 1980s world heavyweight boxing champion, who was serving in prison.

Luder and another agent slipped away after Tyson staged an assault on a former Miss America. Their boat ran out of fuel and drifted for nine days before reaching the North African coast.

Luder spent three months recovering in a British hospital and, while there, someone noticed he bore a striking resemblance to Fox Mulder, who led the FOX network to victory in North Amerika during the ratings war.

Luder was sent to Washington to confuse the government into thinking that Chris Carter was on to their hidden agenda. Because he was taller than Mulder, however, he was ordered never to leave the J. Edgar "the transvestite" Hoover FBI Building.

Although the job included traveling around the East, it bored him, so Luder requested a return to the ARRL, where he took up parachuting.

In September 1994, Banwell and 15 other paratroopers were dropped near Gettysburg in the Penn woodlands, but the group was wounded and taken prisoner after coded forces failed to come to their aid as planned. Six of the paratroopers died.

Once again, Luder, the consummate escape artist, defied his captors by jumping from a moving train as it entered New Jersey. He joined the ARRL Resistance shortly afterwards, becoming an instructor in code and theory.

Once, while escorting a party of hams escaping the doomed hobby, Luder was captured by the ARRL SS contesters and, after a long, boring, agonizing court martial (like all ham "official" activities), sentenced to death. Twice, he was hauled in front of a Gestapo firing squad and told he would be shot unless he provided the names of ARRL Resistance members.

Luder refused and was taken to Newington and confined to a tiny cage in the million-dollar W1AW lobby. When the Russian CW forces liberated the camp, he rejoined a group of Extras, determined to make hams fit communicators again.

After retiring, Luder worked for the State Department.

It seems to be an interesting band so I got a repairable 6M rig for $5. The receiver appears to be working but I have not heard a single transmission. I am using an indoor 40M dipole but I was expecting to hear something here in the center of PA.
Does this sound normal or is my $5 rig worth what I paid?
Do many people do CW on 6?

Does anyone know if this company still exists? I'm looking for their telephone number or an e-mail address. I believe they are a tube supplier.

Ahhh, but Bill didn't say he was going to stop learning like you did. He merely said there was no requirement to continue learning. You, OTOH, said that extras could stop learning anything new, ever. Here's what you said:

Richard Carroll wrote:

W6RCA responded:
So you can stop learning anything, eh?

Dick agrees:
Well, yes--

So you see, Dick, there is a world of difference between what Bill said and what you said.

Do you wish to be alerted when Solar Flux, A index, or the K index figures change? Don't want to carry around a radio tuned to WWV, etc.?

I have a alpha-numeric pager that I can email. I know others have cell phones with the same feature. And yet others read email all day long.

So, I created an automated e-report with the WWV report. This email is only sent when one of the three figures change.

If you wish to subscribe to this e-report, visit http://hfradio.org, and go to the propagation center. There you will find a form that allows you to submit your email address to the list.

Also, I am offering free web pages on the domain hfradio.org -- if you need a place to hang your hat, please consider creating your homepage at http://hfradio.org -- already have some taking up the offer... why not you? Free, after all. No ugly watermark images floating about, or obnoxious banner windows popping up every time you move around.

Need a place for your club website? Your special dx-pedition? Your homepage? Simply fill out the form off of the main page at http://hfradio.org/

Your page address would be http://hfradio.org/yourcallsign/ -- and you can have an email address alias of yourcallsign@hfradio.org. Free. For non-commercial ham sites only. If you need a commercial site, or need custom solutions, let me know with the online form.

And, of course, as always you can create azimuth maps centered on your QTH (or any QTH, for that matter), check dx, propagation, or swap and shop. And more. At the http://hfradio.org site.

Hope I meet you on the air. I hang out on 20, 15, and 10.

What can you say good about a person who threatens to shoot everyone he talks to,among other bad things he does, and about a lazy West Virginia Slob who has a Daddy in prison down the road and a mother who cooks slop in the prison kitchen and cooks other things too. I leave the answer to that to you my good friend 00.

The receive mod has been done, and the scanner receives most frequencies from 30 through 1300-MHz, in AM, NFM, and WFM modes. There are 400 memory channels, with a two-speed hyperscan feature. The unit is in overall great condition, both physically and electronically. A power adapter is included. There is no manual.

The current price is about $294.00

"Bullchittum" must be proud of the dunce. Talk about an EMABRRASSMENT to a group, even to a group of nitwits. This N0VFP character is just about the stupidest person I've ever encountered in 30 years in the hobby. A complete mental and social abomination and aberration dedicated to the idea that one can have an empty skull cavity and still have much credibility and admiration with Martin "Bullchittum," W9XN, the "foundling" of the BARF Forum and Website. He's a lying, draft-dodging coward.
I wonder how somebody who's ben dead for 9 years can still be down the road in a closed prison. They use the prison as a tourist attraction.

Dad was an WW2 Army veteran, something ol' getback is jealous of. He was awarded the Bronze Star, the European African Middle Eastern Theatre Ribbon, Distinquished Unit Badge Medal, the Meritorious Unit Award Medal, Combat Infantryman badge, American theatre ribbon, EXP Pistol, EXP rifle, Good Conduct, and WW2 Victory Ribbon. He was in the 19th Armored Infantry, Company A. Hardly the type of person to end up in prison, unlike getback.

I guess "getback" could only dream of such a service record. If he even served, he receved a General or Dishonorable discharge.

Or sailing. Or use of a hand-loom. Or . . . .Of course, those things "died" almost a century ago. I suppose we will have to wait another 100 years before some can see it.

All this malice over something that will soon cease to be a thorn in the side of so many! Was there this much hostility over Esperanto when it was required study in many European schools 60+ years ago?

What I don't get at all is what the root of this sort of nastiness and hostility is. I can't see what there is to be so upset about. As for the future of the bands, yes, I suppose there may be some who will rush onto HF to "stomp all you argumentative types. . .", but that just demonstrates a point many of us have been making about code testing for a long time, doesn't it? Last time I listened, which was, let's see, about 15 minutes ago, all of the arguing going on on HF was happening in a voice mode. Oh, and once upon a time, morse code did change the universe, or at least it drastically altered life on this planet. You can't get to the future except via the past, of course.

Of course, remember, us code freaks will just pop the <250 Hz filter in when we here you coming, and you can turn your notch on, so neither of us will have to brook the other.. . .

Well, he hasn't lost his licence and this is a good thing.
Big Al is one of the more amusing characters on 75 Meters and his return in a few months is something to look forward to. If you listen carefully you'll hear that John A. speaks just like "Foghorn Leghorn" of Warner Brothers Looney Toons fame.
Add this to his on the air personna and you have the makings of some real entertainment on 75.

Well written Doc. I think we can also add that he who says: "..they stand with FZ and BARF" probably also likes to stand in a pile of cow manure in leaky boots.

..oh, forgot to mention, Marty's 12" Dumont wore out a few years ago

The plans for a duplicate of a palomar appears in the ARRL handbook, or at least it is in the 1977 (My Newest) version.
if you can't find it in the handbook, drop me a line and I will scan in the info.

The VHF FM rigs would have sold a long time ago if they had reasonable

Don't bother them with the facts. I pointed that out to them weeks ago but they don't seem to understand that the prices for the gear is more than much newer models in the same line...

I sure don't understand why they don't get it... Maybe they really don't want to sell them???

This may seem like a stupid question, but maybe someone can help me out. I upgraded at a VEC test session last September, do I still have to register under the ULS on the FCC webpage, or am I already in the system? It seems from what I can understand that I am already in the system, I just need to call the FCC number and get a password to use when I decide to upgrade to Extra class or renew my license. This is what I understand from reading the current issue of QST. Can anyone who knows tell me for sure? Please e-mail me and let me know for sure what I need to do. Thanks for the help!

This modification is to remove the attenuator in receive mode that is very apparent when tuning from 1601

No, you would need to have some sort of ham radio display to get their

What? Something on this forum that's actually involves ham radio operations?
A post with no libel, hatred, or baseless accusations?

I have a UK spec FT-8100R and I purchased the ADMS-2D Software & Programming lead.

Before I used the software the Automatic Repeater Shift worked fine for the UK repeater section of the VHF band.

After creating a template, adding some memory channels and uploading to the radio, the VHF VHF Auto Repeater shift has stopped working for UK
Spec and has changed to the US spec.

Anyone else experienced this?

Also, I've found out how to specify (in ADMS-2D) a +1.6 Mhz shift on UHF repeaters. You simple enter "1.6 Mhz" in the Repeater Shift box.

I imagine a day doesn't go by without you using that 125 year old communication device we call a "telephone." And why single out those using code? The first voice transmission via radio took place on December 24th, 1906. Are you still using phone modes on the ham bands? (Being an anon, you're probably not even licensed, so no need to answer.)

French Author Emile Zola writing in defense of Alfred Dryfus
"J'Accuse" has Doctor Hate pegged...."que s'excuse, s'accuse!" which means in broken English, when Doc excuses himself he accuses himself. After receiving valid criticism for his JDL rantings he tries in vain to justify his endless hate dribble. Is there anyone out there who buys anything he says?

Your right, this has been my contention for years. They follow me around. I've been a participant on this newsgroup for over 2 years. As soon as Riley throw's them off of HF, they show up here. Who do they attack? Me, Doc, Roger, ANYONE that does not share their views of hate

I have read that al gore feels we need to be closer between church and state, going so far as to suggest federal funding be provided to faith based organizations that work to help cure social ills.

although he is correct when he says that organizations such as the salvation army and christ house demonstrate effectivley in dealing with such problems as addiction and domestic violence it appears to be a stategic political move? e. kamarek one of his senior advisors stated " the democratic party is going to take back god this time"

I don't presume to know if god's political endorsement is available for either major party , but i do know that this is a bad idea. many defenders of the 1st ammendmant religious establishment will responnd by fearing a breach in the wall of seperation of church and state. Libertarians will recognize another pherhaps more sinister problem with the apparent gov't benevolence. all monies come with an ever increasing tangle of strings attatched.

After these organizations become accustomed to the ever steady inflow of cash there budget will become more dependant on it continued arrival. at that point all the bickering political considerations that contribute to the failure of similiar gov't programs will inflict themselves on the private organizations.

For those of you who feel that can't happen just consider on how the this stragedy has worked to nationalize state transportation laws [seat belts, motorcycle helmets, blood alchohol levels and speed limits] to increase federal control over education racial busing and sex education ' the ix ' interpetations of national testing .

In all these cases the goal was laudable but the means should send a shudder down the spines of every citizen who believes in individual liberty!!! It is after all this freedom that has allowed these organizations to achieve their hard-won gains...

Ladies and gentlemen of this esteemed board: I bring the following to your attention and scrutiny. The date was Sept.13.1993. Remember a fellow on .313 whom the idiot KA4MUJ dubbed "Raincoat Charlie?" His name was Bill Irwin and the FCC cited him.Someone decided to intervene to get his fine reduced. On 9/13/93 a letter was sent to the Chief,Legal Branch,FCC,Mail Stop1500E3,1919 M Street N.W.,Washington,DC 20554. I will quote part of that letter. Question: who wrote it?

"Mr.Irwin wishes to bring to the Chief's attention some of the unusual circumstances surrounding the case so that it may be readily determined that Mr.Irwin's case deserves special consideration. For the past four years(perhaps longer) the amateur radio community has been plagued with vigilante terrorism under the guise of "self policing." This rule of terror has been brought about by an organization calling itself The Better Amateur Radio Federation. This group has set itself up as judge and jury over amateur radio, usurping and disdaining the authority of the FCC. The prime targets of the Better Amateur Radio Federation(known as the "BARF") have been the various amateur service networks such as the Maritime Mobile Service Network and the Intercontinental Network.

The Better Amateur Radio Federation has as its nominal leader one Herbert L.Schoenbohm,KV4FZ, an expatriate convict residing in the American Virgin Islands. Mr.Schoenbohm has a long history of nefarious activities and has been a constant problem for the FCC over the past ten years. He was recently convicted on a federal charge associated with telephone toll fraud. The FCC has had numerous complaints on this individual including international complaints filed through diplomatic channels. While living under "Home Confinement" imposed by a Federal Court, he continued to direct the activities of the BARF. Under the guise of "self-policing," the BARF has attempted to curtail what it imagines to be "illegalities" using any method of which it can avail itself,including breaking the very rules it claims to be upholding. This includes:establishing communications on frequencies in close proximity to the nets for the purpose of interfering with the nets, criticizing and harassing net members, breaking into and interrupting net activities for "enforcement purposes," and the continual broadcasting of taped,public domain amateur radio communications; excerpted, edited, and replayed in an innacurate and provocative manner. One of the BARF's most insidious activities is its constant playing upon ethnic issues and its promotion of ehtnic hatred. The BARF describes net members as "Sanhedrins," "Kikes,"Shylocks," and ":Arrogant Jews." The BARF maintains a policy of blatant anti-Semitism, critical of everything concerning Israel, the Jewish Community, the Jewish Faith, or individual amateurs who happen to be Jewish. The BARF's leader,KV4FZ,calls the Jewish Community, "The Evil Empire" and never misses an opportunity to downplay or dismiss the Holocaust as a "Jewish Hoax."..................................

Did I, AF2Y, write it? Although I agreed 100% with it , the answer is NO. It's an excellently and intelligently drafted piece of literature and asbsolutely truthful.

The author was none other than Martin Chittum, then NG9J, now W9XA. The same person who runs the BARF web site filled with anti-government and anti-Semitic garbage. The same guy who runs the BARF forum. The same guy who now so desparately wants to help Richard Whiten who was so essential in PROTECTING nets and net personnel from BARF defamation. The same guy who now exhorts his degenerate BARF buddies to flood Riley Hollingsworth with negative comments about Mr. Whiten. You've read my calling Chittum a turncoat s.o.b. Now do you think I had a right to? Do you now feel I have every right to blast him non-stop for turning into the rat he is? Turn your back on this Tipton,Indiana creep and you'll feel the sting of a knife blade. I'll now end...I've made my point.

Is aurora and/or meteor scatter propagation possible for 10 meters?
If not, why? If you can bounce 50MHz signals off them, why not 28MHz?
Just curious, seems like a darn shame not being able to use some other form of propagation on 10M other than sunspots.....

Yes it is possible. When living up north, many years ago, I heard aurora on ten. MS is a bit more difficult. The wavelength on ten is a bit long for some of the shorter bursts. But the good side is you don't get the short "pings" that are prevelant on the higher freqs. As to why the more "exotic" modes are not used on ten. I've wondered about that for years also.

Agreed. But the fact is, no one is in any way obligated to take any further action whatever after his license arrives-whatever the class. That's reality. There a few who DON'T do anything more. They also forget about being hams.
Those who are active can't avoid learning, even in the most unlikely event they were inclined to do so.

But that wasn't the question. The question was "Can you rest on your rosy red laurels?" and only correct answer is "Yes".

5435. Re: liberty is the truth!!!

I live in a state where the state constitution requires that the govenor must be a Congregationalist Christian, where school teachers must be ordained congregational ministers and are paid from tax funds, where members of the general court must be approved by a board of congregational ministers, where the state must arrest and prosecute Catholic clergy because they are Catholic, where the state established, funded, staffed and maintained the local Congregation Seminary (now known as Harvard) etc.

This was they law in my state for more than 70 years after the founding of this country. The state law changed slowly beginning in civil war times and continuing until the 1920s. During this time the religious affiliation and restrictions were amended.

Separation of Church and State is NOT in the Constitution!! The founding fathers were having a very serious debate on the following question: "What shall the national religion be??" Massachusetts wanted Congregationalist, Rhode Island wanted Baptist, Virginia wanted Anglican/Episcopal, New York wanted Calvinism, Pennsylvania wanted Lutheran, etc. What state would prevail? The answer...NONE!! Unlike the European model there shall be NO National religion!! Therefore the non-establishment clause and the free practice clause. You can't find the words "separation of church and state" in the constitution because each state had a constitutionally mandated state religion.

This has nothing to do with ham radio, but has much to do with the historical facts regarding the development of law. Finally, the series of court rulings that are loosely quoted as establishing "...separation of church and state..." explicitly authorizes government involvement in church affairs...just ask the IRS.

By the way, church can be involved in government, there is an official chaplain in congress paid for by government funds, chaplains in the military, churches may speak out on issues, taxes, social justice issues, morality issues, etc. They may not support or endorse a candidate but they can speak to issues.

The 'separation' argument is being used for purposes it was never intended to be involved with..e.g. school vouchers.

I'm off my soap box....Rev. Dave, AKA W1MCE

Just in case you are not aware of the situation, KV4FZ's FINAL appeal may NOT be heard in Appellate Court, Washington,D.C. I mean can you blame them? Don't you think they have better things to do than to lend an ear to anal arguments presented by Herbie's barrister, Lauren Bacall? The clock is ticking baby and slandering libelling FZ is gonna get the axe which is going to thrust a dagger into the guts of the BARF. And incidentally, if you haven't taken a look at "Bullchittum's" BARF forum board, what's all this b.s. about AF2Y's threats of Phyical(sic) Physical Violence? I threatened someone? Whom? When? How? Why?It works like this. "Bullchittum" changes text to fit his agitating agenda. Makes mountains out of molehills for effect. Lies expertly and then covers up his garbage with more of them. Martin must be on some strong lung and heart medicine, like orange juice and vodka. If you want to hear something funny, ask WB2OTK and Idene's experiences while visiting Martin's hovel in West Virginia. Damn if Idene didn't have to take anti-emetics to stay in the joint. Dirty dishes piled up from breakie to dinnie. A "SCHMUTZHAUS" if there ever was one. Hard to believe a yiddishe momma marries a goofy goyische hillbilly and momma becomes a goofy Yiddishe hillbilly and raises goofier chittumische flakes. One could write a book. A goat sits at the dinner table with Marty and wife? Pigs run in and out of the living room? They roll their own cigarettes? No soap to be found. "RAID" is used as a deodorant? Their yacht is a kayak with portholes? The TV is a 12" black and white Dumont? Their microwave is a large magnifying glass in sunlight? Toilet paper is marked, 'USE BOTH SIDES?" This is success? No wonder Chittum loves the BARF. Crap begets crap.

Cardiovascular cases linked to ham radio club

Hyannis, Aug 24 (Reuters) -- Health officials in Massachusetts tracking an outbreak of herat failure have discovered that the cases have a ham radio connection: the Red Cross meeting room.

Jeffrey Klaussen, director of the lard transmitted disease unit at the Hyannis Department of Health and heir to the pickle producing empire, said that investigators quizzing the last seven ham radio men reporting myocardial infarctions were surprised to find that all seven found their most recent dinnertime contacts through a room at the Red Cross used by the Barnstable ARC.

``The challenge for us has been to contact, notify and inform individuals (when) we only have their 2 meter CB... er, ham handles and first personals,'' Klaussen said on Monday.

BARC declined to alter its privacy policy and reveal the identities of the 2 meter CB regulars, but it did put Klaussen in touch with the ARRL, a worthless media outlet and publishing house in Connecticut.

``The health department did contact us looking for advice on how to use the online medium to deal with this public health issue,'' said Rich "Linguini" Marinara, "but hams are too backwards and chose to use packet radio instead".

ARRL staffers spent 2 weeks visiting the club room and warning users about the outbreak, sampling the cuisine while they were at it.

Seems like a nobrainer to me. Out of all the desirable ham characteristics, Morse code is the only thing some hams do well. Of course, they don't want that requirement dropped because then they would lose their power and self esteem.

Aha, so you cannot read Morse code in Japanese. I thought so. If Morse code was really a language, you wouldn't have that problem.
Seems Morse code is only a method of coding ordinary languages after all.

I seriously doubt that their influence extends outside of our

You haven't read many of my postings, have you, Frank. Before I retired,
I taught Morse code classes. I encourage all hams to learn and use CW.
IMO, it is both desirable and useful. Personally, I think CW is a great mode and is my favorite. Please don't confuse those facts with the opinion that I have that coercive Morse code testing is an outdated requirement. My attitudes toward CW, the mode, and toward Morse code testing are unrelated. IMO, everyone should have the freedom to learn and use Morse code or not to learn Morse code. What is wrong with live and let live?

What I said is exactly what Bill said. There is no further requirements to satisfy for a license. School's out. That's

But the web site, the voting, and even the postings from me on this news group is just for my amusment. If I started taking this seriously then you would all be correct to call me stupid. Listen if this NG was the real world instead of a microcosm of odd, insane, and/or misfits I wouldn't even be here! But since it is full of such kind of people why not kick back and have a little fun with it? Your right you can't judge how smart I am from being able to edit a little html. No more than you can judge anything about a person by the postings they make on a NG. We only let people see what we want them to see about ourselves. I for one am only letting you see the silly side of me, the rest will stay well hidden and protected! That is the reason for the no-code posting name and not my real call sign. Like I said before I'm Crazy not STUPID!!

Visit my web site and see a picture of the head CB'r of this country!!

I have repaired my Trident Tr2400s' keypad by cleaning the contacts and then using a siver based ink(?) pen I picked up at an electronics store.
It was for repairing printed circuit traces. Just drew the pen accross the pad(s). Then let them dry over night and reassembled the radio. It lasted for about 3 years.
The pen(?) cost about $13, but saved the scanner for more use.

The $20.00 Electro Mavin GPS Project Came through the rollover without a problem, feedback from end users is that it didn't skip a beat, and is working just fine. For you who have picked up the unit, we have new info just posted to our web site with a Windows program and documentation to get the unit working in short order.

True, but you should learn enough to satisfy our charter:

97.1 Basis and purpose.
The rules and regulations in this Part are designed to provide an amateur radio service having a fundamental purpose as expressed in the following principles:
(a) Recognition and enhancement of the value of the amateur service to the public as a voluntary noncommercial communication service, particularly with respect to providing emergency communications.
(b) Continuation and extension of the amateur's proven ability to contribute to the advancement of the radio art.
(c) Encouragement and improvement of the amateur service through rules which provide for advancing skills in both the communications and technical phases of the art.
(d) Expansion of the existing reservoir within the amateur radio service of trained operators, technicians, and electronics experts.
(e) Continuation and extension of the amateur's unique ability to enhance international goodwill.

If you want to abide by 97.1(e), then you'll have to learn those Q-signals, Bill.

I was told that a few of my non-Jewish friends on this board are becoming annoyed at my satirical and ofteimes cutting remarks about certain Christian elements. I must remind them that it was HERBIE AND HIS BARF which made the 20 meter issue into religious warfare. It was screwball Billy Gasell and Mike Galego who warned me that that unless the phone patching stopped, they would make the 20 meter "problem" into one of anti-Semitism. It was KV4FZ who drove the process by stating that Intercon was controlled by Jews to steal money from phone companies. And how about all the anti-Semitism by the High Anusport Jolly Green Nazi, Lloyd Montcalm? And for how long did we hear it from Queenie and KB4MXL? And do we still not hear it from the junk on 3.950? I'm thinking of a Gentile ham operator who absolutely hates anti-Semitism and SAYS SO. Yes, I remember-it's David Castle, WA9KJI which is why the animals on the Liberrty Net wanted him shut down and nearly was. Occasionally I used to jear KE9RY talk down anti-Semitism on 14.313 and then proceed to talk gingerly to KV4FZ, who began it in the first place. Yet, I SEE NOTHING ON THIS BOARD BY CHRISTIANS WHICH PROVE TO ME THAT THEY ARE OFFENDED BY ANTI -SEMITISM. I ask-WHERE ARE YOU? You are quick to jump on me but how come you can't find your way to jump on those who deserve to be blasted? . Friends, how many of you have come out on THIS board to say that anti-Semitism is contrary to YOUR Christian values. Huh friends? Your silence is equivalent to approval, friends. Don't get on me for throwing it right back into the faces of the bigots because I'm good at it and when the religious factors of Herbie and the BARF finally die, then so will my rebuttals. If you're offended, then do two things:(1)either put yourself in the shoes of the target(2)look the other way. Keep this in mind. Your silence-your refusal to become involved on the side of yours truly is no different that the tons of priests and ministers throughout Germany in the 1930s who listened and watched the growing hatred of the Jews as promulgated by Hitler and company, yet said nothing from their pulpits. Where were their Christian values? The same as yours-in the back of their shorts. My Christian friends, were are you when you read the anti-Semitic filth posted by Lloyd Davies and Polly? You all talk a good show but are short on performance. Put up or SHUT UP. I and my wife have many Christian friends with whom we socialize and it's been an ongoing thing for many years. I guarantee that these people siting in a restaurant with me and other Jewish couples would get up and smack the hell out of anyone using intolerant speech. If you have a gripe against intolerance, get active-don't stay passive and then condemn those who become active. Put your word processors to use! And word has it that Len Schaier, also Jewish, is talking me down. Listen up! He's in business and does work for Christian organizations. Why would he risk his finances on becoming an activist? Maybe he would think differently if retired? Lots of people change their tunes when there's nothing to lose.Or then again, maybe he'd continue to wimp out if circumstances change? At any rate if I've hurt the feelings of so-called Christian friends, maybe it's because you're friends in name only? Maybe I'm hurt that you talk brotherhood but do nothing about it? Perhaps you ought to think how evil silence is in the face of wrong? Stop bitching and put your word processors to use. It makes no difference if you use the King's English or not-it's the thought that counts. Remember the saying, "Out of the mouths of babes ofttimes come gems." What say you about these professional hatemongers on shortwave with whom Lloyd Davies is in love and is keen to spread their garbage here? You know the ones who are saying that "according to biblical prophecy the end times are here and the Jewish bankers are responsible and the Jews are commies and the Jews this and the Jews that" and all the rest of that rotten propaganda used by anti-Semities for centuries? I tear them apart with alacrity because they are hateful bastards and liars too. What do my Christian friends say about them? NOT A WORD. If nocode techs want to abide by 97.1(e), do they also have to learn those Q-signals? Funny, I don't see Q-signals mentioned anywhere in Part 97.1(e).

I personally know a half dozen Q-signals and have the rest, prosigns, and

I have a ICOM 740 HF mobile rig that is in good condition. It has all the amateur bands. puts out 100 watts. I would like to trade it for a 2 meter all mode base rig or I will take 400 bucks for the rig. The rig comes with mic and owners manual. It is a great rig for mobile operation. Its a 7 on the scale of 1 to 10. I ran the rig mobile but I have upgraded to a continuos coverage rig.

Its not that we approve of the anti-semitism doc, but we just feel that if we respond to the Nazi's, then they'll just keep talking, because they know we are reading or listening to their bullshit. Just like little kids, If you ignore their tantrums, they will stop. You invite it by getting in the mix. I know that your are just trying to create some sort of balance, but at the same time you are feeding the fire.

Most of us could care less who's a jew or who's a jew hater for that matter. Hell, Jesus was a jew and we put alot of faith into him (some of us anyway). So why don't we all just ignore the Nazi's, be friends and get to the real issues, like when we're going to hear those ET tapes!

Remember the statement Samuel F.B. (Fine Business)Morse uttered as the first intelligible message began to flow through his wires fed by spark dah-di-dah? "What hath God wrought?" That message created quite a stir way back there in the 18's something. Call me "Doc" Morse. I mean I'm getting e-mails like you wouldn't believe because of a few truthful statements I posted. What hath AF2Y wrought? Jeez...can't a guy express himself? This is a free country you know despite those rightwing creeps who'd Nazify everything. Up yours "Hunsters." Well it seems old "Bullchittum" has gone nuts over something I posted merely as something inquisitive rather than definitive. I asked what his boss would do if he found out that his genius employee was the head of an Internet website dedicated to the German army of W.W.2 which was responsible for the deaths and wounding of hundreds of thousands of our boys? How many times have I asked that obese slug from Tipton to explain how ham radio is related to a pro-Nazi website and to say he's been evasive would be an understatement. Then of course there's the matter of his BARF forum which again is a platform for anti-Semitism by the likes of ignormus N0VFP, Lloyd Davies and a lot of persons smarter than he because they couldn't be any stupider. Well "Chitty" went wild by sending me some kind of threatening e-mail about suing me which I sent to my son who's an attorney but then again sending an e-mail threat of litigation will not hold up in any court. It must be sent by certified mail with receipt requested. I don't think "Bullchittum" will spring for something that costs about $2.85 but if he does, my parakeet Effzed does need something new to poop on. Newspapers are getting trite. Oh well, anything Chitty transmits is for the birds anyway. Then this afternoon I got an anti-Semitic(what else) e-mail from the two bit crooked lying convicted felon from Saint Croix,KV4FZ, which I answered and sent copies to the same disjointed feebleminded jackassess to whom Herbert sent copies of his Hitlerite letter to me. Turnabout is fair play, right? I e-mailed his stinking letter to both Riley and Bill Cross, also of the FCC, telling them that had the FCC taken that skunk out fifteen years ago, there never would have been a religious war on 20 meters. Wouldn't you know that would cause an uproar among the BARF rats? W2KP, unsteady Eddie Clark, the guy who fell down a flight of stairs, landed on his behind and suffered a brain concussion wrote a letter of pleading to Riley. "Oh please Riley--help me. Get AF2Y off my case. Oh please Riley, do something. Boo hoo hoo." Hell, all I did was to send Clark a belated New Year's greeting. Now I just got a livid e-mail from John Kanootsie Tootsie Knudson, the bigot who used to hail from N.W. Vermont but relocated to Florida to sit and play gin rummy with retired Jewish gentlemen from New York. Ain't that something? Beats me-all I do it WRITE THE TRUTH and the louts go nuts. Can you imagine the stink I'd create if I were a liar like they?

It looks like that infamous "BOOTLEGGER" Graham Dyer has been called into service by the Porkbutt "SUCK BOY MOB" Under the direction of the infamous AF2Y, "DR HATE". You remember Graham VA3GJB, well, that is his call now but he is best remembered as a "Bootlegger" on twenty and seventy five who used another amateurs call which was VE3NSF. He used that call for years until he was ratted on by a fellow Canadian,

Mow he is on this forum acting quite the law abiding citizen. As they say"Murder will out", But again they also say "The truth will come out".
Today is the day the truth is coming out about Mr Dyer. Let him scream and deny all he wants to, but he knows in his heart that what is reported here is THE TRUTH!!

So Graham, cut the sermons, you have a checkered background that you would like people to forget....Rileygotcha telling the truth about you "KURT"!!

Roger can never win a argument! Like KK7HO and AF2Y, they resort to name calling. This proves they can never make an intelligent comment! By name calling, they completely dodge the issue at hand, and can never come to terms with us.

And Roger, we don't have to resort to vulgarity and gross comments!

We are better than you. Why don't you climb up the ladder of humanity with us....

And anyone who has lost interest to that point wouldn't be at all concerned about that either. I can think of an easy half-dozen license holders who fit that category that I know personally. They still hold a license but keep no equipment whatever and have no interest. Might as well tear it up and toss it. They are required to do nothing whatever.

Nothing in Part 97 spells out any individual responsibilities by which hams are required to take any action whatever. It is correctly assumed that there will be sufficient numbers in all categories mentioned to sustain the service. So far it seems to have worked fine, the nonsense often seen on this NG to the contrary.

That was the May 24th, 1844, transmission between Washington and Baltimore. Morse gave a Miss Annie Ellsworth the honor of choosing the very first message to be sent over that newly completed wire circuit; she turned to the Bible and chose that verse. Morse sent it (he didn't utter it). He later went on to marry her.

(Archer's "History of Radio to 1926")

There was no spark involved; this was a wire (not wireless) circuit.

Subject: [RMVHF] N0KE Mt Bross DM69xi 29 Aug 99
Date: Wed, 25 Aug 1999 11:27:51 -0600

Phil, N0KE, expects to be QRV for the Colorado 14er event from the summit of 14,172 ft Mt Bross with all mode capabilities on 6m, 2m, 222, 432 and 1296. Since I will be able to drive to the summit via 4WD I can take some decent yagis along. If the WX co-operates, I will stay on the summit for several hours. I hope to be fully QRV prior to 1400z Sunday 29 August 1999. WX could easily interfere with these plans as the remains of Huricane Brent may be affecting us at that time. All mode operation may also take place from Mt Evans DM79 and Pikes Peak DM78. I will be attempting to set some new DX records for the event as will others. This is a largely FM simplex event but there will be some SSB and CW going on and possibly some HF as well on 14260, 21330, and 28350. Gary W0TM will hopefully be with me and have his FT100 QRV on HF.

If you are within 700 miles or so, please give a listen on 144.200, 144.220 and calling freqs on other bands. If QRM should be a problem look 222.120, 432.120 etc. If there happens to be any tropo out there maybe we could get lucky and work further. Please give a listen Sunday 29 Aug between 1330z and 1800z.

Your intentions are good, but you appear a bit naiive where the government is concerned. The IRS will never allow itself to be "abolished."

If these sales tax ideas begin to gather sufficient momentum, what we will end up with will be a national sales tax AND an income tax. Just like Canada, England, etc.

Look, is there anyone out there,friend or foe who can make KV4FZ understand that he is NOT Jesus Christ? Anyone? I mean like how many time have heard this kook on the air talk about Intercon and the FCC "crucifying" him and all that "Bullchittum?" The man suffers from illusions of grandeur ,but Jesus? Huh? Okay, with that in mind see if you can follow what's going on.Yesterday, with copies to his "followers" he sent me this awful anti-Semitic piece about a Rabbi and so forth and so on. I'm used to his garbage by now so I simply chucked it in the trash and replied with copies to him and all his meatheads. What's wrong with that? Turnabout is fair play, right? Now if you remember, the "Wheezer" from Tipton,IN once upon a time wrote,in defense of "Raincoat Charlie, a SCATHING ATTACK on Schoenbohm and his BARFies. I reminded Herbie of it by sending him a copy and paste of it. This morning here's what I got in return.

Obviously, like Saul on the Road top Damascus, Marty knows that he was wrong in his earlier characterization of KV4FZ. Redemption awaits all who will listen to the truth.

Now for all of you heathens unfamiliar with the nuances of the Testaments, Saul of Tarsus supposedly was commissioned to be a hatchet man on new believers of Christ in Damascus. The Yiddishe Mafia gave him a sack of rocks to bounce off the noggins of the Jesus freaks but on the way Jesus met him and Saul was converted into Paul which is a Jewish name anyway. Until the conversion of Saul Paul, Christianity was nothing but a bunch of wild folks worshipping in caves and on the plains of Nebraska. If you read the New Testament you will see what a gigantic impact Paul, who later was canonized, had on the growth of Christianity in light of all the letters he wrote to the churches in the Middle East and southern Europe. He used pieces of stale matzohs for stamps. Now it turns out that Schoenbohm, in his sordid, sick demented mind puts himself in the role of Jesus who converted Martin Chittum into "Saint Wheezie," a true believer. How does that grab you folks? I think it's HYSTERICAL. Moving on with things, I also got this touching message from the Tipton Wheezer who now feels his job's safe even though the moron supports radical rightwingers and Nazi sympathizers.

Schwartzbard,

Thank you for acknowledging receipt of my communication to you.

Sincerely,

Martin A. Chittum, Sr. BSEE MSEE Senior Project Engineer

This is AF2Y again, too lazy to mess with the fonts.No one had to tell me that Wheezie Chipmunk had a BSEE degree. It stands for Bull Shit Extraordinary Expert. The MSEE he got was for having eaten 104 Mallomars in 23 minutes during lunch in the School of Obese Engineers in Liposuction, IN. Fat boy seems to be more relaxed now thinking I won't expose him to his superiors but then again, everyone except BARFies are superior to the b.s artist! You never can tell, pot belly!
Now for something else. Ever hear of a Todd Ellis? I think that's the creep's name. He is one of those who walks behind Herbie holding the roll of Charmin and he was a recipient of KV4FZ's anti-Semitic letter to me. Once again, since he's so involved in this dispute, I decided to send him a cc of what I sent Herbie. Is there anything wrong with that? It turns out that the jerk lodged a complaint of abuse WITH AOL. EVER HEAR OF ANYTHING SO RIDICULOUS? What abuse? Hell if I wanted to abuse the sap I could work him over something fierce but I don't know him. I doubt if AOL considers his complaint worthy of a reply but if they do reply to me, I'll reply to them and send Ellis a cc about which he'll undoubtedly lodge another complaint and so on and so forth. Here's what the jerk sent me.....
Mr. C. Schwartzbard:

Please do not send me any more e-mail messages. I don't care for your tactics nor have I solicited you for your opinions. I consider this message unsolicited spam since you have obviously obtained a number of e-mail addresses and have been mass mailing to people...again. This message has been forwarded to ABUSE@AOL.COM.

Todd Ellis

This is AF2Y again. Here's what is boils down to. I am ONE man against a gang of cutthroats, vigilantes, liars, anti-Semites and instigators and I'M BEATING THE HELL OUT OF THEM ON A DAILY BASIS. Whether you're friend or foe, you gotta give me credit. I make them look sick and they should be. You know why I'm able to do it? BECAUSE I WRITE THE TRUTH!!! There is no one or nothing in this world that will make me believe that KV4FZ is nothing more than a liar, crook and felon. He can put on a million disguises but I see through all of them. I told that s.o.b. years ago that if he didn't shut his face about my people, I'd bring down the house on him and that's exactly what's happening. Sorry, but I'm some one who refuses to look the other way when I see injustice. I HATE HATE and will do all I can to destroy the instigators of it. This is America and we base our concept of living on RESPECT for each other so when a beast like Schoenbohm comes along, followed by a few idiots, it's my job to TAKE OUT HIM AND THEM AND DON'T FORGET IT. You mess with AF2Y and you're in for hell!

That was the May 24th, 1844, transmission between Washington and Baltimore. Morse gave a Miss Annie Ellsworth the honor of choosing the very first message to be sent over that newly completed wire circuit; she turned to the Bible and chose that verse. Morse sent it (he didn't utter it). He later went on to marry her.

(Archer's "History of Radio to 1926")

There was no spark involved; this was a wire (not wireless) circuit.

I'll lay odds that this FCC hearing the R.A.I.N. Report speaks about is for everyone's favorite racist....Pork Butt! He's probably trying desperately to get his ticket back and has asked for this hearing.

And seeing what a whimp Riley is when dealing with real radio criminals (i.e. WA9KJI), I'll lay odds that Porky will be back on the air after this hearing.

And when Porky is let back on the air, I will also lay odds that the bands will AGAIN deteriorate into a cesspool of filth.

I am not interested in the ACLU at this time. I am questioning the losers in the ARRL Headquarters who told me they see nothing wrong with giving irrelevant sensitive personal information in order to get any services from the FCC Beureaucrats. If they want it, they could already have it but the lemmings just hand it over so why should they bother digging?

Call it what you want, the ARRL never raised the issue. They are too busy being the "non-profit" Riley Chronicles to defend any Amateur Radio Operators' Right to Privacy. They must be way too overloaded defending an 1800's technology to even pay attention.

Nothing to hide, all our privacy to lose!

"Let's see, he has radios, scanners, guns, credit problems, $10,000 in the bank..." the list can go on forever at any .gov site. They will share it amongst all government. You watch. It will get attention when those guys on rec.radio.swap start getting auditted because they volunteered irrelevant data to be cross-indexed with their other ID, their callsign!

Complacent Idiots!

Strange, I see not one specific need to know Q signals as part of (e). The regulation/goal is silent on HOW anyone chooses to accomplish (e) at all. Indeed, it doesn't REQUIRE every ham to do so anyway...it simply states (e) as a purpose of amateur radio (as stated with a broad bruch definition) of all of amateur radio collectively.

Yes, it is an entrance exam...BUT, there is no mandatory requirement that anyone actually advance beyond that.
Most people wll do so just by their personal pursuits of specific areas of interest. There is not one rational element of support in the goals of amateur radio as per part 97.1 that mandates or presumes morse code as a skill which must be improved.

The charter is NOT a requirement on each and every ham.

Poor Ol' Polly, the only job he could do in the Army was clean latrines...with his tongue.
And Polly never could get past the rank of corporal, and they finally gave him a general discharge to get rid of him.

I am thinking of buying a DSP unit to add on to my Drake R8b receiver and would like some input from users of the MFJ 784B ($229.95) and the Timewave ($399.95) DSP units.

The MFJ was written up in the latest Monitoring Times and had a good report ...... but would like input from others that have used either or both as to the plus's and minus's of each.

I do mostly shortwave and BCB DX'ing with the Drake. I use a Kiwa Loop for BCBDX and an MFJ noise canceling unit.

Thanks in advance.

It takes people in this country too long to wake up.

You took ten years to cancel your membership ? Who forced you to stay in

Who forced the whiners to re-elect Klinton when they knew his "arrestable" record ?

Why do we just now hear dozens belly-aching "the FCC wants our Social Security numbers... why ?!!?", when a select few were trying to warn you all 60 days ago ?

We warned you, and you called us paranoid. We warned you and you said,
"so what", as if it was a lie. Now you try to act. When Congress mandates

It's not a goal, it's a "fundamental purpose":

97.1 Basis and purpose.
The rules and regulations in this Part are designed to provide an amateur radio service having a fundamental purpose as expressed in the following

My favorite was the guy they called "Raincoat Charlie." I also remember a colorful character known as "Walter." He'd get drunk, get on-the-air, and make a "thonk, thonk, thonk" sound over and over again. When asked what was making the noise, he stated that he was bouncing his manhood against the microphone.

Don't confuse AF2Y with punctillio. The truth on any issue important thing to conclude. If the facts don't suit Dr. Hate

ARRL Bulletin 58 ARLB058
From ARRL Headquarters
Newington CT August 26, 1999
To all radio amateurs

Hurricane Watch Net Activated as Dennis Approaches

The Hurricane Watch Net activated August 26 at 1100 UTC as Hurricane Dennis made its way across the Caribbean. The National Hurricane Center reports the storm is moving west-northwest but was expected to turn northwestward.

At 1500 UTC, the government of the Bahamas issued a hurricane warning for all of central Bahamas and a portion of northwestern Bahamas, Eleuthera and the Abacos. A hurricane watch in effect for the remainder of the northwest Bahamas, including Andros, Berry, Bimini, Grand Bahama, and New Providence islands.

The Hurricane Center says that residents along the southeast coast of the US, primarily North and South Carolina, "should closely monitor the progress of Dennis."

"We are receiving reports from the Bahamas now and passing them on to the National Hurricane Center," Hurricane Watch Net Manager Jerry Herman, N3BDW, said this morning.

The Hurricane Watch Net meets on 14.325 MHz. It coordinates weather observations from Amateur Radio operators to forecasters via the National Hurricane Center's W4EHW in Miami.

Living on St. Croix I have lost connections to the program.
Except that last year I met some of the people at Courage Center in Minneapolis. Most of the old timers (Ned Carmen and Ward Jensen)are silent keys. One of the greatest threats to the proggram has been the poliferation of waivers. It removed one of the most important incentives to achievement. This also has reduced the self confidence and personal growth oppertunities that tracked with those working in the program.

Actually Graham they are hanging out with me. I was on this forum a

Your absolutly correct, their is a police record on this event. And why do I know so? BECAUSE I CALLED THE POLICE you stupid fuck. Now, smartass put up or shut up. POST THE FUCKIN REPORT so we can ALL read about it. Or would you prefer I save you the effort and tell the FACTS?

Ya'll really missed it today. KC3AU (Jamming for Jesus John) and KC1ZQ (The Zipper Queen)were discussing how I am carrying on a "hate campaign" here on the internet. Never bothering to mention their "buddies" in the BARF and Stumpjumpers. Of course not, John has a two by four in his eye, and David is the INCREDIBLE SHRINKING BRAIN.

I especially liked it when David, with his distorted signal, said he would like to send a BIOS scrambling virus down to me, via deja.news.
Sure glad I got that on tape David.

I do not recall the location, but, within the last three days (today is 8/27/99) , there has been a news article on my local radio and TV, as well as in my local neswpaper, about a white man who was beaten and killed by three Native Americans. The local sheriff has arrested the accused and federal prosecutors have said that they are investigating this incident as a hate crime.

While we may have become an overly litigant society, the right to seek redress through the courts is sacred.

Mr. Davies, I am a Southerner, a Baptist, and a Democrat. I also know how to read.
I was born in Mississippi, grew up in East Tennessee, graduated from college in Alabama; my wife is a native Alabaman, and most of our families still live in Alabama and Mississippi. I would like to let others on this NG know that your views are not the views of all Southerners. Many of us are able to read, think, walk, and chew gum all at the same time.

Actually, a 12 gauge shotgun would be a rather crude weapon to use in this case. I would suggest a small but powerful handgun. A Glock 9mm, for example.

Has anyone here written a rewiew of the Yaesu VX-5R HT. I've heard about some of the gripes like it gets hot during extended QSOs (though from what I've heard, I'm not convinced its any worse than any other 5W HT).

I'd be interested to here about:

- The PC interface and software and its ease of use. Is the software a nice, professional like GUI interface that's intuitive? Or, is it awkward and cheazy like the AOR 8000 scanner interface software?

- How about the interface on the unit itself? Is it intuitive and menu driven? Or does one have to remember an endless jumble of key sequences, ie fnc+shift+3 to turn something on or off. I hate it when I don't use something for several months and I have to look in the manual to refresh just to use it again.

- Is the standard antenna adequate for all three bands?

- Will the unit work adequately as a scanner in its advertised receive range, or is this just marketing hype? I've already heard that the unit was pretty useless in picking up AM with the standard antenna, yet that is one of its advertised features.

- Any comments on the barometric pressure and altimiter unit. Is this just a chip that you plug in? How accurate is this?

Thanks for any info.

Herb,

That's exactly what I said in my comments to the FCC on the botched restructuring, initiated by D'wana Terry (who left her post for greener pastures as I predicted) soon after.

What is the excuse of the masses when the blind, deaf and physically impaired have passed these EASY tests ?

The excuse is laziness or stupidity in the mass of average Americans.

The tests aren't hard; the average American who wants to be a ham is, unfortunately, typically nothing more than CBer who wants a clear frequency to spew his garbage on.

Sounds like Herb subscribes to sound Republican principles. I'm still looking for the Nazis that the loons on here call out, in order to gain the FCC on-line staff's eye to further their Demokratic agenda.

This country was baptized in civil disobedience. The Stamp Acts, the Revolution, the Draft Riots of 1860. Act now. Do not hand over a number the original purpose of which has been corrupted. If enough people resist, Congreff Affembled will give up on the nefarious transformation of the system into "guilty until proven innocent."

Don't just get on 75 and bitch. Act.

They'll cancel out licenses or the "service", says Phil Kane ? Well, hear me now. I don't ask bureacrats for their opinions. They tend to be somewhat biased...

AMERICANS ALARMED AT GROWING DEMAND FOR THEIR SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS

By ROXANA HEGEMAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Martin McKay didn't vote in last fall's elections. Louisiana refused to let him register. Although he is a qualified resident of the New Orleans suburb of Kenner, he refused to give the state his Social Security number. Voting, he argued, is a constitutional right. "It's not conditioned on anything.'' McKay sued. McKay, a health care worker, is among a growing group of people who are alarmed about the widespread demand for Social Security numbers. They see it as a creeping invasion of privacy and worry that, with a Social Security number, prying eyes can tap into a person's lifetime earnings history, credit background, medical records and other personal information. Heightening the fear are reports of criminals using someone else's ID number to obtain credit in their name. Some of the critics go further. They raise the specter of the biblical "mark of the beast'' and liken it to Hitler's stamping ID numbers on Jews in concentration camps. On the other hand, police and government workers see the Social Security number as a fast way to keep track of criminals, as well as ordinary employment and health histories. Louisiana is among the most aggressive users of Social Security numbers, but the practice is spreading to unprecedented levels not just for state and federal programs, but in private industry as well. For example, a little-known provision of a recent federal law establishes a new ID system to use Social Security numbers to track medical records, said Don Haines of the American Civil Liberties Union in Washington, D.C. The health ID number for private insurance as well as federal Medicare and Medicaid would put a person's lifelong medical history into a government computer database, Haines said. Another increase is embedded in a little-noticed provision of an immigration law signed by President Clinton in September. The act prohibits federal agencies from using state driver's licenses for identification unless the licenses include a Social Security number. (The law does provide an exception for the 30 states that don't require Social Security numbers on their licenses.)

No-Surveillance Promise

When Social Security was set up in the 1930s the American people were solemnly promised the number would never be used for anything other than Social Security. That promise has been broken, Haines says. He anticipates that growing concern about a national ID number will lead to federal legislation controlling the private use of Social Security numbers. "I am surprised that people are so docile about it, they seem to go along with the government,'' said Joe Cook of the ACLU in Louisiana. "It is really scary because the Social Security number has become a de facto identification number the kind of thing you find in totalitarian, authoritarian societies.'' The use of Social Security numbers for identification is often tempered by each region's cultural and historical influences. Western states, traditionally a bastion of individual rights, are among the last holdouts, though Arizona allows residents to choose between using their Social Security numbers or another number on driver's licenses. Some states in the Northeast and Midwest not only require Social Security numbers for licenses but also fingerprints. And Southern states are especially intrusive, some say, probably remnants of various requirements left over from efforts to control its black population. Louisiana, for example, collects Social Security numbers for driver's licenses and voter registration. The state also wants the number for a hunting or fishing permit. And in some areas a child's Social Security number is required to register for public school or even to get a public library card.

Freedom of Religion

Louisiana was quick to use the new immigration law to justify its extensive use of Social Security numbers. Until March of this year, Louisiana driver's licenses had Social Security numbers on them. But the state lost a lawsuit, so people now have the option of keeping the number off. Drivers must still give the motor vehicle department their Social Security number for their records, however. The lawsuit, filed by Mark Marchiafava, said that using Social Security numbers violated his freedom of religion. Just months after Marchiafava won his case, Mary DeFraites sued on the same grounds. Their basis is a passage in the Book of Revelation: "And he causeth all ... to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save that he had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.'' McKay's recent trial about his right to vote took about 10 minutes before U.S. District Judge Marcel Livaudais, who is yet to rule. The judge earlier refused to allow McKay to vote while the case is pending. McKay's attorney, Vincent Booth, called the lawsuit a matter of principle: "He just doesn't think information of this personal nature needs to be disseminated any more than is absolutely required or permitted by law.''

Privacy Law Cited

Booth argues that federal law specifically Public Law 93-79 Section 7 prohibits the government or any of its agencies from denying an individual any right, benefit or privilege because that person refuses to disclose his Social Security number. The law allows an exception if the agency required the Social Security number before Jan. 1, 1975, the date the federal law was adopted. Booth also argues that the SSN requirement is a violation of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993. In a similar case in Virginia, the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in a 1993 case that using Social Security numbers as security for voting was an impermissible infringement on the right to vote, Haines says. Louisiana's voter registration requirement that a person provide both a Social Security number and their mother's maiden name makes a person especially vulnerable to financial fraud, since those two pieces of information together can be used to open credit card accounts, Booth says. Booth adds that it didn't make his client feel any easier that in the past the state has used prison inmates as data processors. For its part, the state contends the information is safeguarded. Elections officials argue that the Social Security number is one of the best identifiers it has to check for duplicate voting registrations, convictions and deaths. "This is something very important to maintaining the integrity of this system,'' says Alan Elkins, assistant commissioner of elections. Louisiana, the first state to computerize its voter registration records, does have some older registrations that don't include Social Security numbers, Elkins says. But the state has the numbers of about 90 percent of its voters. Even Gov. Mike Foster got into the fray last year when he nixed a $1.8 million deal in which the state planned to sell driver's license pictures and data, including Social Security numbers, to a New Hampshire company. Image Data wanted the information to sell to businesses as a guard against credit card fraud and for debt recovery. The company, which is working on similar deals with other states, puts the information into a nationwide electronic database. Saying there's "got to be some right to privacy,'' the governor killed the sale because the Social Security numbers would have given the company access to personal information about Louisiana's 2.5 million licensed drivers. "One of the points of being an American is you don't need to produce an identity card or identity numbers,'' Haines said.

Some, but not most. Seems the ones with radio antennas protruding from them are not of the "40-50 grand" variety. Rather, these are typically 20-30 year-old singlewides with no skirting and at least three junk cars parked on the premises.

That's right. Most of ham radios most notorious misfits can now be found here on this forum. Thanks to Riley Hollingsworth's stringent enforcement efforts of the last several months, they have either had their ham licenses revoked/suspended/cancelled, or else they're scared to death they will be next to receive a certified letter. But since these misfits all harbor an insatiable desire to harass and libel each other, you will now find them here on USENET.

I have a ICOM 740 HF mobile rig that is in good condition. It has all the amateur bands. puts out 100 watts. I would like to trade it for a 2 meter all mode base rig or I will take 400 bucks for the rig. The rig comes with mic and owners manual. It is a great rig for mobile operation. Its a 7 on the scale of 1 to 10. I ran the rig mobile but I have upgraded to a continuos coverage rig.

Well, lets see...the complete Amateur Radio Operator will be one who holds a PHD in Communications and Electrical Engineering, dedicates maximum time to emergency communications and traffic handling, invents a new Ham Radio device each month, is a proficient CW operator at McElroy speeds, trains and VE's newcomers weekly, and in his spare time enhances international goodwill by working all the DX he can stand. Then before bedtime each night, he posts to RRAP to encourage on the masses.

I believe you're taking the provisions of Part 97 too seriously. It is set as general guidelines, and nothing more. They are the "basis and Purpose", the goals behind the existance of an Amateur Radio Service. If individual amateurs were intended to perform at any specific level, there would be some mention of it. In fact, there is - it's called licensing at the different levels, classes.

All that is definitely required is that licensees stay within the published specific rules. The parts you quoted can't be viewed as anything but non-specific.

Give thanks to Riley Hollingsworth. His successful efforts to clean up the ham bands have resulted in most of the "problem children" relocating themselves on this forum. Too bad they can't jam each other and play tapes on here. Gosh darn.

That's true, i use my telephone everyday, but it isn't a wooden box with a crank, and it has touch tone instead of a rotary dial. And probably some of my calls go via microwave. It's called modernization.

Is it written somewhere that I have to use my call sign on the Internet? As I recall, that's an FCC rule when communicating on the ham bands. I'm not anonymous as I don't disguise my email address.

Anyone know of a Win 95/98 More code practice program, shareware or otherwise? Already have the Dos Morse Academy but I am looking for something that uses a soundcard rather than the ultra cheap internal PC speaker.

I still like the MFJ-419 handheld practice machine. Has the benifits of a computer program yet the mobility of tapes.

Maybe it is time to go back to street justice. A rope and a tree would solve much of America's problems.

I personally would love to see both sides removed from amateur radio. We do not need the neo-nazis or the jammers.

2 Members of the Liberty Net have put up $500 each for the location, aphrension and a FCC NAL of "doofus" and "The White Noise Jammer" on 3950 .
Since the FCC has done NOTHING for the last 7 years, It's time something is done about the Jammers. It's time we put self-policing back into our Hobby!

Also, the FCC is not elgible for this reward!

Well,

That's good for you Joe. At least one of us has been fortunate. I think you misunderstand the meaning of this post. I do not condone open killing of people I do not like. But when it comes to a House of God, like a Church and it is being attacked by a bucnch of faggots, wanting to do sex acts on the kids, I think that in the name of God, you should do what it takes. I hope you would not turn a blind eye to something so sick as homosexuality. I work with mostly black people, I work and interface fine with them. I have no problem with black people. I have no problem with Jews. We all have our different views. I hope yours are worth fighting for someday. Also, did I ever say anything about education? I think not. The entire basis of practicality behind ham in general, less CW is mute.
Both are outdated and pretty worthless compared to a Cell Phone.
Exactly what importance would you stupid little beeps be helpful when a microphone or cell phone would be much easier to use? In case of end of world? In case of nuclear war? I mean, really, get with the 1990's and stop trying to make yourself feel more special and needed than you are.

| the stupid person that posted the gem below has obviously never listened to Prove it. I know your service record, because you didn't answer the permanent latrine orderly question. Is it true that you scored the LOWEST on those occupational tests?

Why did it take you over a year to complete basic training? Poor Polly, the CO felt sorry for him and just gave him the corporal rank.

Then when the ill-educated Polly got kicked out of the army, he drifted from low-paying job to another low-paying job. He lied to get hired at Sears, then had the most reprimands in his personnel file. He was canned for stealing a tent from Sears, and for tacking on extra charges, gouging the unsuspecting customer.
I guess Polly had to call back to the service center to find out how to fix the undependable washing machines.

>By the way his daddys' convict number is 696969. That is another reason
>"SLOOP" shed tears. He has the same perverted habits his "daddy has.

No, you're projecting Polly. Now, run along and have your favorite type of sex, with farm animals. That's the status quo, down there in the ramshackled, tarpaper shacks of Tennessee. Why is it you always wear the same blue shirt to hamfests? It still has the body odor and stained armpits, and people clear the aisles when Polly waddles down them.
Of course, One Tooth Ruth makes him get his clothes at Goodwill.

>Don't worry Rattler, he will get sober and be on here posting and trying >to forget he is low down iligitimate trash. But we all know he is. And >his "MOM" too.

Well, now. I don't drink, now "church elder" Polly, your church must be a sham, especially if you're involved. And don't give up your day job, you'l never make it as a musician. You're just a HACK.
Of course, the ng doesn't know about your many arrests for child molestation.
That's one of the REAL reasons Polly had to sell his house.

Some time ago I asked the mighty Herbster to call off his crew of Memphis Moron's. Explain to them that I NEVER was in favor of the witch hunt against him. What was his reply....A big fat no. Why?? because he was not ALLOWED TO under the ex parte rules. Bull... So on the air the other day he and the LT. of BARF, David (the incredible shrinking brain) Tolossi KC1ZQ is telling this yarn about Doc having made sexual solications to a "lady" on the phone. I asked, no demanded proof. I e- mailed him the same request. The result....NOTHING.

I rest my case.

I have heard lots of BS in my life, but these ramblings from Rambo Dan should be sent to the VA for evaluation. Has everyone noticed that Dan has an excuse for everything. Yes, we hear how he was torn apart by a rocket yet he never received medical attention for his wounds. I also remember how he disgraced himself by saying that he had seen the MEDAL OF HONOR that was claimed by wb9bcc. There for a while it seemed as if Dan could tell as big a lie as WB9BCC, but now after reading all of his postings I must say that he can tell bigger lies than Duane. Dan is always looking for an excuse, like he made up when the cops went to his home for chasing his ex wife around the house with a butcher knife. Sure hope his wife to be takes all of the sharp instruments out of the house, it would contribute to her best interest and long life.

Dan, you are so full of BULLSHIT

He sounded as stupid as ever, he should be working on that cw and crying about losing his ham ticket. Maybe he can hire the attorney that wb2otk hired and send him a retainer like otk did to af2y. Oh, Doc, where did you go to law school ????

5651. Chi Rocket Dan W4NTI and his habit of lying

Looks like "Chi -Rocket" Dan has been caught lying again. But what else is new? He is some strange bird, a man who can parlay a bomb going off miles from where he was standing in Veitnam into a life time of the good life layin around a small house trailer in north Alabama.

A life made up of getting on the internet and making a complete ass of himself. He has sworn "I am out of this war" over and over. But you know, he has no intentions of ever giving up on this silly course he has set for his self. He needs to get a job that he can stay on and not walk away from if he gets his feelings hurt, or is just too lazy to stay on.
He spends his life here on this forum posting silly remarks to Sloop Wiseman, his master now that "PORKBUTT" has been thrown off the Ham Bands. He has become a Yes man for "Sloop" who is a known internet thug who has posted over nine thousand posts on the internet. Sloop wants to get into Cartoons and funny books . That is a good place for him and Chi-Rocket Dan who pulls knives on his women running them around the trailer til the neighbors put a stop to the foolishness. I guess you would call their work together, "The SLOOP and SLONG show". These two birds are really sickos. Thanks Mr 007 for exposing Chi-Rocket Dan fo.

So where is your proof? Do you have ANY DOCUMENTATION AT ALL or what your say is true? Of course not. So you think you asswipes took out Rich eh? Well, Rich took out Rich. I'm not going to be so easy. Live with that asshole. SO, lets see some proof of your libelous statements? Do you have the balls to use a "REAL NAME"?? Of course not. Because you know everything you say is a bald faced lie. Get a life. Now that Riley has shut you and your ilk down on the bands, you show up here. Well get used to it. You couldn't run me off the ham bands and you won't do it here either.

"Sloop" Wiseman and "Slong" Jeswald please knock it off. Let the amateurs who want answers to their questions have a chance to get in here.
You two juvenile dimwits sit here and post for hours. If a beginning amateur looks at this forum , he can only say "I want no part of this"!! and I don't blame him or her. If you have to be smart asses go to alt flame.
So give the new hams a break and take a long walk and stay awhile.

Hey what is all the flap about mobile homes? Some of these are very nice and cost 40-50 grand.

I can remember news stories a few years back where storms went through Alabama. The governors mansion was knocked off its wheels.

Mississippi had several million dollars worth of improvements too.

We have had some back talk on this forum about amateurs reporting people who rip other amateurs off on swaps and deals. I think an amateur would not be doing the amateur community a favor if he didn't tell us about these shady characters. One case in mind, the bogus RF filters and ilegal amps that were said to be sold by "PORKBUTT" WB2OTK,. He even had shills on this forum working for him. W4nti was one of them if I remember right.

So go ahead guys, if you have a deal gone bad because of a larceny minded ham, Tell us.

Hello..

I am presently working on a project and am in serious need of some recommendations. I am putting together a small 33cm ATV Xmtr but am having problems finding just the right transmitter. My plan is to feed 10-20 mW into a Down East 3310 PA and just run it like that. Problem is, I can't find a good transmitter to fit the bill. If you know of something that matches as many of these criteria as possible, PLEASE email me...

Synthesized
Only 10-20 mW or power controlled somehow Small Size
FM Video
Reliable for extended operation
Clean output

All I've been able to find was some "spy transmitters" which are way too much money because they aren't designed for the amateur service. Help, please!

Nice to hear you whining again, whipling. Your whining proves I have the upper hand. Your mewling about my supposed 9,000 posts shows that you are envious of anybody with an education. It would take _you_ a lifetime just to write 9,000 posts. You have greatly misunderstood the purpose of communication. This has been pointed out to you before. You are a loser.

It is recommended that you:
Get a clue, Get a life, Go away, Grow up, Act something close to your age, Never post again, Become Sanford Wallace's love slave, Bust up your modem with a hammer and eat it, Have your medication adjusted, Go to the top of a building and attempt to defy gravity, Jump into a bathtub while holding bare wires plugged into a wall outlet, Actually post something relevant, Stick to FidoNet and come back when you've grown up, Apologize to everybody in this newsgroup, consume excrement and thus expire, Refrain from posting until you have a vague idea what you're doing.

In Closing, I'd Like to Say:

You need to seek psychiatric help, Take your gibberish somewhere else, F$%k Off!,
Learn how to post or get off the usenet, and go back to school and take a basic English/Grammar course.

I can't understand a thing that "Sloop" head says. He might as well be screaming at his farts. The boy is crazy. His POP over there behinfd bars in the pokey oughter talk to the Boy. "MOM" won't listen to him, she is too busy "working the streets" that is when she is not hootchey

Hello,

I have a heathkit hw-16 and Hg-10b vfo for sale or trade.
Both units are in good shape and work well. I have made several contacts on the set. The hw-16 is a 7 out of 10 has some age on the case. The face of it looks good all knobs and sockets,switches, meters are working and look good. I would like to get $100+shipping out of the set or trade for a 10 meter rig with cw. TNX for looking.

Well of course. You're stating the obvious. If someone has a driver's license but they don't drive, it would be trivial to say they are required to do nothing in regards to the driving laws. Sheesh.

True, if they remain off the air.

What categories are you referring to? 97.1(a), (b), (c), (d), and (e)? If you're saying that we have the option to pick and choose the principle areas within that stated "fundamental purpose" we wish participate in, you are quite mistaken. "Option" appears no where in S97.1.

>So far it seems to have worked fine, the >nonsense often seen on this NG to the contrary.

97.1 Basis and purpose.
The rules and regulations in this Part are designed to provide an amateur radio service having a fundamental purpose as expressed in the following principles:

(a) Recognition and enhancement of the value of the amateur service to the public as a voluntary noncommercial communication service, particularly with respect to providing emergency communications.
(b) Continuation and extension of the amateur's proven ability to contribute to the advancement of the radio art.
(c) Encouragement and improvement of the amateur service through rules which provide for advancing skills in both the communications and technical phases of the art.
(d) Expansion of the existing reservoir within the amateur radio service of trained operators, technicians, and electronics experts.
(e) Continuation and extension of the amateur's unique ability to enhance international goodwill.

I will give you ONE CHANCE to retract what you said about me, W4NTI. I am not a "shill" for Rich, or anyone. The filters he designed and built work exactly as advertised. I have no reason to ask for my money back. I made the comments about these filters under my own volition.

Because then, if your heard on the air or seen at a hamfest we could point and say, "that's the moron who is preoccupied with the daily activities of WB2OTK" then we could all laugh at you.

There are plenty here who have opinions different from mine, I've never had anyone call me on the phone, start a personal attack or anything remotely close to that. On the other hand if my posts consisted of constant name calling, spamming, and derogatory remarks (as opposed to sharing an opposing view on a subject) then yes you might have a problem.

> And by > some chance you can find out my address and phone number using this

Of course names and call signs are not required, however keeping with the theme of amateur radio many do use a name in their address or sign the post with a name and call sign. I do it because if someone were to see me at a swap I'd welcome the opportunity to meet someone who I may have had a discussion with on the news group. If their opinions differed from mine I'd enjoy the opportunity to sit down and discuss them over coffee. Many (but certainly not all) who post anonymously do it so they can post garbage, name call, make derogatory remarks without the fear of someone finding out who they are. If you have this sort of fear then perhaps you should re-evaluate the tone and style of your posts. Get it?

> This forum is the same as posting a note on the > town oak tree. If you want to sign it fine, if not that is OK too.
> Think about it.

Yep, and much like the note posted on the town oak tree that says "for a good time call 555-1212" anonymous posts have little to no credibility. Not unlike your posts come to think of it. You made a comment in a previous post about OTK selling "bogus filters" Did you ever buy one? Do you know of anyone who did and didn't have it work? If so who was it? I have not seen a single post by a person who purchased one. Did he ever actually sell one? Do you know? You don't, I know it and you know it, but of course you don't have stand behind your name because you don't have one. :)

That's the difference in a nutshell getback.

I have the Alinco rig and am very satisfied with it. The function buttons for selecting T/R delay, sidetone offsets etc seem to be easy to get to without referencing a manual. Tech America now has them for $599 I think. Of course you don't get 2m or 440 with it but for the difference in price you can buy a separate 2m/440MHz SSB rig. Which is what I prefer anyway. I also run the rig mobile and it performs very well. My only complaint is the PL is dip switch selectable underneath the radio although newer versions may have changed this, and for 6m/10m FM repeaters you need to set up both VFO's for the approprate split, it has no automatic offset (at least that I have found). Other than that it has worked flawlessly. I have heard of nor experience ANY software bugs or glitches with this rig although I have heard the other two have had thier share but I can not comment on those specifically. I have also done an easy mod to the rig which allows for TX over 1.6 to about 60MHz with a small gap around 35MHz makes for a nice signal generator if your into experimenting and homebrewing.

Here's a challenge for your filtering programs.
Let's find out who's the "champion" at weak signals.

I've posted a .wav file at:

http://www.arc5.com/yesraw.wav

Buried in this noisy recording is the word "yes," whispered three times. There are also other voices buried in the noise.

Just for fun, see how much you can pull out of it and let us know what you find.

Solar flux of 248 today, is record for this Cycle. K index at the moment of 1, A of 14 -- heck, the bands should be hopping today and tonight. Heard long paths fairly loud today. But, Aurora activity (level 4 and 5 today) is indicating some polar absorbtion.

I've added the aurora level report to the eAlert that I offer. The eAlert seems to be a popular service -- I have had a large number of new subscribers.

Do you wish to be alerted when Solar Flux, A index, or the K index figures change? Don't want to carry around a radio tuned to WWV, etc.?

I have a alpha-numeric pager that I can email. I know others have cell phones with the same feature. And yet others read email all day long.

So, I created an automated e-report with the WWV report. This email is only sent when one of the three figures change.

If you wish to subscribe to this e-report, visit http://hfradio.org, and go to the propagation center. There you will find a form that allows you to submit your email address to the list.

Also, I am offering free web pages on the domain hfradio.org -- if you need a place to hang your hat, please consider creating your homepage at http://hfradio.org -- already have some taking up the offer... why not you? Free, after all. No ugly watermark images floating about, or obnoxious banner windows popping up every time you move around.

Need a place for your club website? Your special dx-pedition? Your homepage? Simply fill out the form off of the main page at http://hfradio.org/

Your page address would be http://hfradio.org/yourcallsign/ -- and you can have an email address alias of yourcallsign@hfradio.org. Free. For non-commercial ham sites only. If you need a commercial site, or need custom solutions, let me know with the online form.

And, of course, as always you can create azimuth maps centered on your QTH (or any QTH, for that matter), check dx, propagation, or swap and shop. And more. At the http://hfradio.org site.

Hope I meet you on the air. I hang out on 20, 15, and 10.

Very well put Tim, and of course totally accurate. I am not ashamed of what I post here. Because it is the truth. I am proud of my call and have no problem posting it along with my comments, as you do also. But, I must mention that you are trying to talk sense into a grown man (?) that spent the better part of the 90s jamming on 20 meters. The only reason he is now using a call on the air, is he got caught AGAIN and the FCC told his to straighten up. He prefered the name "Polly" and only recently is DEMANDING to be called George. That is because the FCC again caught him. This time making his stupid comments, AND PLAYING THE HARMONICA. So, forget it. The fool obviously qualifies for a section 8 from life.

In your mind, how does one abuse the 1st amendment? By simply practicing their freedom of speech? Or maybe by saying things that you don't like to hear?

>If I had my way these hams would lose the citizenship, maybe even be

That would be a great punishment for the jammers. I would also confiscate the jammer's equipment and give it away to the jammer's victims (the Liberty Net in this case) as compensation for many years of jamming .... after the equipment has been de-loused and sterilized of course.

We've learned to just ignore his liberal ramblings.

While on the subject of real names, if you plan on becoming licensed anytime soon, consider using your real name here and elsewhere. Amateur radio attempts to be a gentlemanly pursuit, offers open discussion and debate, but sneers at people who hide behind silly CB lingo.

AUGUST 30TH, A VERY IMPORTANT DATE (Two items).....
1) OPDX's official proof reader (ed. my wife's) birthday. I want to wish her "ANOTHER wonderful 29th birthday" (ed. Hey, this great being married to a younger woman who never ages). Birthday wishes can be sent to: linda@barf80.nshore.org

2) Closer To A Possible New Entity - The "New York Times" reports: "East Timor faces moment of truth in vote". On August 30th, "the people of East Timor will vote on a referendum that could lead it into a new era of freedom and reconciliation or one of even fiercer civil war. The referendum offers a choice between independence or an autonomous relationship with Indonesia."

1999 "HILLVIEW GARDENS" BORNEO DXPEDITION. Bob, N2OO/9M6OO, announced that a 3 week DXpedition partially sponsored by the Hillview Gardens Resort has been set for November, 1999. The list of operators are: Bob Schenck, N2OO/9M6OO (DXpedition leader); Jani Kusmulyana, YB0US/ NM6US/9M6US (Hardware engineer); Mike Mraz, N6MZ; Tom Harrell, N4XP and Paul Newberry, N4PN. Operations are scheduled to include activity from three different DXCC entities/countries. Schedule is as follows:
November 7-11th - 9M6AAC Hillview Gardens, Sabah, East Malaysia
November 12-18th - 9M6OO Layang-Layang Island, Spratly Islands
November 18-21st - The team will be attending the SEANET Convention in Brunei
November 21-25th - V8(???) Brunei (TBA)
November 25-29th - 9M6AAC Hillview Gardens, Sabah, East Malaysia. The team expects to be an entry in the CQWW CW Contest.

Operators N2OO and N4PN.
Currently, 3 or 4 stations are being planned for the 9M6OO operation.
QSL 9M6AAC and 9M6OO via N2OO, Bob Schenck, PO Box 345, Tuckerton, NJ 08087-0345, USA. V85 callsign TBA. A special Web site is being set up and shall be maintained with regular updates and photos during the operation at: http://www.qsl.net/n2oo However, during the 9M6OO "Spratly" activity there is no InterNet access available and regular updates will not take place. Currently, there are no plans for a log search. Contributions for this DXpedition would be most appreciated. Contact point for this DXpedition is Bob Schenck, N2OO, and he can be E-mailed at: n2oo@arrl.net or via mail: Bob Schenck, N2OO, 5W, WESTERN SAMOA. Gerard, PA3AXU, will be active again (on SSB, CW, RTTY and possibly PSK31) as 5W0GD between September 28th and October 14th. QSL via home call (G.A.M.C. Dijkers, Dokter P.A. Cornethof 3, 6669AZ Dodewaard, The Netherlands).

DID YOU HAVE FUN DURING THE INTERNATIONAL LIGHTHOUSE/LIGHTSHIP WEEKEND?
Dates for next year's event will be from 0001z on Saturday, August 19th, until 2359z on Sunday, August 20th, 2000.

FK, NEW CALEDONIA. Dany, F5CW (ex-FT5ZB and J28EI), is now active as FK/F5CW, and he is waiting for a FK8V(??) callsign. He will be there for the next 2 years. There has been some 17 meters activty. QSL via F5PED.

FO, FRENCH POLYNESIA. The "DX News Letter" reports that Patrick, FO5QS (ex FO8DT, FR7CE, F6ESW), now lives on Huahine Island (OC-067) for the next several months and is on the air between 14120 and 14150 kHz almost daily from 0500-0800z. His new QSL address is: Patrick Freys, Box 643, F-98731 Fare, Huahine, French Polynesia.

FR5/G, GLORIOSO ISLANDS. The "Les Nouvelles DX" reports that Gil/F5NOD, Eric/F5PXT, Larry/F5PYI and Erwann/F6JJX will be active from here next year in August. This may be a long wait, but many will be happy to hear this announcement since this DXCC entity is ranked 9th on the most wanted list. The group may also visit some different FH island.

HP, PANAMA. Ernesto/HP1EFR and Mari/HP1EGV (XYL) have just started using PSK31. No QSNs have been reported but keep looking. QSL via CBA/QRZ or Bureau.

IOTA NEWS.....
POSSIBLE NEW IOTAS. Pat, F6BLQ/9Q (ex-TU5DX, 5N0T) Dem. Rep. of Congo's ARAC Committee Advisor, reports that Roger Balister, G3KMA, RSGB IOTA Manager, gives an indication that following 9Q islands may be potential IOTA targets:
Monpanga Isl 06.01S 12.35E
Ilot des Pecheurs 06.01S 12.25E
Rosa Isl 06.00S 12.27E

Zungu Kia Kambula Isl 06.01S 12.35E
Pat in Kinshasa states any operator willing to put these "ever first new ones" on the air is already granted a one week free B+B at his house when stopping by Kinshasa on their way to those spots. Caution: He recommends you have a secure 9Q licence before paying your airfare!

EU-048. Paul, F6CXV, will be on vacation on Groix island from September 5-24th. Look for him to use the callsign TM0G between September 10-23th.
NA-201. Oscar, HK6DOS, reports that the DXpedition to Key Breton Island, originally scheduled to begin this past weekend, has been postponed due to hurricanes in the area. It has been rescheduled for the week of December 1-6th, 1999.

OC-212. A group of VKs will be activating Broughton Island October 1-4th. They plan on operating 80-10 meters CW/SSB. The last time this island was activated was in 1992. The opeators will be using there own call signs signing portable. The QSL route has not been finalized at this point.

KH2, GUAM. John, K4ANA, now active as KH2/K4ANA has been quite active this past week on 20/30/40 meters CW between 1030 and 1230z. He will be here for the next three years. Meanwhile, the DXNL reports that Gus, KH2/K4SXT, is listening for Europe, Africa and the Middle East on 1824 kHz daily from 1950-2010z. We have also seen reports that he has been active between 1030-1130z.

NEW NRAU CHAIRMAN. Frank Smith, AH0W/OH2LVG, reports that DXpeditioner Jari Jussila, OH2BU, was just elected for a three year term as Chairman of the Nordic Radio Amateur Union (NRAU), which represents Scandinavian amateurs (OH, SM, LA, OZ, TF and OY). Jari was one of the operators of the recent 3B9R DXpedition and leader of the record breaking 4J1FS DXpeditions. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Finnish Amateur Radio League and served two full terms as that League's Chairman. He also has served in a number of leadership capacities in the IARU.

OH0 & OJ0, ALAND ISLAND AND MARKET REEF (Update/Excerpts From A Press Release). Dennis, K7BV, reports that he will arrive on OH0 Monday, September 13th at 2030z. He will be joined by Ari, OH1EH, will go immediately to the OH0Z super station. They will combine their gear and set up for a one-night "multi-multi" operating on 80 and 160 throughout the night until sunrise. Their frequencies will be on or close to 3512 and 1827 kHz. Some SSB may be attempted if conditions are favorable. On Tuesday morning, Dennis will board a helicopter (along with Seppo/OH1VR and Lars/OH0RJ) for OJ0 Market Reef, weather permitting. They will begin operating a few hours later after the antennas are up and the stations are put together. Look for Dennis to sign OJ0/K7BV from September 14-20th.
Also, look for OJ0 activity in the SAC Contest. They will leave the reef Monday, September 20th at 0800z. This operation was made possible thanks to the financial support from the NCDXF and Top Band enthusiasts organized by W6PBI, K6RK and K3SX. This is K7BV's second trip of the year to Market Reef, and he will place heavy emphasis on the 160 and 80 meters. QSL all OH0/OJ0/K7BV QSOs via KU9C. OH0Z QSLs go to OH1EH. QSL printing for the earlier trip was held until outcome of planning for this trip was known. The printer is preparing the cards now, and SASE requests should be in the mail very soon. Operating frequencies, details of the trip and photos of the May trip are posted on the Web site: http:www.qth.com/k7bv/PSK31 CONTEST. This contest is sponsored by the Chautauqua County Contest Club and it will take place between 0000z and 2359z on September 4th.

QSL INFO AND NEWS......
QSL cards for the GB2MUL operation from the Lighthouse Station on Mull of Kintyre can be sent through the bureau in the usual way or direct to Jim, GI0DVU, at his callbook address. All callbooks from the last 4 years are correct. All QSL cards received via the bureau or received without the appropriate postage will be returned via the bureau (when time permits).

Dianna, KB6NAN, reports that she is now the new QSL Manager for the following callsigns: JY4NE, JY4NE/OD5, E44A and ZC6A (Ali Yashruti was operator on all operations). KB6NAN's QSL address is: Dianna R. Killeen, P.O. Box 911, Pescadero, CA 94060-0911.

Eric Vancraenbroeck, ON7RN, reports that he is now the QSL manager for: OT6P, OT7P, OT8P and OT9P. He states that QSLs are ok via the bureau or direct.

QSL route for VP8LGT active during the Lighthouse/Lightship weekend is via direct to VP8LP - address is: Bob McLeod, PO Box 474, 75 Davis Street, Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Stan, OK1JR, informs OPDX that more than 1500 direct QSLs were mailed (as promised before the end of August) for his 5N0MSV, 5N99MSV and 5N0/OK1JR operation. He also mentions that some 2500 QSLs have been sent through the bureau and he will continue to send cards through the bureau as received.

SPECIAL AWARD/CONTEST/EVENT. The Polish Short Wave Operators Association in Gdansk announces that several special stations will be active and an award will be available in commemorating the "60th Anniversary of Defense of the Polish Coast" between September 1st and October 2nd. This activity commemorates the ground and naval actions related to the Defensive Warfare in 1939, especially at the Reinfoced Area of Hel Penisula, Oksywie, Polish Postal Office in Gdansk and other units that offered resistance. October 2nd was the date the Reinforced Area of Hel Penisula had surrendered. This contest will be held for all HF and VHF bands, especially 80 and 40 meters.
For award eligibility stations ouside of the Polish area:
DX stations contacts must includes at least two QSOs or any European station shall be at least three QSOs with any of the special event stations that will operate from the following National Memorial Places:

3Z60H from Hel Penisula QSL Manager SP2FJN
3Z60O from Oksywie QSL Manager SP2HJN
3Z60P from the Museum of the Polish Post Office Gdansk
QSL Manager SP2AYC
3Z60W from Westerplatte QSL Manager SP2BNJ
3Z0BLY from the Destroyer Museum "ORP Blyskawica"
QSL Manager SP2PMW
3Z0MDL from the NAval Aquadron in Puck, QSL Manager SP2UUU

The cost of the award is 12 (PLN) for Polish operators and 3 USD or 3 IRC for all foreign stations. Requests for the award must be confirmed by two operators and should be submited with payment to: SP2FJN.

SPECIAL EVENT. Look for station K3T to be active to celebrate "Wellsboro Rail Days" October 9-17th. K3T will be on all bands 160-10 meters both CW and Phone modes. Operation will be from Wellsboro, PA (Tioga Co.), and will be active during the PA QSO Party. QSL w/SASE to: Steven Kerns/ K3T, PO Box 344, Douglassville, PA 19518.

SPECIAL EVENT, Look for UE0JX to be active from September 1st through November 30th. The special event station is to commemorate the 120th anniversary of Zeya city. QSL via DIRECT to RA0JX: Vladimir I. Babynin, P.O.BOX 1, ZEYA-3, AMURSKAYA OBL.676200, RUSSIA.

SW2, GREECE. Savas, SV2AEL, will again activate the special callsign SW2A during the WAE SSB and CQWW SSB Contests. QSL via P.O. Box 22013, Thessaloniki - 55310 - Greece. Also, the logs for SW2A (WPX SSB), SV2AEL/SV8 (IOTA EU-052), J48ISL (IOTA EU-49) and SX2T-SX2THE (1997) will be available at: http://www.qsl.net/sv2ael/

TF, ICELAND. Just a quick reminder (please refer to OPDX.415). Look for Bob, W2SF, to be active as W2SF/TF until September 6th. Activity will be on CW/SSB/RTTY. QSL to his home callsign.

TK, CORSICA. Look for Jack to continue to sign TK/F6FGY and stay on the island until September 10th. His activity has been RTTY on 20 meters.

TU, IVORY COAST. Look for Laurent, F4ATM, to be active as TU2/F4ATM from September 7-17th. He will use a TS-850 and a 14AVQ vertical antenna.

XX9, MACAO. Tomio, JM3DTY, will be active from here as XX9TUP beginning the evening of September 3rd and operate until September 13th. Activity will be on 20/15/10 and 6 meters (50.130). If spaces permit, he will be on the lower bands. Operations will be on SSB/CW/FM/RTTY/PSK31 (all 200 watts PEP). Tomio plans to participate in either the "All Asian DX Phone Contest (September 4-5th) and the WAE DX Phone Contest (September 11-12th). QSL via the Bureau or direct to JL3VUL: Hideki Noma, 15-15 Fujigadai, Himeji, 670-0066 JAPAN

YI, IRAQ. Look for the "German Arab Friends" to be active now through October 1st signing YI9DAF, YI9SEB, YI9JN, YI9MB, YI99BIF, YI/DJ2SX, YI/DH1YVI, YI/DL8ABO and YI/DD3VW. No other details were given.

ZD8V WILL GO QRT. Paul, ZD8V/KF4OOX, informed OPDX that he will now be going QRT from Ancension Island on September 15th and will return to his home back in Sharon, Pa. Paul states. "I will not be returning.... After 15 years of work down here I have had enough of it and need to leave and get a life back in the states."

Ham radio will not die. It's the only communications medium, outside of shouting, in which any two operators anywhere in the world, can communicate directly without using government or commercial services. Those same two operators don't even need to purchase commercially-built radios -- they can build them themselves.

BTW, your prediction is older than you are: In "...1922 many radio magazines which had catered to the transmitting amateur swung away from him, one even so far as to run an editorial ... prophesying the end of amateur radio." (From Fifty Years of ARRL.)

And the sad part is, they keep coming back for more.

I know the real reason for Polly's hatred of people smarter than him, it stems back to an incident in school where the entire class and the teacher laughed at him when he didn't know the answer to the question "Who's buried in Grant's Tomb?"

For Immediate Release
Monday, August 29, 1999:

Morse Mania version 1.5.1 has been released and is now available.

Morse Mania is a morse code tutor for the Macintosh. The software package helps you learn morse code at speeds ranging from 5 to 30 words per minute. Morse Mania is ideal for amateur (ham) radio operators who desire to learn or improve their morse code proficiency, especially in order to upgrade their license class.

This version fixes a bug which caused only the first letter of abbreviations to be sent.

Morse Mania is shareware. An uncrippled, fully functional copy of Morse Mania may be downloaded from the Morse Mania web site. The URL is http://www.blackcatsystems.com/software/morsemania.html

If the posters on alt.music.harmonica ever heard him "play, " they would punch their eardrums out with an ice pick.
I thought he was a "church elder," I wonder what his pastor would think of his unchristian like behavior.

I got a used 50ft. tower from a fellow and it is free standing. I dug a hole about 3ft x 3ft. 3ft deep. I put the tower up and poured 2,640 lbs of concrete in the hole. I know this is after the fact but, my question is does this sound like a sound tower installation?

Hi,

I am installing an HF transceiver in my 94 Ford Explorer. I would like to connect a power cable between the car battery and the transceiver, but I could not find an existing firewall holes. I guess that I have to drill a hole close to a brake pedal for the power cable.

Does anybody know if there is an existing hole or any tips? Any advice will be appreciated.

Thanks,
Toru

Not so fast there, Volz. Contact his pastor? Cut a little slack here. These fundamental baptist churches and institutes run a wide gamut. Overall they are strongly pro-Israel and do not condone profanity, etc. But we cannot categorically say they are all the same. They vary widely. I feel qualified to say this, as I spent 23 years in Greenville, SC, the hotbed of "fighting fundametalism. The place is thick with fundamental baptist churches.

While they are outwardly "conservative", you find one here and there that does not fit the norm. Like the one outside of Atlanta where the "pastor" developed a fondness for prostitutes several years back. (Yep, a real case of "Swaggart-itis.) It was a huge "independent fundamental pre-millineal" baptist church with a large institute where they trained "preachers". Had a huge ad in "Sword of the Lord" every month.

So while profanity and anti-semitism may look out of character for people of this persuasion, don't automatically assume it's always off-limits to the Scofield-thumpers. Usually so but not always. Sure as you assume it's true across the board, you may get surprised by the occasional whore-hopper or anti-semite.

As for the "indepentent fundamental pre-millineal" baptist church outside Atlanta (Decatur), the "pastor" was caught, his wife divorced him, the church dwindled down to a fraction of its former size and they had closed the "institute". All's well that ends thatta way. Not entirely unlike the "indenepdent fundamental pre-millineal" baptist church in Hammond, Indiana where the pastor's son was a staff member at the church. The son, "Doctor Dave" came down with a severe case of "moral failure" also.

I could rattle on and on but you get the picture. Given that, go for it. Who knows where it will lead.

Not only does it originate from Cape Cod, it has lots of clues that I am not Burt. Check the headers and my home pages.

Hmm, e-mail out is OK but not in. Sort of a one way attitude.

5781. Help locate antenna program

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

Message-ID: <37C93EB1.19906E06@ismi.net>

I need help locating a computer program. The program may have originally been on one of the early 90's Buckmaster CD's. Some of you may be interested in the program and hoping someone knows of the program. I have lost track of it and would like to find it again. The program had several functions, but the one I used and liked did the following: Start the program, tune your receiver to a signal or beacon, rotate beam antenna from stop to stop (360 deg), At the end of the rotation the program would display on screen a picture of the antenna receive pattern. As I find the receive pattern is very close to the transmit pattern in most cases, the program was very useful. The only connection needed was to connect receive audio to the computer soundcard. I have no idea of the program name or who wrote it. Sure hope one of you knows. Please drop me a note if you can help. Thanks, Bill, KG8AW

Hello and thanks for reading this plea for help.
I upgraded to Windows 98 a couple of months back and changed hard drives at same time so lost my Turbolog program in the process.
No problem, I thought, Have the disk and a backup of my files.
I have recently tried to install Turbolo (version 2.15) onto my PC, but after unzipping the files onto my hard drive and typing install as instructed by the manual, I get the message:
"runtime error 200 at 0498:0091"
and nothing else happens.

I am doing this in DOS, anyone got any suggestions as to whats going wrong or do you know of ant=y logbook programs which i can import my turbolog files into?

Hey numbskull....the formula is P over IxE, which would equate to:

I= E/R and for you Ill make it easier.... Current equals Voltage Divided by Resistance. Got it now fool? But then what do you expect from a grandfathered conditional.

Whoopee, Dimbo's been licensed ONLY about a couple of years more than me.
I'm halfway through studying for my Advanced, unlike Dimbo, who stagnates and apparently is happy with that situation. But, that's alright, let him stick his nose in where it doesn't belong, he's such an _active_ham.

Who out there is posting in here and posing as the one and only "Getback"?
I am "Getback". the one and only, disregard any posts by the person who is posting under my famous handle. God will get you if you continue to do it. I have to go to the barn office to check and see if the grooms have fed my polo ponys, will be back later.

I think you were one of the hams in previous threads who would do anything to keep your license, weren't you, Dave ?

Some of us don't live in ham radio world and like our bank accounts to be our bank accounts. We don't live to blab into a mic, the FCC and ARRL's soon-to-be fatal mistake.

When the numbers plummet because of over regulation, they can all go beserk in a hurricane.

I'm not the one sending pleas for help with license renewals for something the White House then tells the media "ain't gonna happen."

You just might be a red neck ham if----

You think the international morse code is made up of three characters,dit,dah and duh

Your dipole doubles as a clothes line.

You tape a flashlight to your beam so you can tell where it's pointed.

Your Pickup has more antennas than hub caps.

Your mobile rig is worth more money than your pickup.

You fry grits on the heat sink on your rig.

Your daughters hair do ever got tangled in your antenna rotor.

Your mobile had more cracked windows than you have characters in your call sign.

Your coon dog glows in the dark because the stake for his chain doubles as a ground rod.

Your ht is shorted out because the kid tried to play with the rubber ducky in the tub.

Your kid sleeps on the trailer floor because his bed springs are loaded up and hanging in a tree.

The statement is we dont need nazis or jammers.It could be argued that we don't "need" ham radio.Most of what we do is just trivia and small talk. I have not heard any nazis but plenty of jammers.I regularly monitor the liberty net.The beer and ball game crowd is so lulled to sleep that they cant tell a patriot from a nazi.

Rich is definatley not a Nazi,nor is he a racist.Abrasive at times yes. It just grates the hams who are part of the great mass of non thinking American sheeple when anyone discusses anything of substance.

Its the new brain washed way of life in the US.The quickest way to anger the American sheeple is provoke them into thought

I expect OTK to be back when the restriction time period is lifted.

There does not appear to be any reason to revoke his ticket.No reason why not!

I would sure hope that the FCC would in the future require a letter sent by registered mail and noterized to cancel a ticket.

As much character assasination,lies,and orchistrated complaints that have come from this contoversy should drive home the point that the FCC must be sure of the ligitimacy of such a letter. Intersting to speculate if this went to court and by discovery these complaints would have to be identified. Interesting law suit!!!

They also should track complaints to see if such an organized orchistration is going on as it has here.

What the heck is this???
One who would give up liberty for safty deserves neither!

Who will dicide what we in the amateur community talk about? Who will say whats legal and whats illeagal to talk about?
You mean if some black clown acts like a foolish idoit I'm not alowed to talk about it but if a white guy acts like a complete idoit I'm allowed to talk about that. WHAT THE HELL IS THAT!
In all honesty I don't think the FCC has the right to say what we of the amateur community talk about. I don't think I have A problem with enforcing profanty laws but I'm not in favor of them telling me I got to like a race of people that in its self is racisum. I think that they need to stay out of this one.
Race has been a problem since the begining of time! Communications ast of 1936 says that the FCC can't interfear with free speech.

Do not even think about climbing that tower.

Search around for the web site of Unarco-Rohn. If you can't find them on the WWW, they have ads in the ham magazines. Write or call them and ask for their book on tower installation -- will cost about $10.00 In there you will find the technical specs for erecting towers -- size of hole, details of the rebar cage that goes inside the concrete, amount of concrete, guys, etc.

Jason .... PLEASE do not even think about getting up on that thing unless you have plenty of life insurance. I have a 50 foot free standing tower and have a 4 by 4 foot block that is about 7 feet deep and each leg is secured to a rebar that extends 4 feet down from the base of the hole. There are a lot of soil types but unless yours is solid rock ... stay off of it. There are a lot of considerations in putting up a tower and the paramont one is safety. The wind load of the tower and antenna-rotor and feeds present quite a load moment to the base. Put 5 lbs on the end of a 3 foot stick and see how long you can hold it straight out. My suggestion is to cover that block of concrete with some dirt and plant strawberries then dig a proper sized hole. I hope that you are not reading this from the hospital. God Bless and 73

Hermann is a German name, it actually stems from the word Arminius, which word means a Germanian (Germ - anian) soldier.

Oh, I'm Swedish by birth... like 30% of the Finnish population. Every traffic sign in Finland is written in two languages, 1) Finnish and 2) Swedish, for this reason.

See the American jewish author Isaac Bashevitsh Singer's book Enemies, a Love Story, the main character of the book is Herman Broder... There was one time when I wondered if the author wants to say "Hermann Cain".

Of course, this is not really too much of a surprise.

>Oll "Sloop" will post about fifteen or sixteen posts with old headers,

Obviously, YOU don't know a damn thing about posting to a newsgroup, Polly.
Using old headers is a "followup post." New threads are most certainly allowed, otherwise you wouldn't have anyplace to hide when you avoid all of the followups to your tedious posts.

>Looks like to me that "Sloop" Wiseman is so dumb can't think up new >stuff so he has to "rehash" every one elses.

PKB. All of your posts have been a variation upon a redundant, boring theme. At least I know not to post from one account with another handle. Then, when caught, try to blame the person who caught you for it. Of course, you never did have any class.

>As for his little twerpy sidekick "Slong" W4NTI he is just a tag a long

Maybe it's because the truth hurts you so much, Polly.

> Getback says " I=ER,

STUPID.
Ohm's law is the mathematical expression of the relationship between:
voltage (E), current (I), resistance (R), and power (P).
Here are the Ohm's law formulas:
I= E/R, E=IR, R=E/I, P=IE, I=P/E, E=P/I, P=I squared R, I= the square root of P/R, R=P/ I squared, P= E squared/R, E= the square root of PR, R= E squared /P

Now, If you want to try to impress a new ham, learn the theory and know what the hell you are talking about.

>Study hard you new amateurs and get that >ticket , thirteen words CW per minute is no sweat"..

Especially if you "pay" for it like Polly did.

Remember George Ashley, when I came back on the forum from Alabama, after a few weeks off due to the move from Ohio....YOU JUMPED ME THE VERY FIRST DAY. So A-hole....YOU HIT THE ROAD...YOU STARTED IT.

Jason:

Oh, it's a "sound" installation alright, and that sound is a "crash".

Hopefully you already have an antenna up there because you probably shouldnt climb it, and also hopefully, the antenna is very small.

You have a base about 1/8 of the size (cu ft) you probably should. You might want to consider re-doing the installation. Guying is unlikely to be a good option at this point. Not only would you have to climb the tower, but most free-standing towers are not designed for guying and a high wind load on a guyed free-standing tower could bring it down.

I would suggest trying to put in some temporary guying if you have to climb it, however.

Yeah, right. You just got rid of your 8088, didn't you? In a way, I suppose you're right. You have obviously been voicing your totally uninformed, ill-educated opinion long before now. And since I'm OLDER than you are agewise, it's doubtful that you have done anything before I have, mewling.

You made unwarranted assumptions. You posted a "news article" without bothering to do basic research. Have your medication adjusted, Bent boy.

It's not ME that's always talking about penis wrinkles, limp-wristed Brent. It sounds like you're more than familiar with them. I guess it must be from all those steers in Tex-ASS.

Go to http://www.qsl.net/dk5ci/ and download MorseCat by DK5CI
A free Windows Morse trainer for beginners and experts, runs on Windows 3.1, 95, & 98. With speeds of (5 to 120 wpm) indicated in words or letters per minute plus you can hook up your key to the #1 joystick button and 'send' code to your PC.

He did the same thing on the radio. After the "word" was stuck down his beak by certain folks in Gettysburg. Here lately he "demands" to be called George. Guess he figures NOONE WILL REMEMBER. Wrong again birdbrain.

"Slong" Jeswald is taking up too much room on this forum with silly posts, none of them about amateur radio.
Report this misconduct to abuse@deja.com CC to stop the moron.

This apparent alliance is dependent upon several issues:

1) The general availability of misc 80-Proof liquid libation in the rum locker
2) The specific Moon phase cycle (see notes)
3) The Date of the Month (see notes)
4) Proper tuning of amplifiers to reduce unwanted stray sidebands (see notes)
5) Any combination of the above four.

Last evening's performance was quite amusing. The only thing which would have proved more humorous would be to drop a pack of firecrackers into a cluster of unsuspecting alley cats.

Hi everyone. I've got an old PYE VHF repeater with the TX final stage power transistor dead. The transistor is a TPW2330. I haven not been able to find it anywhere.
Please, if someone has ever replaced one, let me know where can I find it or which other transistor can be place instead of it.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH

Roger you are beating a dead horse if your trying to teach Polly anything. He can't even understand spoken english, let alone written.
He is doing here EXACTLY what he did for years on HF radio. Just not understand what is being said. I told him to leave me alone on 3901 and I would leave him alone. Did he do so? NOOooooo. I've told him to leave me alone here on this forum and I would do the same.. Did he do so? NOoooooooo. I rest my case. YOU JUST CAIN't FIX STUPID.

Polly is George Ashley, W4FQF of Memphis Tn fame. He has since moved out to someplace called fishkill, I think. Ruth made him operate out of a horse barn, because she got sick of hearing him act like a fool on the radio. He is the famous 20 meter birdbrain, that yelled "Herby number 1" on top, in between, through, under, etc. on-going amateur radio conversations for about 5 years. That is until he "came clean" when 3 seperate, and independent amateur radio groups converged on his hovel in Memphis, at the same time. It was quite a show on 20 that day. Amazingly he then suddenly appears with his Polly Parrot voice, the same stupid statements, and screaming "HERBY NUMBER 1", of course.
But this time, using his callsign. For years folks wondered where the harmonica "music" came from, well we had that answered about a year back when Polly announced to anyone listening that he was going to play a "tune" on his new "mouth organ".

Recently, it is rumored, the Friendly Candy Company had reason to send him some corospondence. Something about conduct unbecoming, malicious interference, etc. But this has not been verified. But what has happened is the birdbrain has ceased his malicious jamming of 3901. That's progress. Anything else you would like to know about this vermin?

5882. What is a SLONG?

I have been biting my tongue lately, trying to keep my post's down a bit. In deference to those that actually want to use this forum the way it is intended. But I must get this answered.

WHAT IS A SLONG? Is it a song with a lisp? Is it a butchered version of Siamese and they mean phalong? Or is it some new word created by the depraved rantings of a drunken Memphis moron?

I discovered earlier that the translation from "slopehead" became "sloop head". Although I have difficulty understanding the connection between someone with a slightly disfigured head, and a one masted boat. Perhap's the creater of these strangly incoherent words could help me translate these words and phrases, preferably into common english, if possible.

Now Polly birdbrain, and your sidekick CLAYMORE MINE, go back to your corner and suck your little thumbs. My dog has a better command of the language than you. He at least understands "stay".

Well, while some guys prepare for Hurricane Dennis to possibly hit our beloved Chesapeake region, those guys up nawth will be hacking away on 3830 tonite at 9.

Yup, plotting and planning, conniving for their next ARRL-issued award.

Telling their town councils all the good they do in times of emergency, and why that justifies 120 footers.

Guess, what ? It's the guys with batteries, RVs, wires and Outbackers who do the emergency comms, not the contest crowd.

Field Day doesn't count; it's a contest. In a emergency you don't put up a 75 foot tower. You start a generator.

I invite any contester to declare himself available for the hurricane, should he be needed, to prove the group wrong. The only issue is, "59 Q R ZED ?" recordings won't cut it. Nor will your CW skills from your NTS days in the 1970's.

The vast majority of those who check in to the Liberty Net are responsible, intelligent, and well-mannered. It is the jammers of the Net who routinely violate the amateur rules and the rules of civilized behavior, to say nothing of the rules of the English language.

The Net existed for some twenty-three years without any significant problems, until a few individuals, in 1992, set out to maliciously interfere with it.

Your suggestion that Net participants be murdered is totally uncalled for.

Gratuitous insult ignored.

With all good wishes,

Dan is on his leash lately trying to behave himself to the best of his ability. But as fate would have it Dan will regress back into the foxhole and repeat his performance of, " I WANT TO KILL". I really liked Dan when he was "Porky's" pal on 75 meters and his favorite reply was, "That's Right Rich". Hey Dan, where is your favorite jammer Rich now ??? While he has been put into the RILEY kennel for safe boarding there is still a stray on the loose. Lets all make sure that Dan gets the medication that works best , Jack Daniels.

Doc,

Are you willing to discuss what is about to happen between us? I will pay for the cost of the telephone call. It has to be cheaper than the lawyer's fees. My phone number has not changed: 1-765-675-2072

You may call collect, if you prefer.

I have been advised to make one last attempt at resolving our problem outside the court system. Are you willing?

Sincerely,

martin

Marty,
I think you have some nuts and bolts loose upstairs. Did you really think I was going to make trouble for you in the work place and in your temple or church or someplace else in your community? Get real. And do you think your lawyer scared me off? Get real again. I'm now going to go into some detail.
First off,the only rat lousy enough to CALL a house of worship and lodge a FORMAL VERBAL complaint against a congregant is Lennie Schaier, K2IVX . After speaking to my rabbi, I had a damned good case against the guy and was seriously thinking of going after him litigiously. He intentionally tried to hurt my impeccable reputation in this city and how in God's name I sat down with this creep for lunch with KE9RY and XYL Barbara is a testament to my patience. I had to hold in the contempt I felt for the sneak and the only reason I lunched with him was because I didn't want to hurt Tom and Barb's feelings. To now stay on topic, I did report KV4FZ to several organizations, newspapers, radio stations, Senators....you name them. And I did the same to that idiot Mike Galego,KA4MUJ and I did lodge formal complaints and did begin litigation againt Walter Miller,W2YEE as well. Now why did I go after them earnestly but not you? Because I really like you?Hell no; I can't stand you.
Because I was afraid of your lawyer if indeed you have one? Absolutely not.
There was just one reason and still is. I COULD NOT PRESENT A TAPE OF BLATANT W9XN RACISM AND/OR ANTI-SEMITISM as I could regarding Herbie, Mike and Walter.
In fact, the tape I had of W2YEE had something to do with racism but tangentially. It was one of his possibly drunken defamation of character shticks regarding my dental practice from 1967-1989. Believe me, I had a very good case but after he called my lawyer and pleaded with him to get off his case, I told counsel to lay off before he had a stroke. I'm serious about this Marty: if I had had a tape recording of anti-Semitism or defamation of character out of you, I would have plastered you from one end of Indiana to the other. But only a fool would bring into the backyard of a nemesis anything resembling assumption, speculation etc. You simply are too clever to present your hatreds VERBALLY and once again, that is why I wrote no one in your area about Martin Chittum. Had I, without concrete irrefutable proof, I would have put myself in harm's way and why bother my son with defending me? Lord knows he has enough work to do. And as long as I'm levelling with you, there are a few things I want to get across. Based on your e-mails, there is a possibility that you attend a temple rather than a church in the Tipton area. And there is a possibility that you may have been Jewish and converted to your father's faith. And without a doubt I see that you are familiar with Jewish customs, traditions, holidays, and the Old Testament as well. In light of the obvious, then why don't you tell me, instead of evading it as you've been doing, what you're doing associated with the likes of anti-Semitic vermin such as N0VFP, KV4FZ and their ilk? Isn't that incongruous? Is that not embarrassing for you? Why is your BARF website dedicated to the WW2 German military in light of the fact that so many Americans were killed and wounded by them? Are you okay upstairs? Do you think you're being cute by being obnoxious? I've heard of things being non sequitur but the image you present vis a vis your Jewish background is one for the books. No Marty, I don't want to talk to you even at your expense. I have absolutely no use for you since I consider you to be a liar, sneak and troublemaker. For years you've masqueraded as a sworn enemy of KV4FZ, KA4MUJ and other hatemongers while in reality you simply stabbed friends in the back. As I said before, I'd sooner shake hands with KV4FZ and seek reprochement than with you. Yes, KV4FZ's thinking is antithetical to mine but he's a consistent enemy. Herbie may be a lot of things but NOT two-faced. You, on the other hand, can't make that statement. You are one treacherous individual for whom I have no respect whatsoever. The lies and deceit that have surrounded you for a decade are living proof of my catagorization of W9XN. Are you a bigot, an anti-Semite? Not outwardly. I can't prove it but I do know this: you support such persons and silence in the face of injustice is INJUSTICE. Maybe you have hidden reasons explaining why you have allied yourself with ham radio low lifes; maybe it's psychologically motivated? Maybe to you the irrational is rational? I don't know. Perhaps you're too complex to understand? However there's no doubt in my mind, based on empiricism, that you cannot be trusted by even those who would like to. And so go and play with your sociopathic comrades on your horrible BARF forum. Go take joy in your repulsive, hideous and highly insulting BARF website. And incidentally, remove me from your membership in BARF or whatever I'm in that allows me to post messages on your board. That's because I want nothing to do with you or your parasites who hang out there. You are a pathetic excuse for a human being. Case closed!

You are so correct Getback. When I listen to POMPOUS JW I almost puke in the floor. have you ever heard anyone who thought that they were so important ??? K2JW is only a legend in his own mind and has little to do these days since his favorite amateur WB2OTK has been taken off the air by Riley. Oll "Sloop" will post about fifteen or sixteen posts with old headers, and he will make a new thread. If you see KC8JBO message 1 after an old header, don't bother to read it. It is yesterdays old stuff.

Looks like to me that "Sloop" Wiseman is so dumb can't think up new stuff so he has to "rehash" every one elses.

As for his little twerpy sidekick "Slong" W4NTI he is just a tag a long suck yes boy to "Sloop" like he was to the cancelled WB2 OTK for many years.

Neither one of these two morons post according to the charter for this forum. It is to be used for amateur radio discussion and only that! So "SloopySlong. clean your act up!

I learned it in about 3 weeks using West's tapes and some old ARRL tapes. I passed the test with no problems. I looked at Quick Code but you have to memorize that code and Morse code both and I don't see how anyone could pass the test when you're trying to remember two codes at once especially at the faster speeds. You barely have time to write it down. I know some people who have though. West gives you an idea of what the test will be like and a sample test. If I were to do it again though I think I would try to learn it at 20 words.That way tests for 5 and 13 would be easy and 20 a possibility. Good luck!

5906. FCC Enforcement in Amateur Radio MYTH or REALITY?

From: n0vfp@aol.comnospam

Source record: 132413

Presented by Victor A. Misek, W1WCR

Where is the tape ???

I still have not received a copy of the (probably fraudulent) tape recording of the now famous May 1, 1999 incident in which I am accused by Riley Hollingsworth of starting a net "on top of" one of the most notorious jammers and slanderers in Amateur Radio (May 7 Letter). The identity of the "monitor" used to concoct Hollingsworth's accusation also remains a secret. Normal FCC procedure would name the monitoring station, a transcript of what took place and the call letters of the stations involved. All such information is still missing. Nor have I received a copy of the (perjurious ?) affidavit in which it is alleged that the jammer (monologing on frequency without signing his call) was actually in contact with someone. The jammer had for the last seven years involved himself in using tape recordings, noise, slander, physical threats and the concocting of phony stories to harrass people involved in conversations on or near 3950 kHz. He has been twice reported to the Hudson, NH Police for harrassing my wife by telephone and making telephone threats. He has also been reported to the FCC dozens of times by many aggrieved individuals with no enforcement resulting. The score remains: Apologies zero, Enforcement zero.

The "Self Policing" Ping-pong Game

The FCC regularly referred all persons with jamming complaints to the ARRL, declaring that they were instructed to operate under a doctrine called Self Policing whereby the ARRL would "take care" of the complaint. When contacted, the ARRL would then declare that they had no legal authority to enforce the Rules and Regulations. This TWEEDLE-DUM-TWEEDLE-DEE relationship eventually resulted in the chaotic jamming, slander, rule breaking, music playing, white noise, goofy electronic noise, etc. which resulted in the much trumpeted re-organization of the FCC. From the total anarchy of self policing we now have evolved into an entirely new concept of selective enforcement whereby Soviet-style jamming is permitted against those considered by the Thought Police to be Politically Incorrect. This is a very inventive way to achieve Censorship which is otherwise forbidden by Section 326 . Therefore let us examine the background of the Inventor.

Yes, friends, there is an Inventor!

The Hammer Award
What, no Sickle?

In 1994, Riley Hollingsworth received VP Al Gore's Hammer Award for Reinventing Government. He made his mark auctioning off parts of the radio frequency spectrum to special interests. In reporting the award, the media failed to explain the Hammer-Gore relationship after which the award is named. Armand

Hammer was the notorious Stalinist chairman and CEO of Occidental Petroleum and personal friend of a long list of Soviet dictators. Hammer funded many large-scale industrial projects in the Soviet Union, was a personal friend of Al Gore's father and the source of much of the Gore family's wealth. Armand Hammer's father founded the Communist Party USA.

I bring this information into the discussion because the jamming of radio stations was invented and developed to a fine art in the Soviet Union. Here in the United States the government is forbidden by law from running jamming stations, therefore an inventive solution to the their problem is to allow third party jammers to run loose to do what the government once did in the Soviet Union. (Could this be called the privatization of jamming?) This inventive solution was already in place long before Riley Hollingsworth appeared on the scene. I know because I and many others have been subjected to jamming, slander, concocted stories, lies, physical threats and death threats from radio thugs of various stripes for the last seven years. The Soviet-style jamming of radio stations has been reinvented in the United States and the inventors await their Hammer Award.

The only thing fraudulent was the complaints by the libnet Gang. They seen an opportunity and thought that they could take advantage of it by filing fraudulent complaints. That FACT has been PROVEN out.
NOW what they, and YOU are attempting to do is to discredit Riley, The FCC, and the decisions made "based on evidence."
It's all just sour grapes on the part of the wanna be anarchists - Libnet gang and YOU. Riley hasn't taken any action against the libnet gang - yet! Why would they continue the defamation and propaganda?

Both sides must be put out of business. If the FCC will not put the

The jammers are easier to stop. Clear crime to prosecute.

What did you do for the re-bar cage?

What did you do for the tower leg anchors?

the weight of the pier is secondary to it's ability to resist shifting.

Who are you calling a newbie? I've been doing this long before you knew what cyber space and amateur radio were! As for penis wrinkles being a taste, If you had a penis you might know the true definition.

My point is this. In newsgroups we use what are called threads. You have an original post and then all replies thread off of it. If you reply to a reply, then your new post threads off of it. This being true, it is easy for anyone with any reading skills to follow the flow of the posts. This is about the only News Group that really tolerates leaving the original text in threads. Here's how it looks:

Post A PostB
PostC
Post D

Post A is the original post. The author of post B thinks that the author of postA is a penis wrinkle and tells him so. The author of postC thinks that the author of postB best fits the definition of penis wrinkle and he tells him so. Meanwhile the author of postD likes the ideas in postA and he says so in his post which threads back to postA not C or B. If you have problems following that, you need some help.

There is an existing hole in the firewall on the passenger side, peel back the carpet, there is an existing cable going through the hole but if you pull the cable to one side you can easily get two more lines of 6 gauge wire to pull through. I managed to get the fuse connectors through the hole but with much more effort than I planned.

I am sitting here this evening, contemplating my naval, and wondering why it is this NG is full of so many flakes. You know the ones I mean....Polly (George) Parrot (Ashley), W4FQF. And his sidekick Billy Jack (Claymore mine) Moore, W4LLI. I guess I should consider contemplating something simple, like...is there a GOD, why is Red called Red, how many beans are there in a can of Mexican refried beans. You know, important stuff like that. Lately I am getting to feel real bad about myself here. I feel as if I'm trouncing on some poor defenseless urchin that is ill prepared to do battle. But then again, it can also be called "pay back is a Mo Fo". Considering how much crap they dished out on 3901 over the years.

It is unfortunate that Claymore and Polly can't turn up the ole KW and talk local, on top of on-going qso's on 3901, like they did every single night for at least 3 years. The ONLY time the frequency was clear of jamming, was when they both went to Dayton. Gee Wiz....what a coincidence eh? But here they are limited to just using words. And compaired to ANYONE else here, they are at a severe disadvantage. I even had a pleasant qso with them down on 3894.5 a month or so back. I was trying to make a peaceful overture towards both George and Billy. Until K4OKA showed up, that is. He promptly tole me to "Hit the road". This is before he decided to jam the Alabama traffic net frequency with the "Portbutt" song. We ALL KNOW the result of that. Rileygotcha, yes he did. Course this isn't the first time poor Al got hit by the FCC. Several years back when he was K4OKA for the first time, he turned in his ticket because the FCC sat in front of his house and recorded his jamming of a lady on 75. Strange how old habits are hard to break.

Speaking of the bopsie twins, did anyone ever wonder how old Billy Jerk...er Jack, got the nickname of "claymore"? Well one night a few years back, on 3965 he and Polly were busy jamming us, and Billy told us the story about how when he was a civilian wire stringer in RVN, he stepped on a claymore mine, but it didnt kill him. The not killing him part is not the strange part. It's the STEPPING ON A CLAYMORE MINE that is the crock. If you been there, you know. If you ain't then no sense in telling it. Of course we were not sure who this frog sounding jammer was for a long time. That is until we heard him and Polly on 3894.5 laughing about telling me that story. And using his call, of course. But then these two never got any awards for the brightest bulb on the Christmas tree you know.

I hear a lot of talk about how "the bands have cleared up since Rich is gone". Really? Then where is the constant music coming from on 14.313? How about the "Porkbutt song", written by KC3AU and played by Al Abernathy, K4OKA?. Let us also not forget "squeeky" who jammed Rich and I on countless evenings on 3901 and also on 20 meters. Oh right, Rich was jamming himself? I don't think so. And let us not forget the famous Kind Jewish Indian of 3.950 fame. You know the guy the feds busted with a 2 year HF restriction, then recanted based on "sworn testimony" of "listeners". Yeah right.....then why is this tape not available, and why is the "testimony" not available for public scrutiny? Surely this is not a on-going case, and thus not available is it? My oh my, what a tangled web we weave....can't wait until this thing hits the courts. Watch em go down like dominoes, right Vic?

I hear how the "Liberty Net" is full of NAZI's. In fact, I have even said that. That may or may not be true. But what is true is that the net, and it's participants, are being jammed, and have been jammed for at least 7 years, this go around, by that miscreant David Castle and his band of radio terrorists. Not unlike what the BARF/Stumpjumpers have done to me and my group. Interesting how groups of totally different philosophy's, the right wing BARF, and the obviously left wing Castle, resort to the same tactics to shut up the opposition. Sort of like when Hitler made a non aggression pact with Stalin. Very interesting indeed.

And while I'm rambling here ladies and gentlemen, how is it that Herb Schoenbohm, KV4FZ is being hung out to dry and having his license NOT RENEWED, and convicted child molesters and murderers serving prison terms can get their license's renewed? Sounds a bit incongruous to me. Yes I know...it was a communication law he broke. Right, give me a break.

I guess I am saying that this ole world of ours is a screwed up place. There probably is no answer to it all. Except possibly the heavy hand of government control. This of course opens up another can of worms. Marty may have a point, about this being the WACO of ham radio. Stay tuned, it's gotta get hotter.

In closing, this is my FINAL POST in the WAR OF WORDS. I decided to be a part of the solution on the air, and now I chose to be a part of the solution here on this NG. I declare Polly and Billy et al, the winner. The winner of what is the question. I reserve the privledge to comment on issues. The idiotic comments back and forth are over from this poster. Thanks to Marty Chittum, Doc, Rich, Herb and others for their input on this. I'll leave you all in the lurch trying to figure out what I said means.

73, and I hope this NG will eventually be usable for it's intended purpose.

Dan/W4NTI

"SCHLONG" Jeswald has had that nickname for as long as the people in his home town in Ohio Can remember. Now on this forum, he is denying it. I was told by a neighbor of his, (NAME WITHHELD), that he got this nickname from the ethnic class mates in the first grade . They came to this conclusion when they first layed eyes on him. They said "I never saw one with ears before".

The one and only Getback telling it like it is!!

Is your ham license worth these punks gaining your financial records on a Swiss cheese encrypted FCC server ? If it was on paper and not a server , that'd be fine; if there was a theft, we'd have a better idea where it came from. This applies to the IRSM who is plotting to force us to submit (note the word used) electronically soon.

Imagine this:

Status of Hams' privacy unclear

August 30, 1999
Web posted at: 7:02 p.m. EDT (2302 GMT)

By Lloyd Robin
CNN Interactive Senior Writer

(CNN) -- FCC's Web-based license service, and possibly the entire concept of free Internet transactions with government, suffered a damaging blow to its integrity Monday when a security breach came to light that made it so anyone's Social Security number could be read.

"I have a ULS account," said Adam an Atlanta computer specialist who monitors user groups frequented by hackers. "This scares the heck out of me. Now anybody and their brother can get my finanacial info, charge FCC fees to my account, and cancel my license."

Web-based government service has been a hot item for even Internet novices since it became popular in the past few years. It is free and can be used on any computer with a phone or cable line to the Internet. IRS's primary inspiration has been FCC.

The breach that surfaced Monday initially worked via several Web addresses, which simply prompted for a ULS username -- no password was needed. Once a username was entered, the ULS account appeared and the record was available.

Microsoft shut those Web sites down, but hackers posted other Web addresses later in the day that gave entry to accounts. A game of cat-and-mouse ensued, with Microsoft claiming to have won by shutting down all back doors and manually checking all FCC servers for unauthorized access.

David, a computer security researcher at UC Berkeley, called the incident "really embarrassing" for the FCC.

"I've always said don't use the internet anything that is at all personal because we have no idea if they have any commitment to security," he said. "Now I'd say we know they have no commitment to security."

His advice is simple: "Don't use the web for anything you would be embarrassed to see as a headline."

By the day's end, Microsoft vowed that the incident would not recur.

"With this update we made changes that would prevent this from happening again," said Deanna, lead product manager.

"There are always going to be hackers out there and you can't make guarantees but we do our best that people feel safe and secure using our products."

The FCC took at least several hours to respond

The exact cause of the breach remained unclear Monday, but it endured at least for several hours after Microsoft learned about it.

The company learned of the breach in the early hours Monday, Pacific Daylight Time, Sanford and Son said, via a report that originated in the Monday edition the Swedish newspaper Expressen.

The breaches via initial Web sites allowed CNN Interactive to open all accounts it tested through 11 a.m. EDT. By mid-day, most of the URLs or Web addresses that gave entry to ULS redirected users to a Microsoft security screen, returned an error message or returned "Forbidden" messages.

Later another URL gave access to accounts for about an hour in the afternoon. ULS remained active but Microsoft shut down that hole within minutes of receiving the address.

In all cases, the breach allowed users to read and change a licensee's records, and charge new fees.

The government has had trouble with security breaches in the past -- including one that allowed hackers to swipe passwords.

Bug or hack

Internet security experts put the blame at the feet of Microsoft, although the breach involved the work of hackers.

The trouble with federal-based web servers is users must trust a large company to store their private information, he said.

"It's a tempting site for hackers to hack. If they have one bug, if affects lots of people".

As ever, Internet privacy issue is muddy

A policy analyst with the Center for Democracy and Technology, said the security hole was troublesome because Web-based government services are a good solution for yuppies and businesses. But no server is totally secure, he said.

"There is a question of how secure you can make any... system," said, "especially if people are trying to hack it all the time."

At this point, there is no legal precedent to protect users from privacy violations, said David of the Electronic Privacy Information Center.

"It's not clear that a ULS user whose privacy has been compromised really has any recourse against government for what might be found to be negligent engineering of this feature," he said.

Based on what I'm hearing from different sources, despite Riley's dissatisfaction with W1WCR as "Gauleiter" of the Liberty Net which must rank as the classic misnomer in the annals of amateur radio nets plus his less than cordial reply to "SAGging" Al Parkyourcarcass's constant whining about David Castle, the "Saint of Evansville," the beat goes on. Those stinking miserable 3.950 bigots are still preaching racial and religious hatred contrariwise to the theory of good amateur practice because none has been suspended for a day. Yet, WB2OTK's call, due to a computer mistake by his wife, has not been reinstated in the FCC database while his suspension exists due primarily to a racially charged but quite innocent QSO with an AfroAmerican from Illinois having taken place BEFORE amnesty was granted which supposedly should have wiped the slate clean for all hams, who up to that time, had been looked upon with disfavor by the FCC. I understand Riley's insistence on using ham radio in the manner prescribed rather than proscribed by the 1934 Communications Act but shouldn't there be an uninterrupted link between insistence and consistence?

I have a ICOM 740 HF mobile rig for sale. I am asking $300.00 plus I'll split shipping. The rig comes with mic, power cord and manaul. I covers all the amateur radio bands including WARC. It puts out 100 watts SSB. The rig is good physical condition and I don't smoke. I'm the third owner of this rig. Drop me a line if you are interested.

Hello. I am going to install a station in my second story flat's attic. Here is the problem. The house is one of those 1940's houses with the 1940's wiring. All the plugs are the two prong type. Do you folks have any suggestions as to how to get good grounding for the attic area? If i drive a ground spike on the side of the house, am I not going to have problems due to the long ground length. Will simular problems be seen with the grounding of the antenna? Thanks in advance.

Sounds like you are a candidate for a retest.
Do you really have a ham license????
Maybe that's what NCI does to you....
Absolutely outrageous that you even ask such a question. Many CB operators know more...

5979. A Change Is Needed

The Extra license needs to be made a bigger challenge. There needs to be a PRACTICAL exam just like the FAA Airframe and Powerplant Mechanic license.

An applicant should be required to:

1.Demonstrate use of modern test equipment such as oscilloscope,spectrum analyzer,service monitor,RF generators,Bird power meters, frequency counter and the like.Since most service monitors are mickeymouse in the controls department on their spectrum analyzer and oscilloscope sections,actual scopes and spectrum analyzers will be needed.(Sample:Explain the difference between video bandwidth and resolution bandwidth.Show changes in display and how both are used.)

2.Solder through-hole and SMT board components and remove with appropriate equipment: panel and chassis soldering: soldering of cable connectors and proper dressout. Proper maintenance of equipment must be demonstrated as well.In addition crimp connections on common cable connectors must be demonstrated.All of the above to IEC/ISO-9002 specifications.

3.Demonstrate troubleshooting to the component level on AC and DC power supplies,RF and digital circuits.Applicant should have to be able to show all signal paths and power flow on representative equipment from schematic and successfully troubleshoot by signal injection,signal tracing,and comparison to known good units.

4.Build from scratch a working project (at the applicant's leisure,i.e. not in a supervised setting) showing basic RF and demodulated signal use,good construction technique,and packaging. Unit need not be elaborate or expensive but should show some usefulness or thought of purpose.Any circuit board used must be etched and drilled by applicant. (Other forms of construction acceptable,such as point-to-point on proper media or use of Ivanboard or drillstrip.Dead bug or push-in prototype board not acceptable.)

5.Finally,applicant needs to complete a service project designed to better his/her community of amateur radio operators in some way,such as publishing technical articles useful to the hobby,setting up repeater or packet facilities for emergency use,or writing and publishing open source software of some conceivable use to amateur radio: or participating in some actual operation to benefit the outside world at large (such as providing emergency services,et al.)

The 20 wpm code requirement should be done away with.
Additionally,Extra class amateurs should be allowed under strictly defined conditions to run more power.

Since all cell phone systems (except perhaps Iridium and Inmarsat) rely on terrestrial, ground based wire from the local telco for interconnecting their system, they have a nasty habit of going down during a fire, flood, hurricane, earthquake, etc. at exactly the same time as the fixed telephone network. For now, there is still a place for ham radio emergency service communications. After two more satellite communications go up....things could change again. Don't forget the value of the manpower in back of the ham radios. Would those people be there if their communications links were all commercial sat phones? I think many hams do the service because it utilizes their ham radio skills, not because they are disaster junkies.

This is proof that you are experiencing a serious case of dementia.
It's YOU that causes all the shit here. YOU are the Jammer. If anyone has any doubt just listen to the URL below to hear you in action. In fact you didn't even do a good job of jamming.

The A&P license is not a "superlative position" in the FAA,it's a license that many people get every year (some of them real dummies,I know this the hard way). The whole purpose of having an Amateur Extra license is to set a lofty goal.It should be a real bitch to get. That's it's whole reason for existence.

I worked for several years at a contract board house and we had a never-ending search for technicians.We were doing everything from VAX and DG Eclipse computer boards-the CPU was a board or two filled with registers and adders and gates,every opcode required piles of parts-to RF stuff for Mother M,Systron Donner, and all sorts of other companies. We would hire these Extra hams and usually they didn't have clue zero as to what we were doing. Good techs tended to come from certain specific backgrounds,military (submariners and Air Force missile guys) and civilian alike. You want the guy who has the Extra license to be someone the electronics industry is going to respect,the way hams in general were until the late sixties or so.

Also,Advanced and Extra ham tests should be given by contract companies,under bond,and there should be a realistic fee associated with the service. About $75 with the Advanced test (the A+ PC technician exam is $150) and in the case of the Extra,the practical is going to be expensive because they are going to have to have the stuff.Oh well.

Kudos to the man who disqualified JA DXer and licensing profiteer Zorro.

I'm shocked ARRL stood by and let this happen. After all, isn't Don Miller (CA #978678) still beloved by good buddy (do they have those in Finland ?) OH2BH and the DXCC desk ?

I thought they'd have issued a release that said:

NEWINGTON, CT- After much consideration, the New Orleans DX Convention has decided past actions outweigh present deeds and will give Zorro the DXer of the year award, despite his administration of ham exams for fun and profit and the surrender of his license.

Inspired by K1MAN, Zorro plans to sue the Japanese Telecom Ministry for 10 million yen for telling the truth, and will operate M/M from a bamboo cage in downtown Hiroshima in the ARRL NA CW Sprint.

Other operators will include UN/NWO mogul Martti Laine, friend to former terrorists everywhere, and several prison guards being paid by Zorro's QSL fund.

QSL with an SASE and 15 dollars U.S. drawn on a Swiss bank, to:

The ARRL is spoken of for both good and evil.Some say they want to pull out.

I would compare this to the conversations among many NRA members.Many members feel the NRA is too compromising and does not take the hard stands as we might wish.

Other groups are really good.GOA and LEAA all have good ideas.But no group has the muscle of the NRA.

For amateur radio the same is true.No group can muster the power of the ARRL.

IMHO the thing to do is stay in, support the ARRL and try to influence it in the direction you prefer.

I would like to here opinions on the best way to get ropes up into trees. I tried using a good sling shot to shoot a lead weight with 15# mono-filament fishing line over a 50 ft. poplar. The success rate is pretty low. What about bow and arrow? Do you use fishing line with this also?

One of the Elmers I've observed uses a slightly different method. He attaches a lead weight to fishing line on a fishing pole. He sling shots the line over the tree. He then ties the rope to the line and reels it in.

I have a ICOM 740 HF mobile rig for sale. I am asking $300.00 plus shipping. The rig comes with mic, power cord and manaul. I covers all the amateur radio bands including WARC. It puts out 100 watts SSB. The rig is good physical condition and I don't smoke. I'm the third owner of this rig. Drop me a line if you are interested.

6052. WA2EXQ, N1VLG, KT2I and the latest

The monitoring group is lucky to have a super set up to record and review this drivel in one brief sitting or we'd all be in a coma waiting for activity on the CB bands lately.

WA2EXQ- Declares he hopes a hurricane comes so all the "touristas" leave. This is from a guy who makes his money from gas stations. Just who buys the gas Lloyd, hmmmm ? You'll find out in another 45 days. Un momento, por favor. Esta correcto, su "mother in law" da muchas haciendas, no ? Dice que esta el chico mas favorito, no ? Si no hay mucho revoluciones, va a vivir alli, no ?

By the way, don't bother moving to Maine with Steve; you ought to see the traffic jams. And when we're there, we don't need to spend our retirement hearing your diatribes.

N1VLG- You are a 42 year old baby. The fact that you have no children but do have a dog you call "junior" validates this. You think 100 stitches in your leg is life threatening ? You're a horse's ass. You ought to know life threatening. Matroni's kidney stone doesn't cut it either. His wife might, if not for the fact she's 75. (Thanks for sharing the chemo details, Bob. It's not a damned telephone, you know)

Now that all of Southeastern Mass knows Steve fell through the CEO of Lycos' step (not that you ever said it, but we knew by your sudden silence), we'll push your stomach when we want to hear any more of your nausea. As we said before, you're a name dropping (Lycos, State Piglice, who's who among Bermuda drug-dealer hams, blah blah) has-been never-was. This injury has been enlightening for us all. We all laughed our asses o ff when you said you saw who your friends were. No, those are still just the people who need discounts on ceiling fans. Get a life.

KT2I- Stop going around telling everyone you need to wait a week, month or year before you can buy their used radios, but then asking if they'll hold them.

With your expensive house, 41 foot sailboat and your last radio purchase in 1976 (TS-520), you have some damned nerve, beggering from a man who doesn't own a house (Guy) yet.

W1KNW and W1TTY- We hit the lock out button and can't figure out how to unlock it. Good riddance, you're retired versions of N1VLG.

WQ1O- Give it up Frank, these people go around to drills with preconditions that they can't actually get to a real emergency ? What are they going to drills for then, to get away from their mothers (WA1KCC) and wives (KT2I) ?

I distinctly told "Bullchittum" I did not want to be a member of the "Bigoted Radio Discussion Group" and when I just "tuned in" to shake my head in dismay, I saw that I was still a member. Get me out of your lousy conglomerate of reprobates, Marty. Something else I noticed-there hasn't been any new messages in quite a while because of a few factors. The middle of the road intelligentsia pulled out way back when. I also stopped posting even when I could because it was a waste of time and effort and doubtful if anyone belonging to that group could comprehend my excellent English language skills anyway. And of course whom else in that group besides W9XN could and can render any semblance of intelligent prose? N0VFP? Anything he posts anywhere is scanned from one or more of his filthy radical rightwing magazines designed to foment hatred in this land. That explains why Lloyd is the Chief of Constipations in the B.A.R.F. He's full of bleep. Once again, "Wheezie," delete my name from your roster and keep it off. Neither that forum nor you serve any useful purpose.

Three cheers for you Anonmail. George Ashley hadn't the guts to I.D. on the air, therefore why should he suddenly change his M.O? How the Tennessee slimeball has escaped Riley's suspensions is beyond me? Mr.H. has been seeking out the major troublemakers and somehow overlooked that guy as well as the infamous KT4TR, "Badblood." I vividly recall the day on 20 when a mobile was right in "Polly's" neighborhood but the driver apparently had no knowledge of the garbage his Volunteer landsman had been tossing onto the band. Lo and behold, since W4FQF had no idea that someone was on top of him, he let go with a Creedence Clearwater Revival record; I think it was "Proud Mary." After a minute or two of the major infraction, the mobile came on to say, "Gosh, that music must be coming from so and so street because I'm right there and it's pinning me." Too bad that mobile wasn't an FCC man because of all the tramps aside from Herbie still on the air, W4FQF is numero uno and had it been the FCC, Georgie would have become numero cero.

Frizzle,

There is a channel on EfNet #hamradio

Would would be more than welcomed to stop in and visit us.

I'm one of the channels founders

I'll either be using my call: KD4OVM or my IRC Nick of Smokie

Tim Wright KD4OVM

and I do have my street address on my license.

The Extra license needs to be made a bigger challenge. There needs to be a PRACTICAL exam just like the FAA Airframe and Powerplant Mechanic license.

An applicant should be required to:

1.Demonstrate use of modern test equipment such as oscilloscope,spectrum analyzer,service monitor,RF generators,Bird power meters, frequency counter and the like.Since most service monitors are mickeymouse in the controls department on their spectrum analyzer and oscilloscope sections,actual scopes and spectrum analyzers will be needed.(Sample:Explain the difference between video bandwidth and resolution bandwidth.Show changes in display and how both are used.)

2.Solder through-hole and SMT board components and remove with appropriate equipment: panel and chassis soldering: soldering of cable connectors and proper dressout. Proper maintenance of equipment must be demonstrated as well.In addition crimp connections on common cable connectors must be demonstrated.All of the above to IEC/ISO-9002 specifications.

3.Demonstrate troubleshooting to the component level on AC and DC power supplies,RF and digital circuits.Applicant should have to be able to show all signal paths and power flow on representative equipment from schematic and successfully troubleshoot by signal injection,signal tracing,and comparison to known good units.

4.Build from scratch a working project (at the applicant's leisure,i.e. not in a supervised setting) showing basic RF and demodulated signal use,good construction technique,and packaging. Unit need not be elaborate or expensive but should show some usefulness or thought of purpose.Any circuit board used must be etched and drilled by applicant. (Other forms of construction acceptable,such as point-to-point on proper media or use of Ivanboard or drillstrip.Dead bug or push-in prototype board not acceptable.)

5.Finally,applicant needs to complete a service project designed to better his/her community of amateur radio operators in some way,such as publishing technical articles useful to the hobby,setting up repeater or packet facilities for emergency use,or writing and publishing open source software of some conceivable use to amateur radio: or participating in some actual operation to benefit the outside world at large (such as providing emergency services,et al.)

The 20 wpm code requirement should be done away with.
Additionally,Extra class amateurs should be allowed under strictly defined conditions to run more power.

<<Ray, you're off your rocker by equating an Extra with a superlative position in the FAA. What's neeeded is what I went through to pass it. TO TAKE IT BEFORE THE FCC. Toss out the corrupt VEC program-it stinks-it's been allowing garbage into our ranks for who knows how long? Since our rigs nowadays are no longer on the Heathkit scale by which a ham HAD to learn something by hands on work,more emphasis should be placed on rules and regs but your interpretation is equivalent to memorizing the entire Communications Law of 1934 and writing it backwards or in Urdu.

Here's the scoop. Dan is no bigot and neither is David. Dan wants free expression on amateur radio and so does David. Then where's the schism? Dan wants the Liberty Net left alone by Riley because he feels that raking it over the coals is an infringement on our Constitutional guarantees while David says to hell with the monsters. Now I like both of them and agree with both. How? I say give the 3.950s all the rights they deserve and then hang the bastards. That's known as liberal conservatism. I've gone over the issue with Dan many times and THEORETICALLY he's right "rah rah rah siss boom bah..go Bill of Rights." However what he refuses to understand is that Riley has invoked little known but important minutia out of the pages of that 1934 Communication Law stuff which says,"If you do something which detracts from the basic fundamentals of good amateur practice, your guaranteed shield of protection by the Bill of Rights turns into cellophane." In other words, there is no necessarily foolproof link between what Jefferson drafted and the FCC implements. Now is that totalitarianism? HELL NO despite what Danny says. It's method ,sanity and teeth to "FCC madness." Keep in mind that getting on the air is not the same as tallking to each other through two tin cans on opposite ends of a hank of string. THE WORLD HAS BEEN HEARING AND COMPLAINING about the poor practices on 20 and 75 meters and the U.S.A. is no island-we do not stand alone and have no more than ONE VOTE with the I.T.U. So why is it so hard for hams to realize that the FCC is not out to rob us of any Contitutional guarantees but to do THEIR job of maintaining order and discipline on the airwaves? From having written to Dan on this subject, my feeling is that he's far too liberal when it comes to the LibNet while I'm too conservative. You see how history makes for strange bedfellows? And David certainly hates the beasts as much as I and neither he nor Dan countenenaces the revolting and disturbing rhetoric which indeed classifies them as a hate group. David says "Blow them away" while Dan says they deserve to be but acording to our Bill of Rights, we MUST put up with them. My opinion? I'm leaving for breakfast.

Now I like both of them and agree with both. How? I say give the 3.950s all the rights they deserve and then hang the bastards. That's known as liberal conservatism. I've gone over the issue with Dan many times and THEORETICALLY he's right "rah rah rah siss boom bah..go Bill of Rights." However what he refuses to understand is that Riley has invoked little known but important minutia out of the pages of that 1934 Communication Law stuff which says,"If you do something which detracts from the basic fundamentals of good amateur practice, your guaranteed shield of protection by the Bill of Rights turns into cellophane." In other words, there is no necessarily foolproof link between what Jefferson drafted and the FCC implements. Now is that totalitarianism? HELL NO despite what Danny says. It's method ,sanity and teeth to "FCC madness." Keep in mind that getting on the air is not the same as tallking to each other through two tin cans on opposite ends of a hank of string. THE WORLD HAS BEEN HEARING AND COMPLAINING about the poor practices on 20 and 75 meters and the U.S.A. is no island-we do not stand alone and have no more than ONE VOTE with the I.T.U. So why is it so hard for hams to realize that the FCC is not out to rob us of any Contitutional guarantees but to do THEIR job of maintaining order and discipline on the airwaves? From having written to Dan on this subject, my feeling is that he's far too liberal when it comes to the LibNet while I'm too conservative. You see how history makes for strange bedfellows? And David certainly hates the beasts as much as I and neither he nor Dan countenenaces the revolting and disturbing rhetoric which indeed classifies them as a hate group. David says "Blow them away" while Dan says they deserve to be but acording to our Bill of Rights, we MUST put up with them. My opinion? I'm leaving for breakfast.

You got that right "RATTLER" OLE "SLOPEHEAD" Roger Wiseman KB8CJO is a prime qrmer on 14313 and don't think he hadn't been noticed by the one who "Counts". Just a little more time and he will be "HISTORY" like his Suckmaster "PORKBUTT", They need to take care of AF2Y "DR HATE" Charlie Swartzbard . He used to play "HITLER" tapes all day on 313. This has nothing to do with DXCC listing. It has to do with the actual name of an actual country. The people of that nation have chosen to call it SAMOA. Many years ago it was Western Samoa but no longer.
It was changed about two years ago, just befor I visited. Let us at least have the decency to call countries by their real name.

Hello,

I hope someone can help with this...I need to build a remote control with four channels in it...The thing is, that it must have about a one mile coverage...It is for a Carillon in a cemetary...The priest want to activate the Carillon for funeral toll from anywhere within the cemetary...I tried using a Futaba radio and two servos to hit four different realys to acivate certain features, but the distance was to far away and the servos went crazy...I can modify the design without a problem...I have thought of having the reciever and transmitter off of the same power supply and then using something to trigger a circuit in the transmitter...But I can not figure out how to get that distance...I tried some Radio Shack in house pagers, but I had four in this box and if I paged one, all of them would go off even though they are on different frequencies...Even if there was something that could transmit that distance and work those servos or trigger a little relay would be great...If any one can please help it would be greatly appreciated!!!

Thank you for your time,

Phil

Archery stores sell a device made by "The Game Tracker" company which consists of a fine yet strong (fiberglass?) string wound, in a complex pattern which allows low-friction unwinding, onto a spool, which fits loosely into a plastic case which can be bolted to a bow. The case has a small hole on one end, through which the string is fed. I suppose it's designed to allow a hunter to follow the string to his victim. But I use it to help me with antenna erection.

I never bothered to mount the case to my bow -- I just bolted it to a wide plastic disc which serves as a stable base, and set it on the ground.

The string is tied to a small hole drilled in a cheap arrow, which is weighted by taping a bolt near the point end.

The string feeds freely as the arrow is fired, and forms an arc over the tree.

This system, with which I use an inexpensive non-compound bow, works great for trees up to about 65 feet or so. The string is used to haul up lightweight rope, which can then be used to haul up heavier rope if desired. The skinny dacron stuff will last for four years or more, even in windy Minnesota, if not chewed by squirrels.

For trees over 65 feet, you might want to try a compound bow or a crossbow. The latter will easily do twice that height.

If your neighbors can see your property, it might be good to explain your purpose beforehand so they don't think you've been sharing mushrooms with K5ZU.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

I've had good luck swinging the lead weight and about 3-4 feet of the line in a (vertical plane) circle a few times, then letting go of the line just at the right time. The line then flies nicely over the tree limb. I've never been successful using a sling shot.

FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log

HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee VICTOR A. MISEK, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written Misek to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that MISEK's STATION and MEMBERS OF THE GROUP for which he was acting as net control
 "began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress."
In his response, supplied upon request to the FCC, Misek told the FCC that other stations had yielded the frequency to the net on May 1 and that he's been "diligent in avoiding starting the net 'on top' of ongoing communications" and often moves the net to another frequency where "the jammers stalk us." Misek also has requested a copy of a tape recording supplied to the FCC that Hollingsworth used in deciding to rescind a license modification that would have kept David Castle, WA9KJI, off the HF bands for two years (see "FCC Withdraws License Modification" elsewhere on the AWE news page). Hollingsworth also had asked Misek to justify the Liberty Net's use of Amateur Radio frequencies and said the FCC "cannot tolerate deliberate jamming among licensees, including retaliatory jamming." Misek declined to justify the net's existence, citing no legal requirement in Part 97 to do so. Misek said the net was a forum "to discuss current events and other subjects," and he asked the FCC to "review perceived problems of which I am not aware, so that the net can be brought into compliance should there be a problem."

Well of course you have to take precautions; you have a habit of calling folks derogatory names. If you'd act in a gentlemanly manner, debate and discuss as you'd do in person, inject a bit of humor, offer an enemy a beer as a peace offering, you too could sign your name and callsign without fear.

Some people like horseback riding, others do not.

The fundamental question is if we should require people to demonstrate proficiency in horseback riding before they can earn a license to drive a car.

Hi Rick,

Most of the systems, while they seem to still go down, are interconnected via microwave nowdays.

I am stiil trying to use/learn Morse, even though I lothe it. Had some guy blurting 60 wpm characters on top of my QSO on 7.145, some manners.

My thoughts are that CW has a place in the service, just not a front and

MICHIGAN HAM ORDERED TO SURRENDER HIS LICENSE FOR CANCELLATION

Amateur Radio Newsline is reporting that Michigan ham Andrew Penn, N8JVA, has been ordered by the FCC to turn in his license for cancellation, after being charged with falsifying amateur radio exam paperwork. Penn served as a VE in the Oak Park, Michigan area.

Apparently, the FCC has already suspended Penn's license for the remainder of its term, and will designate him for a revocation hearing.

Penn does have the option to appear at a hearing before an Administrative Law Judge, but he must decide within twenty days of August 18th.

Editor's Note: I have known Andy for over a year and a half, and talked with him many, many times on a local repeater in the Fenton, Michigan area. This news comes as a shock to me, as I can honestly say that Andy is not the type of person that would do this. I certainly hope that this issue can be resolved, and I would also hope that these allegations against him are false.

CRIMINAL SENTENCE IN UNLICENSED RADIO BROADCASTING CASE UPHELD
In an August 19 press release, the FCC says that the criminal convictions against a Florida man for unlicensed radio broadcasting will stand.

Arthur "Lonnie" Kobres was convicted in February 1998 after continuing to broadcast shortwave programs on 96.7 MHz, from November 1995 through September 1997, after the Commission had warned him several times to cease operation.

The FCC, with the help of dozens of armed federal agents, raided Kobres' house last year, and seized or destroyed $30,000 worth of his radio equipment. As part of his sentence, Kobres was ordered to serve six months of home detention ("house arrest") and fined $7,500.

Visit http://www.fcc.gov/Bureaus/Compliance/News_Releases/1999/nrci9023.pdf to read the press release in full. You will need Adobe Acrobat. Also, visit http://www.kobres.com/, Kobres' personal web site, and get his perspective on this situation.

Editor's Note: Well, I also know Lonnie, and support him in his cause. Lonnie is also a fellow amateur radio operator, K4FWJ, and holds an Extra class license.

Digital Communications Conference Set for Late September
The 18th Annual ARRL and TAPR Digital Communications Conference gets under way in just a few weeks, but Conference Manager Steve Stroh, N8GNJ, is already champing at the bit.

"It is the most fun conference that I go to -- bar none," Stroh says. The "DCC" as it's called is being held Friday through Sunday, September 24-26, 1999, in Phoenix, Arizona. Tucson Amateur Packet Radio's Greg Jones, WD5IVD, will chair this year's event. For the second year, the Tokyo Packet Radio Users Group will serve as international co-host for the conference.

The DCC offers an international forum for beginners and veterans in digital communications, networking, and related technologies to meet, publish their work, and present new ideas and techniques for discussion. Presenters and attendees have the opportunity to exchange ideas and learn about recent hardware and software advances, theories, experimental results, and practical applications.

For most who attend, the DCC is where they learn about the cutting-edge technological topics facing communications in general and Amateur Radio in particular. "It is what I term the research and development conference for Amateur Radio digital communications," Stroh says. "There's an awful lot of discussion on the leading-edge topics of Amateur Radio," Stroh says, pointing out that the DCC is where he got his baptism in spread spectrum technology. Other topics that often come up include the Automatic Position Reporting System -- APRS -- as well as digital networking and HF digital communication.

For full information on the conference and accommodations, contact Tucson Amateur Packet Radio, 8987-309 E Tanque Verde Rd #337, Tucson, AZ 85749-9399; tel 940-383-0000, fax 940-566-2544; tapr@tapr.org; http://www.tapr.org/dcc. Registration before September 1 is $42. Late registration or at the door is $47. Conference registration includes Conference Proceedings, Saturday sessions/meetings, and lunch. The Saturday banquet is $22.

As Steve Stroh puts it: "In a word, it's fun, it's a lot of fun."

The Weekly DX Report
We start with news of the major all-mode, all-band DXpedition to Clipperton Island is due to take place from the 26th of February to the 15th of March 2000. Clipperton Island counts as NA-011 for the RSGB Islands on the Air Award Programme. The motor vessel for the voyage has been chartered and the licence and landing permit have been issued. A multinational team of operators is being gathered, and plans are to have six stations active from two operating camps. Financial assistance is needed to offset the high costs of the DXpedition, and donations can be sent to: N7CQQ Amateur Radio Club, at PO Box 81, Searchlight, Nevada 89046, USA. For further information contact John Kennon, N7CQQ, at e-mail address: n7cqq@laughlin.net.

Other DX News: 9M2TO will be active from Redang Island between the 28th and the 31st of August, on all bands mainly CW. This counts as AS-073 for the RSGB Islands on the Air Awards Programme. QSL to JA0DMV via the Bureau, or direct to 9M2TO.

CE6TBN/P plans to be active from Quinchao Island until the 31st of August on 10, 12, 15, 17 and 20 metres, CW, SSB and RTTY. This counts as SA-018 for IOTA. QSL via CE6TBN.

DJ2MX/P is operational from Fehmarn Island between the 29th of August and the 4th of September. This counts as EU-128 for IOTA. QSL via home call, either direct or through the bureau.

DX Report information is taken each week from the Radio Society of Great Britain.

Amateur Radio Contests and Events
Visit the ARRL Contest Calendar at http://www.arrl.org/contests/ for the latest on upcoming amateur radio contests. For information on upcoming hamfests and events, visit http://www.arrl.org/hamfests.html.

The North American Sprint, CW portion, sponsored by the National Contest Journal, will run from 0000 to 0400-Z September 5; phone is 0000 to 0400-Z September 12. Sprints are separate. Operate 80, 40, 20 only; North American stations work everyone; others work NA stations only. (ARRL)

The Labor Day CW Sprint, sponsored by the Michigan QRP Club, will run from 2300-Z September 6 to 0300-Z September 7. Operate CW only on 160, 80, 40, 20, 15, 10, or 6 meters. (ARRL)

If you know of an upcoming amateur radio contest or event, submit it to w8mmq@email.com, and we will include it in this section. Let us know at least a week in advance. Thanks!

Phil, assuming you need 4 outputs not 4 analog channels why not just use two of the new single channel family radio service hand helds? I think I saw them the other day in a wholesale store for around $56 for a pair! Now build a simple tone decoder for the recieve end something simple like a 567 etc. At the transmit end a simple tone generator using a 555 timer should do the trick. If the reciever is up in the air you should easily get a mile or more. Email me if you want specifics.

I suppose that if 50% of the vehicles on the road were horses, and you're sharing the road with them, then it might be a good idea to learn to ride one, or at least learn about them.

The fairy from Barre would just do the tube steak boogie. This so-called "credit report" on 610 Glen Haven Ave, just might be funny. Of course, I've only lived in the house 4 years. Zipper queen needs to get a life, or at least cut down on the RF experiments at "work."

This is the first in a Series.....

The purpose of this page is to inform the general public and amateur community about the tragedy, immorality, and criminality that is leading to the downfall of the greatest nation in the history of the world and that being The United States of America. Liberty Net supporters also want to expose the evil agenda of the spin doctors and puppet masters who want to destroy the United States and the god-given Constitution and Bill of Rights enjoyed by the people. We also want to expose the atrocities occuring in amateur radio by various undesirable and degenerate characters who have a political agenda and violate the rights of others in addition to the rules. Our grouping is not ran by any Liberty Net member or participants for those who would see this as a page created for the benefit of the Liberty Net. This page is not the creation of a lackey or group of lackeys like our dictatorial and conspiratorial enemies would have you believe. Unfortunately, there are those critics who see this page as a creation of the Liberty Net and its main participants. Their assumptions are incorrect and invalid and very misinformed. This page is not directed by or affiliated with any members of the Liberty Net. We are an independent group of individuals who want to show our support for the Liberty Net and its climate of free uncontrolled speech. Unfortunately, our critics and oppressors want to shut down all avenues of free speech and expression especially political speech. These anti-freedom groups and individuals try to do this by jamming radio frequencies. These nefarious characters also spam newsgroups and the email accounts of countless people for no legitimate reason. However, we will continue the fight against those forces of darkness who want to oppress the general public and amateur community into their global plantation in which rights will be granted by the state if any are granted. However, those rights will be severely limited and destroyed by our common enemies and oppressors who want to enslave our nation and its people in chains. Let's fight back and break free from these tyrants and their nefarious plans for our people.

Those are our objectives and we want your support to restore Constitutional freedoms and the Bill of Rights to their original intention. The Liberty Net does not support hatred toward any group except for those who are propagating their evil and anti-American system onto the people by deception and cunning trickery. However, the Liberty Net has been smeared as a hate group by various problematic characters whose lives reek of degeneracy, lies, agendas, and immorality. These individuals often have skeletons in their own closets as well as various misdeeds. Their actions are not only illegal but immoral and unjust while those hypocrites claim to be fighting for the public good. However, they are working for their own agenda which is contrary to the interest of informed and concerned individuals. Liberty Net supporters want to expose these characters to the fullest extent and show the world who the real haters and deceivers are. We need to expose their evil plans and agendas which are hell bent on destroying our nation and Constitutional guarantees of freedom. The Liberty Net does not want to overthrow the government but believes that we need to reform the government back to its original state. That original state was envisioned and acted upon by the Founding Fathers and signers of the Constitution. The Liberty Net group and resulting supporters want a reform of the system to remove the unneccessary, expensive, and unconstitutional bureaucracy which has grown tentacles during this century. The often illegal and unconstitutional bureaucracy has worked to usurp the rights of the people and to enslave them spiritually, economically, politically, socially, and mentally.

However, various unsavory forces and characters are working in unison to achieve their goals of an undemocratic socialist state that is anti-American and unconstitutional. The state would be much like the former Soviet Union, Red China, Vietnam, North Korea, or other dictatorships of the proletariat. The biggest killer of this century has not been disease or famine. The biggest killer has been at the hands of the state and at the hands of socialists and communists. These assorted socialists and communists have killed hundreds of millions of people just like you or me. For example, under Chairman Mao Zedong, Communist China is estimated to have killed 100 million of its own people between 1934 and 1971. Executions, forced labor, torture, godlessness, abortion, political murders, arrests, mass murder and genocide and worse are characteristics of these states. Who can forget the mass famine and murders which took place in the Ukraine and much of the USSR during the 1930's. This terror famine killed 30 to 40 million people and was largely responsible at the hands of the Soviet Communist leadership led by Josef Stalin. However, only the Jewish Holocaust is discussed in the general public while 6 million people were killed in Germany. Even the numbers of six million have been under debate for years by various people. Were not trying to downplay the effects of Hitler and the Nazi party but rather show that there have been much worse episodes during world history. However, international communism and socialism has killed far more than six million. The events in Germany during the 1930's and 1940's were not good for humanity either and we're not trying to downplay them. However, let's look at the toll which international communism and socialism has had on humanity. Hundreds of millions have under communist control and brutal dictatorships ruled by goons and social degenerates who are greedy and hate freedom.

In reality, a communist and a socialist are the same thing in true doctrine and belief. The main difference is that a communist uses violence and wants to achieve the socialism dreamed by Marx faster. Socialism takes time by usurping freedom by the use of methods in order to scare and concern the people into accepting government control. They often use the ruse of public safety by promising safety while cajoling the people to give up and increasing amount of rights until they totally achieve socialistic control over all aspects of human existence. Communists advocate violent revolution and purges to attain their goals while socialists try to use semi-democratic means such as mass media control and sham democracy in which voters lack a choice and a voice. Socialists and communists support the same thing and use nefarious means against the people in order to attain their goals of dictatorship of a few. They support state control of all facets of life including industry, agriculture, communications, transportation, social life, culture, and all other things that are free in the United States.

Now let's look at what comprises a hate group. The phrase hate group is used widely by the corporate controlled internationalist media as a way to smear the opposition. What they do is to smear a certain group in order to advance their own agenda which is often against the wishes of the people. They do this in order to scare the public and keep them from thinking uncontrolled thoughts that are not approved of by the Establishmentarian bureaucracy and its supporters. Let's look at why these unsavory individuals and groups are doing this to our nation and many others. Most are doing their smear campaigns and blacklisting in order to support their internationalist agendas. These agendas and ideas are contrary to the desires and wishes of people in the United States and across the world. These individuals are paid by various groups and individuals in order to control their thoughts and actions dealing with important facets of human life. The individuals who fund these programs include business tycoons, corporations, bankers, insurance companies, and other groups. In order to control the public mindset and keep the masses in line they have worked successfully to control the main molder of public opinion. That main organ of molding public opinion is called the mass media. The facts are that twelve of the largest corporations in the world control the American news media and resulting media organizations. For example, the Time Warner company owns CNN and other entertainment corporations. The pro-homosexual and degenerate Disney Corporation owns ABC Television and Radio as well theme parks, publishers, magazines, and other organs of public media. NBC is controlled by General Electric. CBS is controlled by a large armaments manufacturer which gets large government contracts for wars. More than a few wars have been fought for the benefit of the war contractors greedy gains knowingly by our supposed leaders. They sent your sons to slaughter fighting other peoples war. Does anyone see anything wrong with this picture? It looks to me that there is a high level of media concentration in television, radio, communcations, newspapers, periodicals, magazines, childrens books, adult books, and other communications media material. Therefore, we have a problem with a small group of corporations and individuals controlling the major places where the American people get their news and information. Is that why Shortwave and alternative communications are doing well in many fields. It shows that the American people in many cases are seeing through the walls that surround them and that is the corporate media. Is it no wonder that these people are in support of internationalism and other nefarious plans? Why is it that they call those opposed to their plans a hate group. It is a way of smearing the groups and using it as a scare tactic to the general public not to support these groups. These scare tactics are just like the current politcal correctness debates that have been going on for years. Political correctness is a violation of free speech and free though. In reality, political correctness does not benefit society because it disallows the people the right to think and say what they feel. That is a violation of the Constitution and Bill of Rights and is downright fascism and communism. However, these people who support political correctness are often supporters of liberal,communist, and socialist agendas which are detrimental to the well being and interests of the people.

Hey, Timmy

Then when the Liberty Netters are in a QSO, why are they always being jammed?
When they had the freqeuncy first???

I guess you can't answer that can you? I suppose you don't like what's being said by them, so it's ok for them to be jammed?

Archive-name: radio/personal-brief-introduction

In an effort help ensure a poster's article reaches the appropriate audience, below is a list of the rec.radio newsgroups. In most cases, a group's name will explain its purpose. Cross-posting should rarely be necessary.

rec.radio.broadcasting (devoted to the broadcast industry; moderated) rec.radio.cb rec.radio.info (periodic informational bulletins; moderated) rec.radio.scanner rec.radio.shortwave rec.radio.swap (for buying, selling, and trading; not a discussion group)

rec.radio.amateur.antenna rec.radio.amateur.boatanchors (tube-type communications equipment) rec.radio.amateur.digital.misc (packet, pactor and other digital modes) rec.radio.amateur.dx (long-distance amateur communications) rec.radio.amateur.equipment (questions, comments regarding commercially-built amateur gear; not for buying/selling) rec.radio.amateur.homebrew (devoted to home-building ham gear) rec.radio.amateur.policy (issues include code, restructuring, local restrictions in conflict with FCC R&R) rec.radio.amateur.space (satellites, meteor scatter, EME) rec.radio.amateur.misc (any topic not covered in the above groups)

(At least two other English language radio hierarchies exist, prefixed with "uk" (United Kingdom), and "aus" (Australia), in place of "rec.")

Again, cross-posting should rarely be necessary. Many times, a long-running thread results from a single cross-posted article, and its content drifts further and further away from being "on-topic" in the various NGs which receive each and every followup.

Hi All:

I recently bought a Kenwood TS-830s and matching VFO-230. However, it did not have the cable to connect the two.

So my question is: Does anyone have the pin-out to make a cable, or know where I can buy a cable?

Thanks in Advance,

ATTORNEY AT LAW
LET ME REPRESENT YOU BEFORE THE FCC
GRADUATE OF "NK4D" LAW SCHOOL

Now that "DR HATE" AF2Y. Charles Swartzbard has represented "PORKBUTT", WB2OTK, RICHARD WHITTEN. Then because of his "HELP", his advise led to the cancellation of PORKIES amateur license. He has decided to be a full time barrister. He joins some of his fellow "Goodfellows" in bestowing on himself pompous titles and diplomas. He now joins NK4D as a self appointed lawyer . NK4D said for years he was a lawyer until he was tracked down like a dog and had to admit he was a lying jackass. I guess now Dr Hate will be in contact with Riley Hollingsworth of the FCC, representing this group of miscreants called the "GOODFELLOWS.
Way to go morons, with "lawyers"? like AF2Y and NK4D representing you, you will all end up off the amateur bands. Keep representing them "CHUCKIE" we won't miss you group of thugs!! heh heh heh

Actually, the cretinous blob did receive a warning from the FCC some months ago, though that barely qualifies as "action."

For some unknown reason, _that_ warning never made it to the "enforcement newsline" or other PR sources, though Brain Less Bubba did mention it himself on the air several months ago.

Since the warning, Syphilis-mouth hasn't changed his _modus operandi_ in any significant way.

Another question which hasn't been addressed, as far as I know, is why Hollingsworth was apparently ccing private correspondence and malicious interference complaints to the Las Vegas jammer himself.

Curiouser and curiouser, as Alice would say.

Happy sunspots,

According to QST, Laine's expedition to E4, like his crooked expedition to P5, was, of course, approved at the "top".

In this case, by PA chief Yasser Arafat.

The man has had an amazing tendency over th years to use his neutral status to cavort with rogue entities. Note how many others have gotten high level approval ?

But what would we expect; he authored an article extolling DXer Don Miller, a convicted felon, as a great man...

NIST is beta testing the new version of the Atomic Web Clock.
If you would like to help test this new Java applet, please go to the following URL:

http://www.time.gov/index2.html

This is a beta testing process, so this URL may not always be on-line.
You must have a Java enabled browser in order to view the animated clock.
Please compare the time displayed by this clock with the time from another NIST source.
For example:

Audio Broadcasts from radio station WWV.
Radio controlled clocks that synchronize to radio station WWVB.
Computer clocks that are synchronized using the NIST ACTS software.
Time announcements by telephone: 303-499-7111.

If you find that the time displayed by this clock does not agree with one of these other sources within the accuracy stated below the clock, please send email to: davidlee@boulder.nist.gov.
(If you have a Java enabled browser and you cannot see the clock due to a Java error, I would like to know about it.)
Please provide the following information:

The name and version number of the computer operating systyem.
The name and version number of the browser software.
The accuracy stated below the time display above.
The source for comparison. (WWV, telephone, etc.)
The estimated time error.

Frequently I hear hams say, THE name HERE is_____.
How often do you say when you meet someone (assuming your name is Charlie), THE name HERE is Charlie? You never do that right? After to do so is so impersonal and asinine that you would not want to seem like a fool-then why do it on the air? Just because you are a ham is no excuse not to be personal. Of course you could really sound like THE jerk of the year by saying, THE first personal here is Charlie (at least if you are not personal-you are using the word-albeit it in an extremely impersonal way).
Also why say "here", is your name any different when you are "there?"

Finally why do so many hams have the same last name?
I have heard "Brad By-the-Way", Steve By-the-Way", Fred Steve By-the-Way", and many more of the "By-the-Way" family.

What does that have to do with code when all the people you are talking about can simply pick up a microphone?

| Why are you surprised? Everytime you connect your PC to your ISP, you're

You may laugh at this one but it works REAL good on the real tall trees, You take a golf ball and drill a hole through it (channellocks and drill press) Then you tie whatever line you prefer, I use 20 LB test mono on an old large Penn spinning reel, and then you whack it with a tennis racquet, thats right a tennis racquet. You can easily achieve over a hundred feet straight up, good luck.

Having a bad day, are we? :> I don't hear much CB stuff on 2 m where I live, but I don't hear much ham radio, either. Mostly it's talk about computers, but today I overheard three guys discussing high-end audio equipment. 10-4?

Agreed. The term "handle" is and always was a HAM term and refers to one's name. The CB'ers latched on to it and gave it a bad name.Who uses there real handle on CB? I do.

You know that no matter what representation, those represented will make total ASSES of themselves, so that even a "EXPERIENCED" attorney would be flogged in a courtroom with any of those losers anyway. So why go with experience.....I'm sure AF2Y is cheaper.....

6199. The Truth is What they Fear Most (FCC, Liberty)

Let's get one thing straight first. The people at Waco in 1993 were nuts. Loons, crackpots. But unfortunately they were US citizens.

Similarly, the reason why much of the Waco data "flowed" through Hillary Clinton's office is she was consulting her astrologer for advice on how to play the "game", and whether there were indeed "Great Men" present at the time.

The nut doesn't fall far from the siege.

A confidential source in the present Administration has communicated to the group that a certain man nicknamed the "Enforcer" by a national organization in Newington, has conspired to allow the Liberty Net jamming to continue unabated.

Why ? The reasoning given by W1WCR is indeed the answer given by the source. Insructions came from the lower levels of the Executive not to assist. For several years, the Liberty Net has conveyed the truth of the matter, a truth the Democratically controlled FCC was not about to assist in the propagation of.

A truth all the more feared by the government because it could hurt the Party amongst both the comon man, and the loathed lunatic fringe.

Unfortunately, many undesirables (both "jammers" and supporters) associate with the honest people of the Liberty Net. Many hundreds more are simply SWLs. This has contributed to a fear (yet let's not overdo it) by lower level Executive staffers of the 3950 coterie as an "alternative media outlet."

You can use a bow and arrow with line and forget the fishing reel you'll be told to use by others.

Just put a roll of line on the ground in the clear.

You need not use tips if you have any aim whatsoever.

Why, are they issuing TINs and usurping the SSA ? (I know, no)

But they do want to babysit those who are contemplating it. Getting worried ? Poor ULS turn out so far ?

I can see why some of you end up in the agencies you end up in and others of us end up in other places you don't even know exist.

The issue is not giving FCC your SSN for paper records. If you give FCC your SSN, they will be the only agency with it sitting on a server for anyone to get at. See an interactive ATF gun database anywhere on the internet ? See an FAA run interactive pilot database ?
==========
The FCC now has requested that applicants needing to obtain an Assigned Taxpayer Identification Number or having other "administrative" questions about the ULS contact the FCC Call Center, toll-free, at 888-CALL FCC (225-5322) and press menu item 2 (those calling from outside the US should dial +1-202-418-0190).

Any amateurs who aren't whining "gimme it now" yuppies notice that no one addressed the question ?

I said nothing about handle as a term.

I said "first personal." And contrary to the 2 Meter Children's Band dolt who implied it's a ham term, when the Demokratic FCC gives you HF, you'll find no one says "first personal".

Get a clue, anal retentive weasles.

And I hit a nerve, creating responses which you can't even defend.

You got that right. These clowns get on 3.950 just before the net starts, to try to prevent it from starting. Then they refuse to move, and claim that -they- are being jammed. What a bunch of crap.

If only Timmie and crew would just turn the his dial and go to another frequency, all their whining and bitching would be moot. But that just shows that it's the fight that they thrive on.

So your point is very valid:
"Their whole life revolves around the Liberty Net."

Well looking back in the thread the only question asked was "why are you turning 2m into CB" Since I'm not doing that I can't answer but I would add that all of the slang that you hear on CB or Ham has propagated itself over time, I'm sure the first 2m AM mobile op did not say "I'm destinated" so if the thought is to eliminate this type of slang then you need you to politly make your point with operators that you're in QSO with and show them a better way. Newcomers need to be taught, not scolded or made fun of, we started somewhere whether it was CB or not and none of us knew exactly what to say remember some were not as fortunate as other to have a good elmer to show them the ropes so a little compasion here would go a long way.

Uhhh, blanks out the noise? If you have a noise source like ignition noise or someone running an elecric motor etc the noise blanker will help to eliminate some of it. On some "inexpensive" recievers the NB circuit is so simple that many times it appears to have little or no function when activated. Got a hand drill? run it next to the receiver and turn the NB on and off, you should hear some change in the recovered audio.

I am clearing out the ham shack of all my QST magazines once again. If anyone is interested, I am selling 1992-1998 at $1.00 ea. (you pay shipping costs however you want them shipped) for 1 to 10 issues. If you are interested in over 10 issues or the entire collection, make me an offer. I am willing to ship anywhere on this planet so long as you are willing to pay the actual shipping costs.

Here are the issues that I have:

1992 Jan - April $1.00 ea.
1993 Jan - Feb & April - Dec $1.00 ea.
1994 Jan - Oct & Dec $1.00 ea.
1995 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1996 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1997 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1998 Jan - Dec $1.00 ea.
1999 Jan - Current $2.50 ea.

All the issues are in perfect condition with no ripped pages or covers.
Sorry I don't have anymore, but the last time I did this in 1993, I sold all my 1989 through my 1992 issues less a few months still available.

Arrghh! The Raydidio Schlock specs for the new HTX-10 show that it does SSB, AM and FM, BUT NOT CW! When the ten meter band is open, I hear more CW QSOs (no, I'm not including propagation beacons) than FM or AM. As it does not included the second most-used mode on 10 meters, I wonder if it's really intended for the 11 meter "gray" market?

While a hot 10 meter band and cheap 10 meter rigs may be incentive for many Codeless Techs to upgrade, it's too bad that this new rig does not have CW so they can get some on-the-air CW experience to pass the 13wpm General test. My first shaky CW QSOs were around 28.150 using a cheap Uniden 10 meter rig, and certainly helped me pass the 13wpm exam.

Probably half-assed sidetone-less CW could be sent with the HTX-10 by removing the mic and putting a key across a couple of mic jack pins, and then putting it in the AM mode for transmit and SSB for recieve, but this extra monkey-motion would be maddening for a new CW operator.

The performance is SO SO but remember you are in a car (He was) so no matter what you using it is a compromise. There is "IMPORT" sopy of this radio that puts out 50 watts and tranmits from 24.9 to 29.9999 MHZ. Basically it coverers 12,11,10 mtrs. Not bad\

There is no such thing as "a races natural defense mechanisim".
SPECIES natural defense mechanisms -- yes. Nature does not provide "defense mechanisims" for one sub-species against another subspecies. Why would a species have to protect itself against itself ?

Because that's the way evolution works. Races (subspecies) are very often diverging -- species in the making -- and many of Nature's most intense territorial conflicts center around closely related groups of animals, many arguably more closely related than the human subspecies.

Without such divergence and branching of races into species, evolution as we know it could not take place at all.

E. Raymond Hall, professor of biology at the University of Kansas and the author of the leading work in its field, _Mammals of North America_, states as a biological law:

"Two subspecies of the same species do not occur in the same geographic area."

Hall explains that this law applies to us human animals as well:

"To imagine one subspecies of man living together on equal terms for long with another subspecies is but wishful thinking and leads only to disaster and oblivion for one or the other."

One you understand that, the persistence of racial conflict in all multiracial societies becomes explicable.

Followups set.

Happy September,

Listen up all you CB converts to 2 meters courtesy of ARRL paranoia that code is dead.

When you walk up to someone on the street (I know most of you are dysfunctional and run the other way) do you say

"Hi. Nice to meet you. First personal here is...." ?

NO !!!!!

So why the hell are you turning 2 meters into CB ?

"My name is...."
"My name is...."

A Day in the Life of..

With a better image of the material life surrounding Kevin, hopefully it will be easier to envision a typical Saturday.

6:30 - wake up sign up for phone time on 75 meters, works VK6LK and VK6HD most days (typically two 20 minute blocks)

7:00 - light breakfast (example: pastry and milk)

7:45 - head to patio, walk for half an hour with 2/440 crossband repeater link

8:15 - weight lifting on patio; sets up Alpha 91B

10:20 - use part of phone time to work Europeans on 15 SSB

10:40 - grab lunch tray (example: doritos, burrito, potato chips, hot dog Mountain Dews) lockdown for lunch

12:00 - "boring time" legal visits, phone calls, work DX on 14.247 with Don Miller, hosted by WA4JTK. Does considerable amount of "standing by".

3:45 - lockdown for code practice (4 PM W1AW run)

4:45 - grab dinner tray for later use part of phone time (VK on 15)

6:00 - ride bike, operate 2 meter mobile

7:30 - shower eat dinner

10:00- checks into 3950 "Liberty Net", expresses learned and unbiased views about US socio-political system

Why are you surprised? Everytime you connect your PC to your ISP, you're using systems owned by corporations and governments, while ham radio allows one to converse with another utilizing the free airwaves. Hams don't even need to purchase radios to do that -- they can build them themselves.

Wouldn't you like to know Kkkevin.?

Oh, and the "recording you have is what, at least two years old now. It was when I got pissed off because the net, as usual, moved in on an occupied frequency.
At least Vic has been caught a couple of times doing it and now has ceased. That's a good thing. Now if you could stop your LYING, spin Doctoring or wild speculation things may calm dowm a bit.

FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log

HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee Victor A. Misek, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written Misek to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that Misek's station and members of the group for which he was acting as net control
"began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress."

I just got my "Radio Shack 2000 Answers Catalog" and noted the 10m transceiver.

What do you think of this radio? Any good? Any problems? The price sure seems good. I would appreciate your comments.

Here's what the catalog says:

QUOTE:
Radio Shack 2000 Answers Catalog, Page 76
NEW 10-meter DX is hot! Get in on the action and work the world with this 25-watt mobile/base SSB transceiver - under $150
HTX-10. With this 25-watt rig and a modest antenna such as a dipole, vertical or mobile whip, you can communicate world wide. (See page 88 for antennas.) This is a lot of radio for its small price - a great incentive for no-code Tech Class Hams to upgrade to Tech Plus.* Features include rotary tuning in selectable 1, 10, or 100 kHz steps, up/down tuning from the mic, 5 easy-to-set memory presets and an effective noise blanker. You also get selectable USB/LSB modes, plus AM and full 25-watt FM operation with repeater offsets for General Class and higher hams. Tunes entire 28-29.669 MHz 10-meter band. 2 1/16 x 6 1/16 x 7 5/8 inches. Includes mobile mounting bracket and DC cord. Requires 13.8 VDC at up to 5 amps. 19-1110.....$149.99
Requires Novice, Technician-Plus Class or higher FCC Amateur Radio License. *If you currently have your no-code Tech license, just pass the 5 WPM code test to work the world with this radio.
END QUOTE.

It certainly wasn't hate mail as you call it.
It depicted you as strandling the fence. You want to associate with Jewish people and non racists in your personal life them get on this board and post yours and the nets racist crap. NOW THAT's TWO-FACED and YOU GOT CALLED ON IT.
As for ARRL copyrighted material i didn't get the info from any ARRL site and it says nowhere that it was copyrighted. I have several posts where YOU posted,

I was given an old military communication "something" The printed Metal tag on it reads - TS-12/AP (unit 1) .
It has 3 so-239 Connectors on it labeled input 1, input 2 and meter input.
It has 3 pots on it labeled input 1, input 2 and master gain.
It has a meter labeled standing wave voltage ratio.
It has a power switch (on - off), a meter switch (amp - ext), a switch labeled (Bol - xtal) and an input switch (no.1 - no. 2)
It is 115 ac powered
It has a schematic in the lid that has a confidental stamp on it, crossed out, and another stamp which reads:
Classifacation Cancelled
Auth: janap 140(a) dtd nov48
Date: 2 apr 53
By (signature)
P.U.S.O

It has 5 tubes, all RCA, as follows: 6SJ7, 6SJ7, 6V6GT, 6H6, and a 6X5GT

The first 6SJ7 appears to be shock isolated on a mount with the words
"Presto Recording Corp. New York, U.S.A." cast into the aluminum.
It has four masive caps in it labeled; T6080 NGP 8 MFD 600VDC and other assorted smaller caps and resistors
I can scan in the Schematic and email it if nessesary to ID it.
With all input and no output my theory is that it is an antenna tuner, tester, or matcher Anybody know ?
Thanks in advance, Al

Oh for crying out loud, wake up and see the world as it really is. "Racism" is part of a race's natural defense mechanism.
It protects one's race, culture, and civilization from incompatable races, cultures, and civilizations. "Racism" is the defense mechanism that keeps a race viable and strong.

It is people like KK7HO, who are ashamed or too cowardly to stand up for their own kind, that are allowing the Southwest to be taken over by Mexico. Since KK7HO is in Las Vegas, he will soon get a big dose of racial reality when the Soldiers of Aztlan come knocking on his door. Only THEN will he wish there were MORE racists, but it will be too late. What a fool!

Sadly, the success of this radio in the marketplace will not be dependent on whether or not it is a good quality "starter" radio for 10-meters. Instead, it's success will depend on whether or not it can be modified for illegal operation on CB and the freeband.

How can a low class vagabond like W9XN wear his degrees on his sleeve in light of penning something like this? AF2Y,Doc
Listen Ass-Wipe,

I don't send unsolicited, anonymous mail to anyone, not even to a slime-covered maggot like you. You chose to be my enemy. Fine, fuck-nuts - live with it! Keep your unsolicited crap out of my USPO Box. If you do not, you are going to receive a visit from a USPS Postal Inspector. That Inspector will have the power to place you under arrest on the spot. I have no intention of fucking around with a clown like you. You are a deranged sociopath who does not merit one ounce of consideration from me.

Don't you believe any of those e-mails you are receiving from AOL? You have been identified as a hate-mailer and a demented lunatic. They don't believe your fairy tales about Nazi's and Anti-Semites. Nobody believes you. Do you think the little men in white coats will believe you when they come to strap you into a straightjacket?

You don't have the balls, the talent, the education, or the skill to debate any of the real issues with me. All you can do is name-call and make vicious attacks upon innocent family members. So kiss my ass! I have given you every benefit of the doubt and, in return, you have done nothing but shit on me.

Now I am going to deal with you in a different way. I am going to deal with you using methods that you don't expect from the guy you say is wheezing with one lung. You know' the same guy you say is a hypochondriac, never mind the scars from the surgeon's knife. Keep chugging on that oil-less treadmill, dumb shit! People like you, who fear The Grim Reaper, are a joke to me. I see great humor in a miserable slug like you grasping for life's meaning in a worthless homebound existence. But, alas, I've run out of pity for you.

You couldn't make it as a dentist' you couldn't make it as a son, husband or father' and you sure as hell couldn't make it as anyone's friend. Your attempts to poison my friendship with Rich are laughable. There's no friendship to poison, you hate-filled troll! However, you shouldn't think that I am unaware of the role you played in destroying Rich's relationships with people who really cared about him. You have not fooled me in the least. And you had better believe that Big Al knows the real circumstances surrounding Rich's departure from our 75-meter group. He knows all about your sick demands and your perverted ultimatums. I wonder how well you sleep at night knowing that, someday, Rich and Al will be friends again' and you'll still be on your treadmill of hate.

While you're at it, why don't you learn to read or get your eyes examined? Can you read at all? You were expelled from the Better Radio Discussion group for violating Deja's Policy and AOL's TOS. If you are ready to abide by those policies and your ISP's TOS then you are welcome to come back. Otherwise, play the victim for a few more weeks.

You couldn't convince anyone you were a victim if your life depended upon it. You are looking for any excuse possible to avoid debating the issues. You would rather pretend you are a TV wrestler and exchange insults with people who can't reach out and put their hands around your throat.

Don't write to me again. I don't want to hear from you until you are ready to re-join civilization and behave like a decent, respectful, educated human being. If you can ever bring yourself to the level of self-realization necessary to understand that 99% of the turmoil you face comes from within your own hateful heart, then I am willing to explore ways to have a dialogue with you. Until that time, you can take your false accusations, your lying tongue and your demented vexation letters and shove them straight up your fat ashkaNAZI ass!

Oh for crying out loud, wake up and see the world as it really is. "Racism" is part of a race's natural defense mechanism.
Hate is still hate, no matter HOW you try to justify it.

It protects one's race, culture, and civilization from incompatable races, cultures, and civilizations. "Racism" is the defense mechanism that keeps a race viable and strong.

Hitler, 1932. Quit paraphrasing from "Mein Kampf."

It is people like KK7HO, who are ashamed or too cowardly to stand up for their own kind, that are allowing the Southwest to be taken over by Mexico.
As far as anyone knows, the Southwest is still part of the United States.
Since KK7HO is in Las Vegas, he will soon get a big dose of racial reality when the Soldiers of Aztlan come knocking on his door. Only THEN will he wish there were MORE racists, but it will be too late. What a fool!

Hate is an unfaithful weapon.

"Investigators to review tapes of Waco standoff

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) - Investigators are reviewing footage obtained by a Colorado filmmaker to see if it shows U.S. armed forces firing into David Koresh's compound at the close of the Waco standoff, a U.S. congressman says.

``We have those tapes and have given them to two experts to analyze,'' Rep. Dan Burton, chairman of the House Government Reform Committee, said Friday. ``Two separate entities are looking at them frame-by-frame.''

He refused to disclose what individuals are reviewing the film.

Filmmaker Mike McNulty said he obtained the infrared film, taken by an FBI surveillance aircraft at about 9,000 feet, through the Freedom of Information Act...

Meanwhile in Texas, a federal judge handling a lawsuit brought by survivors of the siege was forced to intervene after federal agents tried to keep Texas Rangers from entering a Waco storage facility to search for evidence, the Dallas Morning News reported in Saturday's editions...

Law enforcement officials in Texas, speaking on the condition of anonymity, told the newspaper that the Rangers were allowed to search boxes only after U.S. District Judge Walter Smith was called.

The Rangers were looking for a spent pyrotechnic device that was photographed in 1993 by investigators at the Branch Davidian compound. Texas officials said they did not find the missing round at the storage locker.

McNulty, the filmmaker, claimed to participants at a Republican retreat Friday that his footage indicates that the Army's secretive Delta Forces fired at least 60 rounds into Koresh's compound 51 days after the seige started on Feb. 28, 1993.

Pentagon officials have said three Army special forces officers were at the scene, but were there only as observers. "

Nobody is trying to outlaw CW. Your strawman falls flat. The argument is about Morse code testing, not CW. If the Morse code requirement was dropped today, you wouldn't be able to tell the difference tomorrow.

> If you don't like CW then why did you

Operating is not all there is to amateur radio and CW is a small part of operating. What is wrong with allowing others to follow their interests just as you have? What is wrong with live and let live? What if all someone wants to do is experiment with HF propagation and new modes?

> CW is one of the the That's great for you. Why do you want to force your personal likes and dislikes on others? Do you want to force them to like your favorite flavor of ice cream?

> Maybe those that don't like CW

Funny, Part 97 doesn't say anything about "keeping history alive".
As a matter of fact, they seem to have the opposite opinion - that advancement is good.

You are perfectly free to keep history alive, teach CW classes, and even set up your own CW museum. Is CW so undesirable that you need coercive force from the feds?

Well, you see, you have to take what a HAM says and divide by 100 because HAM's always want to rate their skills, their abilities and their importance about 100 times more than it really is.
If HAM's had their way, they would have you think that each one of them has their own silicon semiconductor and tube manufacturing plant and they make all their components from scratch in a big iron kettle with a big wooden stir spoon.

I'm neither ashamed or cowardly - and your welcome to test that statement. You do all this bitching and moaning and I bet have do nothing other than that. Do something constructive if you want to stop "illegal" immigration. Your bitching and racist shit won't get it done. Hi Mark

The following is as I have just checked it on my TM741E in the UK.

To allow crossband repeat in both directions (I used 2m and 70cm) I pressed the PTT(Band Select) key (volume knob) for one of the bands, then the Control Select key (LED/button) for the other band.

To allow repeat in only one direction, I set both the PTT (Band Select) and the Control Select key to the band to be repeated to.

To enter (or leave) crossband repeat mode, I pressed F for more than 1 second, then I pressed MUTE.

The only reason you "occupied" the frequency is to create this controversary when you refused to yeild to the net. Then you followed the net around and jammed it Tim Volz.

Thanks Getback for exposing the fraud that takes place regularly with the group of misfits like AF2Y and NK4D. My response to OTK hiring AF2Y as his attorney is that OTK was simply trying to save a buck. I do not hear OTK on the air anymore so I guess that we can conclude that AF2Y was not very successful as an attorney. I hope that Doc returns the retainer and that he produces the successful completion of the law board. We may have to put the Stumpjumper super sleuth on this. HAMMER007

You did a horrible job of editing, and thus slanting the article against former U.S. forces. That newspaper article continued, documenting the tons of land-mines purposely left in place by Viet Cong gorillas. A former VC commander was quoted as saying that the VC had no particular love for the South Vietnamese citizens -- they were thought of in the same light as U.S. forces -- an enemy, thus the land-mines were left in place. I suggest you read a few autobiographies, from both sides, concerning the post war years, 1975-1979, especially those documenting conditions in the "re-education" prisons. Take note of those South VNese citizens forced at gun-point to run across mine-fields, put in place by the VC and North VNese soldiers.

Again, you've shown that you cannot be trusted to report anything in a fair manner. The wise reader will always mistrust everything you write, being cautious of your gross misrepresentation of facts.

Mathematicians disgust me. You think you can tell people in government, politics and humanities the way the world works, just because you know Napier's Constant.

I expressed no position in the text, except in the subject. It means what Wrong, but you have a point that wasn't the issue. But they're two distinct "services." Do we go around saying "hello all stations"because USCG does it ? Different services.

See the Op-Ed in QST, September. Of course, most codeless hams have neither the brains to run a computer nor do they subscribe to a magazine;
why bother when you really needed a cell phone ?

The newer hams, which is obviously the group whom this radio is being marketed to, largely do not have an interest in using Morse code.

Has anyone contacted Guiness ? Perhaps, if he's dead (in which case why are we celebrating ?), we might find a 130th >anniversary< seance more appropriate ?

Point 1 Yes I know it's not binding this is just to see what kind of a result I'll get. Hey you all say code is so popular here's your chance to PUT YOU MONEY WHERE YOUR MOUTH IS!

Point 2 from the negative comments it almost sounds like you all are afraid of what your fellow amateurs are 'really' thinking!

Even Bill K2UNK is not for this and he's the first one I thought would jump on this and go "Yes let's see what the hams really think" but he just says it's a "waste of time". Well people I've got a news flash for you all this NG discussing amateur radio is a waste of time because all your talking is not going to change one single thing.

And as far as my poll goes, to quote Steve Martin "Well

I know of no one who uses hieroglyphics or smoke signals, but the majority of HF-active hams I know occasionally use CW.

CW is not just a sentimental tradition: it works well. I worked last Field Day with a group of friends, and I'd promised them I'd get the one-hundred point Satellite bonus. RS-13 was overloaded and desensed from so many overpowered signals, and even though we were running 70 watts of SSB into a ten-element beam, I just could not reliably hear myself on the downlink. Switching over to CW, I could hear myself much better on the downlink, and I was able to make our 100-point QSO in CW.

While keeping 40 meter "skeds" with local hams while traveling a few hundred miles away from home, I found that usually on days of poor propagation that CW would go through when SSB would not. (I was using a Hustler 40 meter coil on the back of my car.)

Several years ago I worked the June ARRL VHF contest with several friends from a local hilltop using QRP gear. For 6 meters we had a tiny, slightly drifty Icom 502, which puts out a whopping 3 watts of SSB and CW. On the crowded 50.125 calling frequency, several times I switched from SSB to CW to work another station who just could not copy me on SSB.

FWIW, I sometimes do PSK-31 and am also certainly impressed with its weak-signal performance. But when I'm traveling with my drifty old Atlas 210x or working a jury-rigged contest station with borrowed rigs, CW and a battered J-37 straight key are still very viable, even on the eve of the 21st century.

Thanks to the Northern Ohio Amateur Radio Society, Northern Ohio DX Association, Ohio/Penn PacketCluster Network, WB2RAJ/WB2YQH & The 59(9) DXReport, W3HC, W4DR, N5KO, N6RT, N6TJ, K8YSE, WA8AA, 9M2TO, BA1DU, DF4RD, EA3BT, JM1LJS, LA7MFA, LU7DIR, PA3AXU, VK4AAR, VK9NS, ZD8V/KF4OOX, ZS5BBO and Kevin Walton for the following DX information.

5W, SAMOA (Update/Refer to OPDX.424). Gerard, PA3AXU, informs OPDX that he will arrive in 5W-land early morning (local time) September 28th, and he states that he should have had enough time to sleep during his flights (total travelling time 29 hours). He states that he will be active on PSK31 and hopes that Pacific will allow at least some low band activity, although he will not be taking an amplifier. All equipment and software has been tested last weekend. Gerard adds, "My XYL Ria will go with me, but she promised me that she will take enough books to read, so that the time I can be QRV is 'unlimited'." Activity will last until October 14th. QSL via: G.A.M.C. Dijkers, Dokter P.A. Cornethof 3, 6669AZ Dodewaard (The Netherlands).

7Q7, MALAWI. NODXA member Edwin, ZS5BBO, reports that he will hopefully be operating a station from the shores of Lake Malawi from December 19-26th. Edwin mentions that he doesn't have a callsign as of yet, but he has been told it could be 7Q7BB or 7Q7BO. This will be a SSB operation only on 10, 15 and 20 meters using his IC-706MK2 and possibly the antenna that is already up at the hotel where he is staying. Please stay tuned for further updated information regarding Edwin's vacation plans.

9A2000, BRIONI ISLANDS (Update/Change, Please refer to OPDX.420). Mac, W3HC, informs OPDX that Sado, 9A2OP, reported that some changes have been made to their DXpedition plans. The authorities have changed their callsign to be used. The new callsign will be 9A2000B instead of 9A2000FT which was announced earlier. They will be active no the Brioni Islands group (EU-110) now until September 8th. As this bulletin was being prepared, activity so far seems to be mainly 15 and 20 meters. Watch 14011, 14260, 21238 and 21260 kHz. QSL via 9A7K.

C9, MOZAMBIQUE. "The 59(9) DXReport" reports that Reinhard, DL6DQW, will be active September 18-21th as C91RF. QSL via homecall.

CN, MOROCCO. Members of the Bavarian Contest Club (BCC) are forming a Multi/Multi team to participate in the upcoming CQWW DX Contests. The contests callsign (CW/SSB) will be CN8WW. CN8WW will have seperate stations on all six bands for the complete 48 hours of both contests. Suggested frequencies for the CQWW SSB Contest (October 30-31st) +/- QRM are: 1855, 3755, 7055, 14255, 21355 and 28355 kHz. Suggested frequencies for the CQWW CW Contest (November 27-28th) +/- QRM are: 1833, 3533, 7033, 14033, 21033 and 28033 kHz. QSL CN8WW to DL6FBL via the bureau or direct to: Bernd Och, Chr.-Wirth-Str. 18, D-36043 Fulda, Germany. For the latest updates, check out the CN8WW Web site at: http://www.dl6fbl.de/cn8ww/ For questions, send to the CN8WW E-mail Address: cn8ww@boc.de

EA8, CANARY ISLANDS. Look for Jeff, G4ELZ, to be active as EA8/G4ELZ/P, September 4-18th from Puerto de la Cruz. Activity will be mainly 20 meters CW during his evenings and mornings. Watch for him around 14060 kHz.

EAST TIMOR VOTES FOR INDEPENDENCE. Over the past weekend the Associated Press reported that the "U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan announced Friday night what was apparent all week - that East Timorese had voted in a landslide to end a quarter-century of often brutal Indonesian rule. U.N. officials said that 344,580 people, or 78.5 percent, voted to split with the world's fourth most-populous nation. The news triggered a violent backlash by anti-independence forces, who had favored autonomy within Indonesia and had tried to disrupt the vote by attacking U.N. workers. At least four local U.N. workers were killed this week and another six were missing and feared dead." The Indonesian government is expected to respect the referendum and grant East Timor independence. Stay tuned!

GEARED UP FOR THE CQWW DX CONTESTS. Jim Neiger, N6TJ, reports, "Once again, 'NEIGER'S TIGERS' is forming multiple Teams for the upcoming CQWW DX Contest, both SSB and CW. Just when you thought it safe to return to the jungle....." Last year's CQ WW SSB, Jim's "TIGERS" placed 3 teams in the Top Ten, plus a new all time SSB Team Record. Jim states that he will return to Ascension Island as ZD8Z for the SSB contest, 10 meters only, and then to Brazil for the CW contest, also 10 meters only from ZX5J QTH.

HC8, GALAPAGOS ISLANDS. HC8N will be activated in the CQWW RTTY Contest this month as a multi-multi effort operated by N5KO, W6OTC, K6AW, WF1B, N4GN, W5AP and HC1OT. QSL via AA5BT.

HS, THAILAND. "The 59(9) DXReport" reports that Don, G3VFU (ex A92BE, A45XU), is now active as HS0/G3VFU and only for an unspecified time. We have seen no QSNs reported yet, but look for him on SSB. QSL via W3HNK.

HUNTING LIONS ON THE AIR CONTEST - JANUARY 2000. The 29th annual Hunting Lions on the Air contest will take place on the weekend of January 15-16th, in the year 2000. This contest is to create and foster a spirit of understanding and co-operation among radio amateurs and Lions through worldwide communication. This contest is to comemorate the birthday of the founder of Lionism, Melvin Jones, born at Ft. Thomas, Arizona, USA, on January 13, 1879. For more details please visit the following Web site: http://www.sarl.org.za/contests/lionita.htm

Edwin, ZS5BBO, will be signing his contest callsign ZS5T and will be operating the station on behalf of the Durban South Lions Club. By the way, Edwin is also the Vice President of the Durban South Lions Club.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-NEW. Look for BI7Y to be active from Xisha Archipelago (Paracel Island) in the South China Sea. Nine operators from China will participate in this activity. They are: BA1AJ, BA1DU, BA1HAM, BA4RC, BA4TA, BA7IA, BA7JA, BG7YB and BG7YC. The activity is supported by Chinese Radio Sports Association, The Beijing DX Club and The Island Radio Expedition Foundation Inc. The team members will assemble at Hainan Island (AS-094) on September 5th. They will operate there using their home callsign/7 for about 24 hours, and then they will start to go to Yangxing Island, Xisha Archipelago by boat on September 7th. They expect to be active on the island at 0500z on the 8th and will stay for 5 days, and then leave the island on the 13th. They will set up two stations with one beam and one PA and will work on CW, SSB and RTTY on the normal IOTA frequencies from 40 meters to 10 meters. They will answer all QSL cards which come from QSL bureau, or you can send your QSL cards via official QSL bureau (P.O.Box 6106, Beijing 100061, China), or you can send your cards to BA7JA directly (P.O.Box 1713, Guangzhou 510600, China). Any question should be sent to BI7Y team coordinators Alan/BA1DU (ba1du@arrl.net) and Yang/BA7JA (ba7ja@amsat.org).

AS-073. Tex, 9M2TO, will be active again from Redang Beach Resort on Redang Island from September 18-21st. Activity will be mainly CW on 40-10 meters. His son JF0GEV will also be an operator. QSL to the bureau via JA0DMV or direct to 9M2TO Penang QTH. All the QSOs will be sent via the JARL Bureau before the end of October AUTOMATICALLY!

LAST CHANCE TO WORK ZD8V. Paul, ZD8V/KF4OOK, reports: "ZD8V will go QRT on Wednesday, September 8th. I got to pack up everything and turn it in for shipping on September 10th. I will try to be on the air as much as I can. I will be trying to show up on the 247 DX net (14.247 MHz), the ANNSE Net (14.164 MHz around 0700Z) and the JA DX Net (21.365 MHz around 2000Z). I am looking for Pacific DXCC places. I am kind of weak on them. I am also looking for the members of two clubs. The Mercer Co. ARC in Sharon Pa and the Indian River ARC in Cocoa Fl. I would like to work as many of the above as I can as well as working every one else.....On September 8th, I will have to go QRT then go to work on mid-days and then I will pack up my computer and ham station. I hope propagation is very good the next week as I will be spending as much time on the air as I can and I want to get the most out of the bands." NOTE: Please see new QSL route for ZD8V down below.

PACIFIC OPERATION UPDATE (T31, Kanton Island and ZK3, Fakaofo Island). Operator/QSL Manager Lech, LA7MFA, reports that the "1999 Double Trouble

DXpedition" is right on track, and they expect to have their first team members in Pago Pago, American Samoa on Tuesday, September 7th. Look for Steve, KH8/G4EDG, on CW and Nils, KH8/SM6CAS on SSB. QSL via their home callsign. From September 14-17th, there might be some additional operation by the rest of the team. Look for KH8/SM7PKK, KH8/SM0AGD and KH8/KK6HC. QSL via their home callsign except for the last one which goes to LA7MFA. New updated QSL routes are now placed on their main Web page at: http://www.qsl.net/t31t
Lech states that the operating frequencies for the T31 and ZK3 operations can be found on the Web page: http://www.qsl.net/t31t/qrg.html
CW - 1825, 3505 (EU), 3535, 7005 (EU), 7035, 10125, 14005 (EU), 14035, 18075, 21005 (EU), 21035, 24895, 28005 (EU), 28035, 50110 kHz SSB - 3795, 7045, 14145 (EU), 14245, 18145, 21245, 24945 28445 kHz RTTY - 14080, 21080, 28080 kHz
Remember the T31T Kanton Island operation will be from September 23rd through October 3rd. The ZK3DX Fakaofo Island (Tokelau) operation is scheduled for October 7-12th. Very shortly, the update news page will be activated at: http://www.qsl.net/t31t/news.html
There will be no online log on their WEB page! Please do not send E-mail to the WEB-master. Everything should go to: t31t@qsl.net.
Lech mentions that some of the sponsored money will actually be used to buy supplies for the locals on Kanton (T31) and Fakaofo (ZK3). There has not been any supply boats on these islands for months. Lastly, the team still needs more donations!

PACIFIC OPERATION (ZL1AMO on move again). Ron Wright, ZL1AMO, will leave New Zealand on September 8th to operate for one week as 3D2RW from Fiji. After Fiji he will then spend one week at Samoa and will operate as 5W1CW, if a suitable location is found. On September 22nd, Ron will leave by ship for ZK3 and will arrive at Nukunono Atoll September 24/25th. Ron will stay on the island approx. 4 weeks until the ship returns. Look for Ron to be active mainly on CW and the lower bands, especially 160 meters.

QSL INFO AND NEWS......
Jim Smith, VK9NS, reports to OPDX that he will be leaving Norfolk Island soon, and the QSLing will stop until he gets back. He wants us to tell everyone to "Please ask the guys/gals not to re-QSL." Jim is due back on Norfolk Island in mid November. By the way, Jim has been working some RTTY and is really enjoying PSK31.

The new address for QSLs for ZD8V is as follows: Paul L Hutley, 298 Logan Ave., Sharon, Pa 16146. Paul informs OPDX that, "This is my parents' address and will be a good one for a long time to come. I don't know how long they will forward my mail from my address from Ascension to my parents address in Sharon Pa., so I would like to get everything moving that way now so I don't have to worry about missing mail."
It has been reported that Abdollah, EP2FM, states that he is not receiving all the envelopes that he should and is having a difficult time cashing in IRCs. He states most postal workers in Iran have not heard of IRCs, and currently one IRC is not enough for one stamp to send a letter to a country like the USA and Canada. However, he still prefers IRCs over green stamps because they seem to make it through the mail better. Abdollah's E-mail address is: as@neda.net

Alan, VK4AAR, reports that the Australian Overseas Postal Charges WILL RISE DRAMATICALLY in the immediate future. Please act accordingly.

The following new/updated logs are now online at: http://dx.qsl.net/logs
KP2/K6RO (July 1999) 9X0A (March 1996 thru April 1998)
WP2Z (1999 IARU Contest) IZ4AFW (thru August 29, 1999)
VQ9CV (thru August 29,1999) 4K9W (thru August 16, 1999)
DU1ODX (thru August 31,1999) KP4AH (thru August 28, 1999)
DS5DNO (thru August 31,1999) ED6EIG (August 1999)

L27DIR special event station active May 16-23rd to celebrate the "75th Anniversary of the World Record of Distance" should be QSLed to LU7DIR via the bureau or direct to: Jose E. Campos, P.O. Box 26, 1650 San Martin, Bs. Aires, ARGENTINA.

QSL 9M2K via QSL Manager 9M2AA as per Callbook and QRZ.COM. This was a special event station in Port Dickson, Malaysia in commemoration of year 2000 (Y2K) by the Malaysian Amateur Radio Transmitters' Society. There will be a special commemorative QSL card issued for the event.

T8, PALAU. Toshi/JA6QXW and Mac/JA1OYP will be active as T88XW and T88XX, respectively from September 12-15th. Activity will be on 20, 17, 15, 12, 10 and 6 meters. HF power will be 500W and on 6m 200W(?) with beam antennas. QSL T88XW via JA6QXW and T88XX via JA1OYP.

VP2, MONTSERRAT '99 DX-PEDITION. A press release by Josep, EA3BT, reports that an operation will take place October 22-30th. Team members Josep/EA3BT and Nuria/EA3WL (YL station) will use the callsign VP2MBT and VP2MGL. Activity will be on 80/40/30/20/17/15/12/10 meters SSB, RTTY and some CW. Josep states, "Because of the last eruption of the Soufrieres volcano on the island of Montserrat that happened in 1997, the radio amateur activity from the island has been very poor. This is the reason why we think that it is convenient to organize a DXpedition that covers the demand over this DXCC country. Our aim is to be active in the maximum number of bands and modes, attending the requests that can be done to us." QSL via EA3BT. An online log search will be available and is under construction at: http://www.qsl.net/ea3bt

ZF2, CAYMAN ISLANDS. Look for Steve, W7TZ, to sign ZF2CQ now through September 18th. This will be a SSB only operation. QSL is via W7TZ direct.

ZS5, SOUTH AFRICA. Edwin, ZS5BBO, reports that he will be active in the upcoming CQWW DX SSB Contest as a single station on a single band signing ZS5T.

SPECIAL NOTE FROM OPDX'S OFFICIAL CHIEF PROOFREADER (ed. Linda my XYL).
I'd like to thank each and everyone of you who sent me special birthday wishes. I have never had so many birthday greetings in my whole life. This was quite a surprise because Tedd sneaked that entry in on me, and I had no idea he let the whole world in on my "29th birthday". Thanks again; I enjoyed hearing from everyone!!

Subject: 1999 DX Magazine Most Wanted Survey

This afternoon we finished putting the 1999 DX Magazine Most Wanted Survey form on my web site. You can log on at: http://www.dxpub.com and from the home page go directly to the survey. Simply answer the questions and mark the ones you need on the list, by mode. At the bottom just click on the "submit" block and your survey will be included in the totals.

Should you need something that is not on the list, PLEASE send me a separate email message so I can include those in the final tallies.

I am very pleased to be able to offer this service for the first time. While we made every effort to "de-bug" the system, we're not perfect. Any comments on this method of taking the survey, pro or con, would be greatly appreciated.

Please tell your friends about the survey and encourage them to submit their own "needs" - especially those of you outside the USA. The results of the survey will be published, as usual, in the January/February 2000 issue of The DX Magazine. They will also be posted to the web site around February 1st.

Have a safe weekend.

hear many newer-issued calls.

Is there any computer program that will convert some kind of map program. This info could be important in identifying intentional willful QRM.

Looking for software that will monitor/decode packet signals on a computer using the computer sound card. I'm interested in starting with packet, and other digital modes, but would like the ability to monitor for a while first getting a feel for digital operations before investing the money on equipment. Already have the audio from a 2M rig to the computer sound card, any software out there for decoding it?

This is what you want, it works well for receive although I haven't wired mine for tx yet.

http://www.forthnet.gr/sv2agw/start.htm

I started with a $15 homebrew Baycom modem, played packet for a while and then realized that $15 was as much as I would ever want to spend on packet. :)

That is what you experienced, Dave. I'm telling you what I experienced.

Unless you can claim that you are aware of EVERYTHING that was said by every ham on every radio band all over the world at that time, your experiences are no more valid than mine. In other words, the fact that YOU never heard it does not mean it was not said.

My father did use that phrase and, based on my experience, so did other hams at the time.

And I never heard the term 'first personal here is' until ham radio came along. Of course, since ham radio predated CB by a number of years, obvious ham radio came along before the phrase was said. That is not an indication that the phrase came from ham radio. And the fact that you never heard it before CB came along is not an indication that the phrase came from CB radio.

I never heard the phrase on CB until the early 90's. Of course, that is no indication that it was not said before that, only that I did not hear it.

Sir, do you ever actually LISTEN to the HF ham bands? My listening tells me that CW is the second-most popular mode after SSB.

Like it or not, CW WORKS well under weak signal condtions.

Last year I purchased a Yaesu FT-8500 Dual Band rig to use for a variety of purposes including:
1) Monitoring/talking on the local VHF repeater for weather warnings/storm chasing (146 Mhz)
2) Monitoring/talking on the local volunteer Fire Department (159 Mhz)
3) Monitoring/talking on my company's business channel (462/467 Mhz)

While it seemed that the VHF end of things were working ok, I did notice that the sensitivity and the RF out at 159 Mhz dropped a little bit. As for the UHF, things were much worse. The sensitivity was poor and the TX power was also low.

I also found that the Yaesu cannot be programmed with a split requiring something "out of the norm", such as the following example: 3.475 Mhz. Instead, you can only program in 5 khz steps to, and not to the 10's hertz , so I could get 3.45 or 3.50 but that's as close as it gets. The fix-well, not really, was to program the rig for V/V or U/U and use the sub-band as my tx channel and the other band as my rx. This stinks, though, because I can not monitor V/U at the same time since both bands are being used.

Another thing I didn't like about the Yaesu was the fact that the tone board was an option for CTCSS decode.

With all these "problems", I have decided to purchase another Dual-Band, but the question is WHICH ONE?

What works best for TX/RX in and out of band with regards to sensitivity and RF out?
What has the most flexible programming parameters when it comes to odd splits/shifts?
What radios come STOCK with CTCSS encode/decode that has the above features?
Is the radio easy to modify for outer TX/RX? How far can it go?

I've looked for FAQ's on this but nothing prevailed, so instead, I am asking for anyones assitance in helping find the "ideal" dual-band, or maybe a word of caution about poor models. Any comments would be appreciated!

Please post to newsgroup or mail to two_way@excite.com

Thanks!

My father was using the phrase "first personal here is..." way back in the late 50's on ham radio. God, I heard it enough times as a kid to never forget it.

I think he picked up the phrase from his work as a radio operator for the Navy.

Whatever the case, the phase was used on ham radio long before CB radio became popular.

By the way, he also occasionally used the word "handle" instead of "name" in his conversations (handle is another word usually wrongly attached to CB).

Yes, I can appreciate your unwillingness to accept this trash from a so-called educated man, but nontheless, it's 100% factual. W9XN's true colors came out. He's a low class dirtball if there ever was one. He can boast all he cares to about his degrees but they are meaningless since he's a foul mouthed fat pig guttersnipe. Check the header to see if it's legit. And legal action on defamation charges is taking place. AF2Y
Listen Ass-Wipe,

I don't send unsolicited, anonymous mail to anyone, not even to a slime-covered maggot like you. You chose to be my enemy. Fine, fuck-nuts - live with it! Keep your unsolicited crap out of my USPO Box. If you do not, you are going to receive a visit from a USPS Postal Inspector. That Inspector will have the power to place you under arrest on the spot. I have no intention of fucking around with a clown like you. You are a deranged sociopath who does not merit one ounce of consideration from me.

Don't you believe any of those e-mails you are receiving from AOL? You have been identified as a hate-mailer and a demented lunatic. They don't believe your fairy tales about Nazi's and Anti-Semites. Nobody believes you. Do you think the little men in white coats will believe you when they come to strap you into a straightjacket?

You don't have the balls, the talent, the education, or the skill to debate any of the real issues with me. All you can do is name-call and make vicious attacks upon innocent family members. So kiss my ass! I have given you every benefit of the doubt and, in return, you have done nothing but shit on me.

Now I am going to deal with you in a different way. I am going to deal with you using methods that you don't expect from the guy you say is wheezing with one lung. You know the same guy you say is a hypochondriac, never mind the scars from the surgeon's knife. Keep chugging on that oil-less treadmill, dumb shit! People like you, who fear The Grim Reaper, are a joke to me. I see great humor in a miserable slug like you grasping for life's meaning in a worthless homebound existence. But, alas, I've run out of pity for you.

You couldn't make it as a dentist you couldn't make it as a son, husband or father and you sure as hell couldn't make it as anyone's friend. Your attempts to poison my friendship with Rich are laughable. There's no friendship to poison, you hate-filled troll! However, you shouldn't think that I am unaware of the role you played in destroying Rich's relationships with people who really cared about him. You have not fooled me in the least. And you had better believe that Big Al knows the real circumstances surrounding Rich's departure from our 75-meter group. He knows all about your sick demands and your perverted ultimatums. I wonder how well you sleep at night knowing that, someday, Rich and Al will be friends again&#65533; and you&#65533;ll still be on your treadmill of hate.

While you&#65533;re at it, why don&#65533;t you learn to read or get your eyes examined? Can you read at all? You were expelled from the Better Radio Discussion group for violating Deja's Policy and AOL's TOS. If you are ready to abide by those policies and your ISP's TOS then you are welcome to come back. Otherwise, play the victim for a few more weeks.

You couldn't convince anyone you were a victim if your life depended upon it. You are looking for any excuse possible to avoid debating the issues. You would rather pretend you are a TV wrestler and exchange insults with people who can't reach out and put their hands around your throat.

Don&#65533;t write to me again. I don't want to hear from you until you are ready to re-join civilization and behave like a decent, respectful, educated human being. If you can ever bring yourself to the level of self-realization necessary to understand that 99% of the turmoil you face comes from within your own hateful heart, then I am willing to explore ways to have a dialogue with you. Until that time, you can take your false accusations, your lying tongue and your demented vexation letters and shove them straight up your fat ashkaNAZI ass!

Love to you and yours,

martin

You might try actually listening to HF. You would come to a far different conclusion. SSB may be the number one mode on HF, but CW is a very strong second.

Unfortunately, yes. This ongoing contest to create malicious interference, slander, and harassment of each other is now "business as usual" on the amateur bands. This plus the stubborn refusal to modernize and eliminate the Morse code requirements will likely spell the end of amateur radio within a decade or so. Sad indeed.

Until now, I have resisted the urge to respond to the various Liberty Net postings which seem to dominate this newsgroup. But I must take issue with this posting.

Tim TRIES to jam the net but is largely unsuccessful. From my location, his signal was weak and ineffective. Might be good for the SW United States, but that's about all.

From NAVSHIPS 900,105: "TS-12/AP is a standing wave indicator designed for measuring or checking the standing wave ratios of plumbing, TR and RT boxes, crystal mixers, and antennas of various radar equipment. It is also used in conjunction with TS-13/AP (signal generator) for extensive testing. I don't believe you. I never heard it on the air until perhaps ten or twelve years ago when Novice "enhancement" came into being, usually on 10m by an "enhanced" Novice. I was licensed in 1963 and was an SWL listening to the ham bands prior to that.

That term was in quite common use among hams until the CB craze of the early 70s.

On the contrary, it would be illegal for Technician class licensees, by far the largest entry level, to transmit with it!

Actually, it seems to be simply targeted at people who want to get on 10 meters. A large percentage of the previously marketed HTX-100s were purchased by experienced amateurs. A lot of them turned up as mobile rigs. This should come as no surprise to anyone.

One thing from the description that bugs me, however, is the "feature" that includes "rotary tuning in selectable 1, 10, or 100 kHz steps..."
I sure hope that's a misprint!

Let's, for the sake of argument, assume that the letter sent to "Doc Hate" and criticizing him is real.

Doesn't it seem preposterous to claim that a private email, sent only to the object of its criticism and to no one else, is "defamatory," since no one except the sender and recipient could possibly have seen it?

And, doesn't it seem wildly improbable that a man actually spending money on an attorney to make such a "defamation" claim would then, himself, post the message he claims "defames" him on the Internet where millions can read it?

If he really believed the message "defamed" him, why would he repeatedly publish and publicize it? Prior to _his own_ publicity efforts, the "defamatory" message was entirely unknown to the public.

That has been proven incorrect.

W2YEE was on frequency briefly on USB while the music jammer blasted away on LSB.

And, a telephone contact by a trusted source with Mr. Miller proved that YEE was able to receive Vic over the music jammer at his location, proving beyond any peradventure of doubt that he could not have been originating the music signal last evening.

I was referring to "entry level" into HF. I would guess most new hams have their first HF encounters on 10 meters using an HR-2510, RCI-2950, or similar type of radio.

There's a big difference here, though. The HTX-100, unlike it's Uniden 2510 cousin, was NOT easily modifiable for illegal CB use. Sure, you could get the frequencies, but there was no AM or LSB modes available. The HTX-100's sales suffered accordingly while the 2510 was a huge success. The sad reality of the marketplace seems to be that an inexpensive 10-meter radio is only viable from a sales point if it is readilly-modifiable for unlawful operation on CB and the freeband.

More lies and half-truths from K5BLB's switched between LSB and USB to escape the jammers ... one of which was K5BLB.

Now, knowing FULL WELL that the Net for the EXPRESS PURPOSE of being able to manufacture a false claim of interference from the Liberty Net.

Come on Tim, everyone knows what you're trying to pull here. I'm surprised you were stupid enough to try it. But I guess your extreme jealousy of the Liberty Net clouds your judgment.

Notice how KK7HOMO doesn't complain about the music jammers, the white noise jammers, K5BLB's jamming, K5ZU's jamming, WB0CXJ's jamming, etc. He NEVER critisizes the illegal jammers on 3950, he ONLY critisizes the Liberty Net.

In regards to this little poll, yes.
But the ARRL, I've heard, not only represents its members to the FCC, but it also represents hams who are non-members (by CHOICE), as well as civilians who don't even know that ham radio exists. Though their personal opinions don't amount to squat, the ARRL sees to it that they do have an opinion in the NPRM - the ARRL opinion.

Hello Ira -- CBers slang for "my first name" equivalent to "handle" in Ham lingo.

Thread is much to do about very little. Same old CBers vs Ham nonsense. Almost as bad as code vs nocode threads which have appeared here for YEARS.

When I was traveling alot -- my brother-in-law and I had CB sets to keep in touch with our separate cars and families while on the road. I had a Ham ticket but my brother-in-law didn't. Besides -- try to get smoky reports or road advisories on 2m FM!!! And ask where "Mom's Homecooked Food Resturant" was -- not on 2m for sure.

At 3:00 AM one morning, near Iola Kansas, I was running out of gas and all stations were closed. A farmer broke in our CB QSO and sed turn north at the RR tracks, come on down a half a mile and I'll pump ya some gas to get ya to Iola!!!!! Try that on 2m at 3:00 AM!!!!

I went to an Electronics store in San Jose, Ca that sold both CB and Ham gear -- needed some new CB crystals. A crusty old Ham customer who hated CBers started to read me the riot act for being a CBer, I replied in vocal Morse Code;
F___ You!!!

The F word is very musical in code -- don't ya think?? Then I went over to the Ham keyer setup and sent to Mr. Righteous -- code at 20WPM and he couldn't copy it!!! His two buddies totally cracked up and I heard they never let him forget it!!

Was beyond his limited brain to imagine any one with both a Ham License and a CB license and the reasons why.

Anyone who can pass a Ham exam is a Ham -- I don't care if they were a CBer, doctor, baker, candlestick maker, truck driver, tech writer, disposal engineer, politician, or even a lawyer!!! Just kiddin barristers!

Advice to all Hams -- when on 2m just use plain language.
When on HF, do as the Romans do -- custom and tradition you know.

Q-Signals were intended for CW, but we all use it on phone for brevity (or is it for jargon) -- so what is the big deal.

Speaking of hitting nerves how about "TIN" or maybe "SSN" and the War leftovers claim 38,248 lives over 23 years

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) - Unexploded bombs, land mines and artillery shells killed 38,248 people in the first 23 years after the end of the Vietnam War, the People's Army newspaper reported Saturday.

Another 60,064 people were injured through April 1998, it said, citing statistics from the Ministry of Labor, War Invalids and Social Affairs.

The paper estimated there still are 300,000 tons of unexploded ordnance around - 2 percent of the 15 million tons of bombs, land mines and shells fired by U.S. forces during the war.

Newspapers carry reports of casualties from war leftovers virtually every week, as many poor villagers risk their lives to scavenge scrap iron for a little cash.

You said CW is no longer being used. Then you modified that to say the radio is targeted to the newer Techs. Then you modified that to say it's just the newer HF hams who aren't using CW, so the radio is being marketed to them. But you have not polled all the new HF licensees, Pick my statements apart all you want. Obviously, the manufacturer of this particular radio must have felt that there was insufficient demand for CW since they chose to omit this feature from their product. If the world revolved around Morse code, as some of you still insist on believing, the mode would have certainly been included since adding it adds little (if anything) to production costs.

The USCG is just following international protocol. "Hello all stations" is the ITU phone-equivalent of the ITU "CQ" on CW. If hams were to

Let's, for the sake of argument, assume that the letter sent to "Doc Hate" and criticizing him is real.

Doesn't it seem preposterous to claim that a private email, sent only to the object of its criticism and to no one else, is "defamatory," since no one except the sender and recipient could possibly have seen it?

And, doesn't it seem wildly improbable that a man actually spending money on an attorney to make such a "defamation" claim would then, himself, post the message he claims "defames" him on the Internet where millions can read it?

If he really believed the message "defamed" him, why would he repeatedly publish and publicize it? Prior to _his own_ publicity efforts, the "defamatory" message was entirely unknown to the public.

With all good wishes,

Kevin, WB4AIO.

Tiny Timmy is sure in wad today! He's in it full in it to his head!
He's like KC8JBO, he's gotta reply to every post about the Liberty Net.
He does this because he has no life. He attacks people like N0VFP, Taken from W1WCR webpage!

In response to many complaints about FCC abuse, waste of taxpayers funds and lack of enforcement against jamming in Amateur Radio, the FCC has issued a CONTROL NUMBER for the issues presented on this website. When sending complaints to Congressmen, FRAUDnet (GAO), the FCC or other interested parties use this number to refer to the complaints presented here:

Greetings, all:

I need info on an old Kenwood TM-701A dual bander that I picked up recently. I don't have a manual, and would like to acquire one. Barring that, I'd like info on how to program a PL and save frequency and PL to memory. I don't even know if this rig had a PL encoder installed...was it an option? I can get a "CTCSS" line on the display, but have no clue as to what tone is transmitted or how to change it.

This rig also has the RC-10 remote controller (looks like a telephone handset) installed. I'd rather have a basic hand mic...anybody have one that will interface this radio?

I'm not very familiar with older Kenwood stuff, and ANYTHING I can find out will be greatly appreciated!

Thanks in advance!

KK7HO is Tim Volz of Las Vegas NV. He has an anger disorder, and takes it out on amateur radio operators that belong to a shortwave group.

The group is the Liberty Net that meets on Saturday nights on 3.950 mHz. Tim disagrees with some of the opinions of net participants and over the years has become obsessed with interferring with their communications.

He continues to act out against net participants, even discussing the contract killing of 2 of their members.

Tim continues to spin further and further out of reality.
Did you hear him blame his daughter for sending out an pornographic email from his computer?

A few weeks ago he was jamming the Liberty Net, and was confronted by net participants about the mass email that he sent out to all the net members.

When he was cornered on this issue, he blamed his daughter, claiming that she sent it out, but it was an accident.

Just another example of KK7HO living in his own, ever changing, reality. Jamming is okay, for Tim, if he's "pissed off". Sending out mass email 'spam' to Liberty Net members is okay, if it's a mistake.
(he claims his daughter did it!)

But Tim has entertainment value, watching him lie and bend reality to suit his needs is always an interesting 'evolution'.

By the way, that audio clip of Tim jamming the Liberty Net is less than one year old. I was on frequency, last winter (or was it spring) when Volz was jamming and chanting on top of the existing QSO.

Hello,

I was wondering if any one had info on this antenna. It's label advertises it as "THE ONLY COLLAPSIBLE PORTABLE AERIAL LOOP. Made by the J. Nazeley Co. Mfrs. New York, New York USA. Pat. Pending. I've never seen one before so I found it interesting. It is has 4 spreaders in a quad configuration. A cloth covered wire loop with a black Bakelite or some type of hard plastic hinged hub. It works great. I've got it hooked up to a Hallicrafter SX 122A and can hear world wide. If anyone would know the approximate dates of manufacture and info on this company, I'd like to know more.

Thanks,

The usenet audience is the target group not all the worlds hams.
Most hams have better things to do than waste time on usenet!

Talked to a young fella on the repeater the other day who introduced himself by saying "my first personal is Jim and you're my first contact, QSL?".

He seemed like a nice sort, delighted that he had just received his shiny new call sign, and was anxious to make some new friends. Kinda sounded like I felt when I put my new call sign on the air the first time way back when, except probably brighter, cuz Jim is one of those young computer jocks. Me, I still got problems with the LL scale on my Pickett slide rule. Yep, I think Jim sounded brighter than me, quick to catch on to things.

But I don't think Jim will be back on the repeater. Before I had a chance to really get to know much about Jim, or even wrangle an invite to lunch, another station, with an impressive "senior" call sign joined the contact, flashed his shiny Radio Cop badge, and proceeded to issue Jim a "verbal speeding ticket" for improper lingo on the radio. "Radio Cop" said the term "personal" (and for that matter "handle") were unwelcome in ham radio, and that Q-signals were not to be used on VHF voice. Just generally made my newfound friend feel like an unwashed interloper. (Gosh, I've been saying "handle" since I was a conditional class. Slow to catch on, you know.)

Now I should point out that "Radio Cop" took pains to appear very well meaning. Didn't use any bad words that I noticed, was quite polite, even seemed like he was trying to be "helpful." In other words, he thought he was doing Jim a favor by pointing out his transgression from our sacred Amateur Radio way of doing things. I think Jim felt just the same way I did back in a new school in third grade when the well meaning teacher pointed out that "we don't keep our pencil behind our ear in this room." Sure enough, I looked around and none of my new classmates had pencils behind their ears. Sure was embarrassing, and at that moment I really wished I was back with my good old buddies in second grade. Now, if I'd been allowed to hang out a couple of days, I'm sure I would have learned how to properly stow my pencil. And if Jim would have hung around a couple of days on our repeater I just bet he would have noticed that his lingo, perhaps learned in another radio service, was a bit out of place, and pretty soon Jim would sound "just like the rest of us." Like I said, he seemed pretty bright to me, quick to catch on to things.

"Radio Cop", you have kept our hobby uncorrupted. I heard Jim down around 27 Mhz this morning, and saw his ad on eBay trying to sell his barely used 2-meter HT. I'm gonna miss my new friend Jim, because I think I could have learned something from him. Maybe you could have also.

Like I said, he seemed pretty bright to me, quick to catch on to things.

"First personal here" is perfectly acceptable on amateur radio. But ask someone for their "handle" and all you-know-what will break loose.

Go figure.

REEnforcer,

You are way off base here. The mode wasn't left off of the radio because of the lack of interest in CW. It was left off because of the lack of interest in CW by freeband pirates. If it were due to the lack of interest by amateurs, then the major players such as Kenwood, Icom, Yaesu etc. would be leaving CW off of their new radios.

The radio shack radio is made by Uniden, who's taget market is CB.

I looked at your home page. The inflammatory style does not seem That's now what I said. They were two separate sentences, please take note.

"The case for plain language in message handling" was the OP-ED topic.

Why would you use plain language in traffic and sound like an soapboxing redundant ass the rest of the time ?

If you'd like to sound stupid, go ahead.

"Well good morning old man, first personal here is Bill. Bill. Handle is Bill......ummmmmmmm..... The QTH here is Washington, Washington......ummmm..... And we're mobile on Pennsylvania Avenue......ummmmmmm..... QSL ? So back she goes for the final......ummm... I forget your call and the first personal there......ummmmmm.....back to you"

In English that would be:

"Hello, my name is Bill. I'm on Pennsylvania Avenue. Over."

Since 90 percent of the techs are dysfunctional losers, who drive used Crown Victorias to scare people out of the passing lane, they wouldn't be interested in plain language.

They want you to hear their Bill Gatesian voices as much as possible, as other hams are their only audience in life.

Highwayman

Written By M.F. Luder

I was a codeless "ham"
Along the coach roads i did ride
With dual band HT by my side
Many a young maid ran from my tirades,
Many a repeater contact I had made
The League grandfathered me in the spring of o-one
But still I want more, my whinings never done

I was a sailor,
I was born upon the tide
On 14325 did i abide
I sailed a schooner 'round the horn to mexico
I went aloft to furl the Outbacker in a blow
And when the mast broke off,
They said that my signal was killed
But i am living still

I was a damn CBer
Across the South deep and wide
Where shooting skip was my only pride
A place called New Orleans on the Mississippi low
I bought an amp that would let me bellow
They DF'd me by listening for the crackling sound
But i am still around
I'll always be around and around and around...

I'll talk on 10 meters
'Cross the Continental divide
And when i reach the other side,
I'll find a place to rest my Budweiser in a can Perhaps i may become a highwayman again
Or i may simply be a single jamming pain
But i will remain
And i'll shoot skip again and again and again...

My whole take on the amateur radio scene right now is that I really have less expensive hobbies to consume my time, such as the Usenet newsfroups.. But, as a person with ARRL handbooks back to the 40's, and building radio apparatus since my pre-teens, I'm not especially impressed with what I hear on the amateur bands..

And I don't feel like putting up with the abuse..

I'm sure that everyone here notices all on the NEW SREEN NAMES that seem to Pop Up and spew some propaganda or LIES for the libnet gang. The FACT remains that they were caught moving the net onto an occupied frequency more than once. The FACT remains that they are a Listed HATE GROUP. The FACT remains that W1WCR was involved in Mail Fraud and Economic Terrorism against the Time Warner Corp and others. The FACT remains that most of the members of the liberty net are also members of other "subversive" groups such as the National Alliance, the Western Imerative Netwerk, the KKK, et. al. Is this mere coincidence - I think not. The Fact remains that they attack "anyone" who disagrees with them. They operate the "So Called" net constantly "skirting" the rules and regs. The FACT remains that they bitch about this country, the government, the people in it, the economy, blacks, Jews, Hispanics, Chinese, Japanese, Cubans, anyone not "Aryan." The FACT remains that they believe that we (Americans) were on the wrong side in WWII. The FACT remains that they deny the Holocaust ever happened. The FACT remains that this group doesn't resemble an Amateur Radio Net in any sense of the word. They more closely resemble the Jerry Springer Show. The FACT remains that They monologue 10-20 minutes each during the "So Called" net. the FACT remains that they Play "commercial" content "Broadcast" tapes during the net. The FACT remains that they "Broadcast" to the SWL's that they have recruited. They solicit info and input from these SWL's during the "So Called" net. The FACT remains that it's repetitious "programming."
All of the LIES that the libnet gang can muster up isn't going to change ANY of that.

FCC Amateur Radio Enforcement Log

HUDSON, NH [UPDATE]: Extra licensee Victor A. Misek, W1WCR, has replied to a May 7 letter from the FCC that had expressed FCC concerns about the operation of the Liberty Net on 3950 kHz Saturday evenings. FCC attorney Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, had written Misek to report that monitoring on May 1 indicated that Misek's station and members of the group for which he was acting as net control "began transmitting on top of existing Amateur communications that were already in progress."

Nowhere did I say "Jim" was a "codefree ham" -- In fact, the Attack? That's interesting. This weekend I've been the recipet of many a hate mail for Tim and his buddys. Even black-mailed too. I never heard of a Liberty Net member doing that!

>The FACT remains

SO, Timmy, If you don't like it, go to another frequnecy! We have the right to believe what we want and to say what we want. As far a White Pride goes, It's ok for Blacks to have pride, How about the Whites? I think it's time we whites quit taking second place to this BS!

>The FACT remains that they believe that we (Americans) were on the

Yes, we did fight on the wrong side Tim. Do you realize we sold out 100 MILLION people to Comminism after WW2? I don't support Hitler by saying that, but we are in a bad mess today because of it.

>The FACT remains that this group doesn't resemble an Amateur Radio

What? Are we not supposed to talk about current events on Ham Radio? What your idea of a contact Tim? "My name is _____, my QTH is _____, my 10-10 number is ______, good luck in the contest"

The ANARC SWL NET Survey:

The ANARC SWL NET is best heard on the East Coast and Midwest of North America.

In the past we have operated on 7240 khz lsb Sunday morning at 10 AM Eastern Time.

As you are aware, The ANARC SWL NET has been in hiatus since April 25th ,1999. We decided to put the net into hiatus due to lack of participation. It is now time to consider whether we should revive it or not.

Please take a few minutes and reply to this survey, so that The ANARC SWL NET committee can make a decision. (reply to dkirby@ncweb.com) Dave Kirby N1DK

1) If you are a licensed Amateur Radio Operator, would you commit to checking into the net at least once per month with loggings or other radio monitoring information?

2) Would you be willing to take over net control duties on a rotating basis?

3) Would you be willing to act as a net gateway station by putting your telephone number on the air and relaying loggings or other information telephoned to you from swl's?

4) Would you be willing to act as an IRC #SWL gateway station and or/e-mail gateway?

5) (If not licensed) would you commit to sending your loggings or other information to net control stations either via e-mail or a gateway station at least once per month?

6) (If not licensed) Have you considered obtaining a Ham license or upgrading your present license in order to participate live on the net?

7) Would you be willing to check into Internet Relay Chat Channel #SWL during net time?

8) Would you consider recording the net, editing it, converting it to real audio, and ftp'ing it to a web site so that people who miss the net live can listen at a later time?

9) If the ANARC SWL NET audio were available "live" via the Internet, would you listen to it on the Internet, or via your shortwave radio?

10) What time (UTC) on Sunday morning would you like the net to air?

11) Please include any comments not addressed above that you may have regarding THE ANARC SWL NET:

What? Another Ham Radio Net asking for SWL input? Better nail them Tim!
Are'nt they "Broadcasting" too??? You can't have us nasty no-code techs and SWLs giving input to a net now?

There goes Hansel, listed in the blue pages of QST rag every month, splitting hairs.

Get your head out of your banana sling, it's cutting off the air to your brain and causing anaphylactic build-up in your kidneys.

Is there an amateur "scene" ? I though that was reserved for things that were real cheek (sic.).

Do yourself a favor friend. If you were to go get an Extra tomorrow to show you weren't lazy, I'd say don't bother.

You're better off as an SWL and radio HOBBYIST. It's a rip-off. Then when you do get on, you find loons like W3LPL, K1ZM, etc. floating around with the keyers set to CQ on 1828 for hours on end, using their 120 foot 4 squares and Alpha 91s set to the 2500 watt level.

And before some nit says, "jealous ?", I already replied to that... in sum, no, not jealous. Just not in need of therapy.
